POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Eliot Norton.

THE CAMP AT NIGHT.

[From "The Iliad." Book VIII.]

The winds transferred into the friendly sky
Their supper's savor; to the which they sat delightfully,
And spend all night in open field; fires round about them shined.
As when about the silver moon, when air is free from wind,
And stars shine clear, to whose sweet beams high prospects and the brows
Of all steep hills and pinnacles thrust up themselves for shows,
And even the lowly valleys joy to glitter in their sight,
When the unmeasured firmament bursts to disclose her light,
And all the signs in heaven are seen, that glad the shepherd's heart;
So many fires disclosed their beams, made by the Trojan part,
Before the face of Ilion, and her bright turrets showed.
A thousand courts of guard kept fires, and every guard allowed
Fifty stout men, by whom their horse eat oats and hard white corn,
And all did wishfully expect the silver throned morn.

KING'S ASSASSINS ARE TO GO FREE.

Servian Army Dictates Choice of Karageorgevitch and Controls Voice of Parliament.

PETER TAKES THE CROWN

Officers Secure Vote of Amnesty Before the New Ruler Is Notified of His Election.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BELGRADE, June 15.—The Servian parliament today elected Peter Karageorgevitch to the throne, practically at the dictation of the conspirators who assassinated King Alexander and overthrew the government last Wednesday night. Prince Peter has accepted the crown.

None of the conspirators is to be punished. The officers of the army after a conference last night, sent an ultimatum to the members of the senate and skupshtina, declaring:

First—The form of government must not be changed.

Second—The names of the conspirators must not be revealed nor the nature of the rôle they played in the revolution.

Third—No officer must accept any reward for the services he rendered his country in the removal of King Alexander.

Fourth—No officer who is arrested shall appear before the courts in military uniform.

Crown Accepted by Telegraph.

Peter Karageorgevitch accepted the throne by telegraph almost as soon as it was offered him. Indeed, he accompanied his acceptance by a proclamation, evidently prepared in advance.

The new king apparently has accepted all the conditions laid down by the conspirators. If he has made any conditions they are not known to the public. His telegram accepting the crown is as follows:

"The splendid proofs of devotion from my beloved people, my faithful army, and patriotic government have deeply touched me. From the bottom of a true Servian heart I thank providence, which has vouchsafed me, by God's mercy and through his will, to ascend the throne of my famous ancestors. I beg you, the premier, and your colleagues in the government to accept my royal acknowledgment, with the assurance of my particular good will."

Army Prevents Republic.

The sentiment in favor of a republic undoubtedly was strong, but it was stifled by the conspirators. They also refused to permit the consideration of the names of Prince Mirko of Montenegro or of Prince Peter's son George in connection with the vacant kingship.

The constitution of 1888, which the national assembly has taken as the basis of the new constitution, is the most liberal Servia has ever had. It was drawn up by the radicals, and is said to mean perpetual tenure of power for that party. It will be modified in the direction of making the line of succession to the throne clearly confined to males in the direct line.

The new king is said to have accepted this constitution, but the whole matter is vague, and the fact that this question was not settled before King Peter was elected is the occasion for much dissatisfaction in the ranks of the members of the skupshtina.

Details of the Election.

The senate and skupshtina observed all due forms in the election of the new king. On assembling the members listened to a statement signed by all of the ministers of the provisional government and read by President Viilmirovitch. It reviewed the political events of the last four days, beginning with the assassination of the king and queen, and left it to parliament to take such steps as were deemed best.

The members then proceeded to church, returning a little later to the palace. The ceremony of electing the king was conducted in the Salles des Fêtes. The metropolitan of Belgrade and the bishop of Nish, in their full robes of office, lent the sanction of their presence. The members of the provisional government and the presidents of the chamber and senate sat at the head of the white and gold decorated hall, among them Col. Alexander Maschin, Queen Draga's cousin, and now minister of public works, in full military uniform, while below them were grouped the members of the senate and the skupshtina.

Outside the palace was assembled a crowd which had waited for many hours. Nobody was allowed on the sidewalk of the palace, which was guarded by troops. The crowd, mainly composed of students and peasants, diverted itself with a sheet sold by hawkers which bore portraits of Prince Peter Karageorgevitch and his family, headed "Our New King."

Choice Is Unanimous.

President Velimirovitch, dressed in evening costume and wearing the broad red sash of the Servian order, then rose, and, addressing the assembly, said they had now to elect a king of the fatherland.

The formal motion that Prince Karageorgevitch be elected king of Servia was moved by a radical deputy named Neschics, who was attired in the national costume. Immediately a shout arose from the assembly of "Long live Karageorgevitch."

Each member was then called by name and rose quietly from his seat and gave his vote for "Peter Karageorgevitch." There was absolute unanimity, no other name but that of Prince Karageorgevitch being pronounced.

The result was greeted with loud cheers and then the minister of justice, M. Schiokovics, hastened to the balcony overlooking the street and announced to the people:

"Peter, the first of the dynasty of the Karageorgevitches, is your new king. You are congratulated upon the unanimous vote of your representatives."

The crowd responded with cheers upon cheers, which, however, had the effect of being quite mechanical, as though proceeding from well disposed groups. At the same time a royal salute of 101 guns were fired.

The deputies then streamed forth from the palace, the soldiers on guard marched away, and in five minutes the space in front of the konak had resumed its normal aspect.

People Are Impassive.

The day's proceedings on the whole were characterized by singular impassiveness. Only in the unreserved admiration for Col. Maschin and the other conspirators could it be seen that the event was eminently

RISE TO RETIRE JAMIESON

HYDE PARK REPUBLICANS TIRE OF "HARMONY" METHODS.

Say They Find Their Leader Is Worse than Lorimer—Meeting to Declare Hostilities Formally Will Be Held Within the Next Ten Days and Reasons Set Forth—Object of the Movement Evidently Informed and Followers Become Active.

Harmony under the leadership of "Dr." T. N. Jamieson in Hyde Park is not to be continued. Active preparations for a hot fight are going on. The same element that defeated the Jamieson machine three, four, and five years ago has taken the warpath against him once more.

Since the "harmony" committee, of which Mr. Jamieson is the head and front, stopped its Wednesday luncheons for the summer, the fighters have been organizing and one of their leaders said yesterday that they were about ready to begin the field work. A meeting at which hostilities will be declared and reasons given why the republicans of Hyde Park want to overthrow Jamieson's blighting domination will be held within the next ten days.

Jamiesonism Like Lorimerism.

The Hyde Parkers have come to the conclusion finally that Jamieson is but another name for Lorimer, with the exception that the Jamieson brand of leadership is infinitely worse than that of the west side congressman.

For a number of years the olly "doctor" has compounded simples and decoctions which his hynotized neighbors have swallowed trustfully, believing his admonition, "It may taste nasty but it will do you good." Now the nastiness is more apparent than the good and the patient neighbors are in revolt.

Gilded Pill Thing of Quackery.

To those whose political stomachs were weak the doctor, bringing the art of the pharmacist to bear on his real trade, that of politics, compounded himself into a gilded pill—pleasant to look upon, delightful to take, and guaranteed to cure all the ills of the body politic—and this little pill has been gulped down by university professors and students and south side mankind in general, under the belief that at last they had found a pleasant panacea for the ailments from which they had been suffering.

But the golden pill has lost its luster and the panacea turns out to be a thing of quackery.

His Sins Charged to Lorimer.

Many a sin charged to Lorimer should have been borne by Tommy the Promiser; many a scheme for which the Blonde Boss has been denounced was conceived in the brain of the artful, retiring south sider. The iniquity wrought by John Henry Miller is visited upon Lorimer, and he is to be driven into the wilderness because of the speaker's conduct at Springfield.

And yet if the truth were known and the inner circle should lay bare the sponsorship for Mr. Miller an accusing finger would be pointed at Jamieson, and with one voice and accord the little clique would say, "Thou art the man." He and Miller served together on a certain state board, they are as thick as such politicians sometimes are, and it is due to the cunning, insinuating, "get-from-under" methods of the Hyde Park druggist that a totally unfit man was foisted on the legislature as its presiding officer.

Reputed Traitor to Friends.

This is the way one Hyde Parker summed up the situation:

"Lorimer at least has the reputation of sticking to his friends. Jamieson also has a reputation—that of sticking the knife into his friends when he can do it under the cover of darkness, and when he thinks the little act of Servian politics will redound to his various interests. Jamieson's tongue is hung upon a pivot, his promises of reform are about as valuable as a rope of sand to a drowning man. In fact, his entire course of political conduct has been such that the only safe thing for the republicans of Chicago to do is to tie a millstone round his neck and toss him overboard, making all proper arrangements in the meanwhile to see that he lands 'with a sickening thud' in the depths of political oblivion."

Strictly Anti-Jamieson.

"This is strictly an anti-Jamieson movement," explained the participants in a conference held during the day. "We started out early last spring to down Lorimer, and under the partial belief that Jamieson was ready to help us. There is where we were fooled. We permitted him to lead us into thinking that he was sincere in his talk that Lorimer should be forced to take a back seat. But he undeceived us during the mayoralty campaign by inducing Lorimer, against the protests of Seventh ward republicans, to come into Hyde Park and make a speech. We discovered then that he was hand-in-glove with the west side boss, just as much as he ever had been. So a lot of us made up our minds that it would hardly be consistent in us to fight Mr. Lorimer and at the same time train under the leadership of Jamieson. We thereupon decided to put both of them where they out to be—in the background."

Aware of the Revolt.

Evidently Jamieson is aware of the revolt, for his followers are also becoming active. However, his lieutenants claim to know nothing about the reported uprising. They profess confidence that it will not be successful. The Jamieson activity makes its first open showing in Grand Crossing Turner hall tonight. The call for the meeting was signed by Dr. F. G. Warne, Charles J. Jones, Cornelius Curtis, James P. Caulfield, Frank Hillis, William Everett, and Samuel F. Work.

Twenty-first Anti-Lorimer.

Since the announcement that Graeme Stewart would not be a candidate for governor there has been some gossip among politicians as to what the north side wards will do. Speculation has centered on the Twenty-first ward, the home of Mr. Stewart and of State Treasurer Fred A. Busse. Neither of these two leaders, however, has publicly indicated as yet any preference among the probable candidates for the nomination, but it is understood that they are favorably inclined toward Charles S. Deneen.

Mr. Busse is likely soon to come forward as one of the principal factors in the contest. As described by the republican spokesmen, "the situation in the Twenty-first ward is bitterly anti-Lorimer, and the sentiment is strongly in favor of Deneen for governor."

POPE IS DECLINING RAPIDLY.

Pontiff's Symptoms Are Daily More Discouraging—His Feebleness Is Increasing.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, June 15.—The health of the pope is rapidly declining. His extreme feebleness and grief over the prosecution of the French Catholic associations by that government is undermining his vitality. Dr. Lapponi was summoned suddenly on Saturday to examine the pope's legs, which were swollen slightly. This is regarded as a bad symptom in view of the pontiff's great age. No immediate danger is apprehended, but the days of his holiness evidently are numbered.

WAITERS FALTER; ONE LEADER OUT.

With Union Already Disintegrating They Finally Take First Steps Toward Arbitration.

GOMPERS HERE TO HELP.

National Labor Chief Hears Both Sides and Offers His Services for Peace; He Will Return.

Organized labor brought its most powerful agencies to bear on the Cooks and Waiters' union yesterday, and the hotel and restaurant strike probably will be declared off tomorrow, and the differences that caused it submitted to arbitration. One of the leaders already has resigned.

Leaders of national reputation, led by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, investigated the strike, advised the cooks and waiters to treat with their employers in a businesslike way, and offered their services should they be needed to secure an adjustment.

On every hand the strikers were given to understand that their strength was waning, and that they would better open negotiations for a speedy settlement of the controversy. The effect of the universal opposition to their attitude on arbitration became manifest before the close of the day, and the joint board of the union, the governing body, began to weaken.

Vice President Withdraws.

The union's policy was unmercifully scored last night at a meeting of the colored waiters' local. The attack came in a letter of resignation from Vice President J. T. Brewington who announced that he could no longer remain in office and be a party to a "form of highway robbery."

Brewington's action marks the first formal break in the ranks of the strikers, and it was greeted with mingled cheers and hisses from the rank and file of the organization. Many of his hearers signified their intention of following his lead unless the policy of the board is quickly and materially changed. He is high in authority among the colored waiters, being leader of the conservative element.

Public Sympathy Is Lost.

"Our leaders," said Brewington in his letter of resignation, "have demanded that the employers must recognize us as an organization by employing nothing but union help, which I approve of, but they have denied the employers themselves the right to organize, and have demanded that they come as individuals, blindfold themselves, and sign the scale—simply another form of highway robbery.

"Our leaders' refusal to arbitrate takes away from us our last hope of public sympathy. We have against us the press, the pulpit, the bench, the bar, and the sensible labor leaders.

"There are some men and women on our board who are good, honest, and able, but there are others on the board who never have and never will have a definite occupation. I realize the radicals will attempt to crucify me because of the position I have taken, but I realize that some one must suffer that the truth be heard and justice be done to employer, employé, and the public alike."

Strikers Sue for Peace.

At noon the union's joint board authorized Clarence S. Darrow to approach some of the hotel men and open a way for peace negotiations. An hour later a committee of its members was sent to ask John C. Driscoll of the Associated Teaming Interests to take up the dispute, and at the close of the afternoon the board authorized the Steam Power council to become a party to the negotiations.

The sudden change of front by the strike leaders failed to stop the rapid disintegration of the union. Hundreds of its members appealed to their employers for reinstatement. The bartenders in many of the leading hotels arranged to return to work, and the chefs in most of the restaurants took the same action.

Many of the strikers were told their places had been filled. Others were shown about the hotels and asked whether the house had the appearance of suffering from a strike. When the men returned to union headquarters with their stories they found ready listeners, and the spirit of discontent spread like wildfire.

Many employers showed no desire for peace negotiations. They feel that they hold the whip hand, and that they have the opportunity to crush the union and make it impossible for Chicago to experience another hotel and restaurant strike for many years.

Gompers Offers His Services.

The labor leaders of the country were fully aware of conditions when they met with the joint board of the union. President Gompers said he would have liked to become a mediator in the struggle immediately, so as to stop all danger of disruption. This he could not do, as he has an engagement to speak at Lake Depew, Ill., this afternoon. He will return to Chicago late tonight, however, and tomorrow will assume charge of the situation if the strikers appeal to him again.

"The waiters' strike brought me to Chicago," said President Gompers, "and I met with some members of the joint board this afternoon. If my services as mediator are desired I may take the controversy up on Wednesday, when I return to the city. I am willing to make overtures to either side for a settlement if in my judgment that course would be wise.

"I believe the hotels should be unionized, but this does not mean that the nonunion employés should be discharged, but, rather, brought into the fold, an end that surely is desirable. The advent of employers' associations in labor questions is desirable, I believe, and will result in a better understanding. More agreements can be made and a conciliatory policy will prevail."

Stop Shipment of Help.

Most of the employers were too busy getting their establishments in running order to talk about peace. The hotel men were flooded with applications for work. Their association paid out over $2,000 for railroad fares for men from out of town, and at noon sent telegrams to their agents in other cities to stop shipments.

The restaurant men arranged to open up today. In every case old employés appeared and offered to go back to work. Some of the houses, such as the Union and Kinsley's, began to serve customers yesterday on a

HEPPNER A CITY OF DEAD.

SURVIVORS OF OREGON CLOUDBURST ASK FOR 300 COFFINS.

Small Need for Doctors and Nurses, but Demand for Men to Dig Graves—All Reports from Scene of Disaster Agree on Estimates of 500 Killed—Little Stream Converted to Torrent—Everything in Path of Water Is Swept to Destruction.

Portland, Ore., June 15.—[Special.]—The few survivors of the cloudburst which swept away the town of Heppner Sunday afternoon have gathered up the bodies of 300 of their fellow citizens and are asking for coffins to put them in and for a large force of men to aid in their burial.

There is said to be little need for doctors and nurses, as all who were in the path of the waters perished and those who are alive escaped unhurt, being on high ground away from the flood.

The general estimate is that 500 persons are dead.

It is impossible to secure many details, and, in fact, those who have reached Ione and other towns in the region say there is little to tell. The wall of water came down the gulches, enveloped the town, and then swept on. It was sudden and short. Willow creek, ordinarily ten feet wide and six inches deep, in less than ten minutes was 400 feet wide and twenty feet deep. The wall of water could be seen coming down the gulch, but it rushed with such rapidity that the inhabitants had not time to get out of its path.

Heppner is the county seat of Morrow county, Ore., and had about 1,250 inhabitants.

The Portland office of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company this afternoon received the following message, via Echo:

"Roughly estimated, almost all the people living on the banks of Willow creek were drowned.

"Need relief in shape of large body of men to clear away debris and bury bodies.

"Agent Kerman and wife are presumably dead, as they have not yet been found."

Residence Section Wiped Out.

Almost the entire residence portion of the town was wiped out, but some of the business part, which is on higher ground, escaped.

Huge bowlders weighing tons were carried down by the current, and many people killed by being dashed against the rocky bluffs.

Early in the afternoon there was a thunder storm covering a wide region of country, and later a heavy rain storm set in, many of the small streams overflowing their banks in a short time. Bridges were swept away like straws, and the darkness of the night soon made the situation more distressing.

Survivors Go to Work.

As soon as possible after the flood subsided the work of relief was commenced by the citizens of the town. Dozens of bodies were found lodged along the bends of the stream and in several places they were piled upon one another. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon 200 bodies had been recovered almost within the city limits.

The buildings which were not carried away were moved from their foundations or toppled over.

As soon as possible news was sent by courier to the nearby towns and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company started a relief train with doctors and supplies from The Dalles. At 1:30 this afternoon a relief train with doctors and supplies started for the scene from this city.

The citizens of Portland started a relief fund and within a few hours $5,000 was raised.

Damage in Near-by Towns.

Fifteen buildings in the town of Lexington, nine miles below Heppner, on Willow creek, were washed away, but with no loss of life, the inhabitants having time to save themselves.

At Ione, seventeen miles away, considerable damage was done to buildings, though no loss of life is reported from there.

Town at Angle of Gulches.

Heppner is the center of a large farming and stock growing country. The town is built on the banks of the Willow creek, in the neighborhood of the converging point of four other mountain streams that drain a large area of rolling and hilly country that reaches from three to twenty miles to the foothills and along the course of Willow creek itself for a distance of twenty-five miles to the base of Blue mountains.

The greater part of the business and residence section of the town, lying to the west of the creek, is low bottom, covering an area of about 1,500 by 1,200 feet.

BLIND COLLEGE STUDENTS SHOW SKILL IN ATHLETICS.

Field Day Sports at Wisconsin Institution at Janesville Participated In by Fifteen Sightless Boys.

Janesville, Wis., June 15.—[Special.]—One of the most unique field days ever seen in Wisconsin took place this afternoon on the grounds of the State Institute for the Blind, when the eighty-eight blind inmates held their field day sports.

Of the fifteen boys who competed for the prizes offered thirteen were totally blind and the other two could see only moving objects. The hurdles, pole vault, and hammer throwing were left out, but in their place the standing high jump, the standing broad jump, the football kick, and the thirty-five yard dash were contested.

A boy named Gonia, totally blind, was first in the thirty-five yard dash in :04 flat. The distance for the running broad jump was 17 feet 8 inches, and the standing high jump was 4 feet 6 inches. The football was kicked 108 feet. Chester Parish, a student from Whitewater, was the winner of the most points, capturing 40 from the possible 100.

PRESIDENT OF AUTO CLUB CHARGED WITH SPEEDING.

Charles W. Gray Arrested Under West Park Board Ordinance—Denies That He Was Exceeding the Legal Limit.

Charles W. Gray, president of the Automobile club, was arrested last evening, charged with violating the speed ordinance of the west park board. Mr. Gray will appear before Justice Chott this morning. He says he did not violate the speed ordinance, and that his first knowledge that he was accused of so doing was when he went to the police station to learn why his stable boy, Fred Gage, had been arrested.

"When I reached the station I was informed," said Mr. Gray, "that I also was under arrest. I am confident that I did not exceed the speed limit in my trip from my office to my residence at 1607 West Adams street."

The alleged violation occurred at Rockwell street and Jackson boulevard.

ROOSEVELT SAYS RUSSIA WILL ACT.

President Hears Plea of Jews and Expresses Confidence Czar Intends to Guard Their People.

MASSACRE IS DEPLORED.

Committee Is Told of Sympathy of Nation and Assured Anything Possible Will Be Done to Aid Race.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—In reply to a plea today by the Jews of the United States against the massacre at Kishineff, President Roosevelt told of his horror at the affair, but expressed confidence that the government of Russia would do all possible to punish those responsible and prevent any recurrence of such deeds.

The czar, noted as an advocate of universal peace, the president said, would beyond doubt use the utmost efforts to avenge past outrages and make it impossible for new outbreaks of the kind to take place. In view of the steps taken already by the authorities to punish the Kishineff rioters it was intimated that formal action by the government would be unnecessary and inadvisable.

The plea which was made to the president by a committee of the B'nai B'rith, the representative Jewish society of the United States, was not that he as executive of the government take any official action, but to lay the situation of the Jews in Russia before him and ask that any aid possible be given toward bettering their condition and helping to guard them.

President Tells of Indignation.

President Roosevelt met the committee of the society after Secretary of State Hay had explained to it the position the United States government would have to take. The president, after hearing the statement of the delegation, said:

"I need not dwell upon a fact so patent as the widespread indignation with which the American people heard of the dreadful outrages upon the Jews in Kishineff. I have never in my experience in this country known of a more immediate or a deeper expression of sympathy for the victims and of horror over the appalling calamity that had occurred.

"It is natural that while the whole civilized world should express such a feeling it should yet be most intense and most widespread in the United States, for of all the great powers I think I may say that the United States is that country in which from the beginning of its national career most has been done in the way of acknowledging the debt due to the Jewish race, and of endeavoring to do justice to those American citizens who are of Jewish ancestry and faith.

Jews Ever Brave in War.

"From that day to this, from the day when the Jews of Charleston, of Philadelphia, of New York supported the patriot cause and helped in every way not only by money but by arms Washington and his colleagues, who were founding this republic—from that day to the present we have had no struggle, military or civil, in which there have not been citizens of Jewish faith who played an eminent part for the honor and the credit of the nation.

"I remember once Gen. Howard mentioning to me the fact that two of his brigade commanders upon whom he had placed special reliance were Jews. Among the meetings of the Grand Army which I have attended one stands out with peculiar vividness—a meeting held under the auspices of the men of the Grand Army of Jewish creed, in the temple in Forty-fourth street, temple Emanuel, to welcome the returned veterans of the Spanish-American war of Jewish faith.

Noted in Navy and Army.

"When in Santiago, when I was myself in the army, one of the best colonels among the regular regiments who did so well on that day and who fought beside me was a Jew. One of the commanders of the ships which in the blockade of the Cuban coast did so well was a Jew. In my own regiment I promoted five men from the ranks for valor and good conduct in battle. It happened by pure accident, for I knew nothing of the faith of any one of them, that these included two Protestants, two Catholics, and one Jew; and while that was a pure accident, it was not without its value as an illustration of the religious makeup of our nation and of the fact that if a man is a good American that is all we ask, without thinking of his creed or his birthplace.

Agitator Given Jewish Guard.

"Let me give you one little incident with a direct bearing upon this question of persecution for race or religious reasons. You may possibly recall—I am sure certain of my New York friends will recall—that during the time I was police commissioner a man came from abroad—I am sorry to say, a clergyman—to start an anti-Jewish agitation in New York, and announced his intention of holding meetings to assail the Jews.

"The matter was brought to my attention. Of course, I had no power to prevent those meetings. After a good deal of thought, I detailed a Jewish sergeant and forty Jewish policemen to protect the agitator while he held his meetings; so he made his speeches denouncing the Jews protected exclusively by Jews, which I always thought was probably the most effective answer that could possibly be made to him, and probably the best object lesson we could give of the spirit in which we Americans manage such matters.

"There was a certain man I appointed under the following conditions: I was attracted to him by being told, on a visit to the Bowery branch of the Young Men's Christian association, that they had a young fellow there, a Jew, who had performed a feat of great note in saving people from a burning building, and that they thought he was just the type for a policeman. I had him called up and told him to take the examination and see if he could get through. He did, and he passed. He has not only been an excellent policeman, but he at once, out of his salary, proceeded to educate his younger brothers and sisters, and he got either two or three of his old kinsfolk over from Russia through the money he saved and provided homes for them.

"I have been visited by the Russian ambassador on his own initiative, and in addition to what has been said to Secretary Hay the Russian ambassador has notified me personally without any inquiry upon my part that the governor of Kisheneff has been removed; that between 300 and 400 of the participants in the outrages have been arrested, and he voluntarily stated that those men would be punished to the utmost that the law would permit.

"I will consider most carefully the suggestions that you have submitted to me, and whether the now existing conditions are such that any further official expression would be of advantage to the unfortunate survivors, with whom we sympathise so deeply. Nothing that has occurred recently has had my more constant thought, and nothing will have my more constant thought, than this subject.

"In any proper way by which beneficial action may be taken it will be taken, to show the sincerity of the historic American position of treating each man on his merits as a man without the least reference to his creed, his race, or his birthplace."

By appointment the executive council of the B'nai B'rith association called at the state department today. The delegation consisted of Leo N. Levi, president, New York; Jacob Furt, vice president and treasurer, Cleveland; Solomon Sulzberger, honorary secretary, New York; Joseph D. Cooms, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Adolph Moses, Chicago, and Simon Wolff, Washington.

Say Czar Does Not Know Facts.

The Jews realized, after hearing what the president and Secretary Hay had to say, that there was nothing that this government could do at this moment to undo what had been done in Bessarabia. So, looking to the future, the council besought the president to use his good offices to secure the ear of the czar. They declared that the czar was being deliberately kept in ignorance by the bureaucrats who surrounded him of the terrible treatment that was being meted out to the Jews in every corner of Russia where they were allowed to reside. They expressed a conviction that if the czar knew of the indignities and atrocities practiced upon the unfortunate Jews, who were still his loyal subjects, he would certainly take steps to alleviate their condition.

It was promised that everything that the executive could do properly without violating the principles of international comity would be done, but neither President Roosevelt nor Secretary Hay was able to make any definite promise beyond this, which was accepted as satisfactory.

Official Statement Is Issued.

A statement was given out at the White house tonight concerning the conference on the Kisheneff affair. The statement consisted of the memorandum submitted by the B'nai B'rith on the massacre in April, a tentative draft of a petition to the czar, which it was desired this government should officially, or semi-officially, assist in delivering to the czar and procuring a reply thereto, and copies of the replies of Secretary Hay and President Roosevelt to his callers.

The memorandum says the facts concerning the Kisheneff massacre as officially reported by the Russian government have appalled and horrified not only the Jews in Russia and elsewhere but the whole American people, who want something done and whose hostility to Russia, if nothing is done, will become intensified and fixed.

It is declared desirable to end this state of things without breach of diplomatic etiquette or embarrassment to the government, and one or both of the subjoined methods therefore were submitted for consideration:

"A. A petition to the czar, to which the B'nai B'rith will get the signatures of the leading men in the various states. This government to assist unofficially or semi-officially in securing the delivery of this petition to the czar and in procuring a favorable reply thereto, either by a direct communication or some other form of public expression. The manner in which the government can render such assistance is not suggested, for obvious reasons, but the government's interest in the plan should be made known.

"B. Using the Kisheneff and other recent incidents of more or less similar nature as grounds for an official invitation by the United States, addressed to all the powers, to an international conference, to consider persecutions and oppressions growing out of racial and religious prejudices and hatred, and to protect civilization and international concord from the evil effects of such persecutions and oppressions."

Hay Explains Nation's Stand.

In reply to the memorandum, Secretary Hay said:

"No person of ordinary humanity can have heard without deep emotion the story of cruel outrages inflicted upon the Jews of Kisheneff. These lamentable events have caused the profoundest impression throughout the world, but most especially in this country, where there are so many of your coreligionists who form such a desirable element of our population in industry, thrift, public spirit, and commercial morality. Nobody can ever make the Americans think ill of the Jews as a class or as a race—we know them too well.

"You will observe that no civilized government in the world has yet taken official action—this consideration alone would bid us to proceed with care. The emperor of Russia is entitled to our respect, not merely as the ruler of a great and friendly nation but as a man whose personal character is even more elevated than his exalted station.

"We should not be justified in assuming that this enlightened sovereign, who has given so many proofs of his devotion to peace and religious tolerance, has not done and is not doing all that lies in his power to put a stop to these atrocities, to punish the guilty, whether they belong to the ignorant populace or to high official circles.

"In fact, all we know of the state of things in Russia tends to justify the hope that even out of the present terrible situation some good results may come; that he who watches over Israel does not slumber, and that the wrath of man, now as so often in the past, shall be made to praise him."

Riot in St. Petersburg.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 15.—A crowd of 100 workmen and Jewish lads created a disturbance in the streets of Lodz last evening. Owing to the prompt and exemplar action of the police they were dispersed without the employment of extreme measures in the district. An inspector was wounded.

Plehve May Be Superseded.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 16, 3 a. m.—The Moscow correspondent of the Morning Leader gives, under reserve, a rumor which meets with credence in quarters usually well informed to the effect that M. Plehve, the minister of the interior, is likely shortly to be superseded. It is known in official circles that there was recently a "protracted and grave interview" between the czar and M. Plehve. The former was not fully satisfied with the minister's explanation of certain late events, they being in variance with the report of the officers specially sent to Kisheneff to investigate.

Methodists Plead for Jews.

The Chicago Methodist ministers at their meeting yesterday adopted resolutions presented by William E. Blackstone, a missionary, asking President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay to use their influence to have Palestine given to the Russian Jews. The resolution was signed by the president, the Rev. M. E. Cady, and the secretary, W. B. Norton, and sent to Washington in the afternoon. Mr. Blackstone was the delegate sent by the congress of religions held in Chicago in March, 1893, to present a petition to the then President Harrison making the same request.

The resolutions adopted yesterday were in part as follows:

Whereas, The civilized world seeks some feasible method of relieving the persecuted Jews, and

Whereas, Russia can consistently point to Austria, Persia, Roumania, Morocco, and the French possessions in north Africa as evidence that the Jews are not in its dominion alone oppressed and slaughtered, and

Whereas, The Jews when expelled from Spain were given an asylum in Turkey and have, since then, received such comparatively kind treatment in the sultan's dominions as to give assurance that some satisfactory arrangement can now be made for their permanent resettlement in Palestine, and

Whereas, We deem the present moment most opportune for calling an international conference of the powers, to consider the condition of the Jews, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we respectfully commend the memorial of 1891 asking such an international conference to the earnest attention of our government for such measures as may be deemed wise and best for the permanent relief of the Jews.

Sends $12,000 to Kisheneff.

Treasurer S. J. Kline of the Kisheneff relief fund yesterday forwarded to Kisheneff by cable $12,000 for the relief of the sufferers from the recent massacre in that Russian city. Of this sum $10,000 was raised by the central committee and the remainder by the west side committee.

The committee in the Ghetto still has $1,000 outstanding, and several hundred dollars remain in the hands of the central committee.

"It is unfortunate that the impression should have gone out that there is no need of further funds for the Kisheneff sufferers," said Mr. Kline. "Our latest advices indicate there is still considerable need of money."

IMMENSE GUARD FOR PRESIDENT.

Baltimore Police Take Unusual Precautions in Watching Over Roosevelt.

NO CHANCES ARE TAKEN.

Possibility of Attack by Anarchists Given as Explanation—Address at Saengerfest.

Baltimore, Md., June 15.—President Roosevelt was the guest of honor at the grand concert tonight of the northeastern sängerfest. His trip from the depot to the armory was made under a heavy police guard. In explanation of the extraordinary precautions it was stated by Marshal Farnan that they were to guard against a possible attack by an anarchist. He said:

"There are thousands of persons in the city, and it was thought some anarchistic or other 'crank' might be among them. We did not want anything unpleasant to occur and simply took precautionary measures. I have no knowledge or suspicion that any person would attempt to injure the president; I believe he could walk our streets unmolested; but as he was the guest of the sängerfest the police department deemed it wise to take every precaution."

Street Is Lined with Police.

Ten policemen rode close to the curbs of the streets en route from the depot to the hall with the presidential party, while a solid phalanx preceded the carriage and a squad followed with the noses of their horses remaining near the hind wheels of the vehicle. Along the route 400 picked men in uniform and plain clothes lined the curbs so as to prevent any one approaching too near the chief executive's carriage. At the armory a large force of policemen and soldiers had cleared the approach to a private entrance, and the president was escorted by President Wieman and Congressman Wachter to a retiring room, where he awaited the completion of one of the choruses.

The same precautions were observed on the return trip to the Union station. Along the route the president was cheered continuously, and smiled and bowed from right to left during the trip.

Pleased to Meet the Singers.

In his address to those in attendance at the sängerfest the president said:

"Let me first congratulate Baltimore upon what she has done, and upon the way she has done it; and then let me welcome the members of the sängerfest association and all the guests of Baltimore this evening. At the beginning of our country's history many different race strains have entered to make up the composite American and to each we owe something special for what it has contributed to us as a people.

"It is almost exactly 220 years ago that the first marked immigration from Germany to what were then the colonies in this western hemisphere began. As is inevitable with any pioneers, those pioneers of the German race on this side of the ocean had to encounter bitter privation, for the people that go forth to seek their well being in strange lands must inevitably be ready to pay as the price of success the expenditure of all there is in them to overcome the obstacles in their way.

Saved Baltimore to the Union.

"And here in this city I would be unwilling to let an occasion like this pass without recalling the part of incalculable importance played by the members of the turnverein Baltimore in saving Baltimore to the union.

"In congratulating every man here to whom it was given to fight in the great civil war, in congratulating the men of Baltimore, who in those dark days followed the lead of Sigel, Rapp, and Blumenberg in playing well and nobly their part in upholding the hands of Abraham Lincoln, I congratulate them thrice over because it was given to them to fight in a contest where the victors and the vanquished alike have bequeathed to us as a heritage the memory of the valor and the loyalty to the right as to each it was given to see the right, shared alike by the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray, in the great days of the civil war.

"In speaking a word on the occasion of this great musical festival I wish to say in the first place that I only hope it may be given to me to listen long enough to you to make me feel that there has been atonement for requiring me to speak at all. I feel that the men of this association and of kindred associations are not only adding to the common fund of pleasure but are doing genuine missionary work of a needed kind when they hold such a festival as this."

DARING THEFT AT MIDDAY; BUSINESS MAN IS ROBBED.

While Standing in Downtown Cigar Store F. S. Stewart Loses $132—Alleged Thief Captured, Money Gone.

A daring robbery occurred at one of the busiest corners in the downtown district at noon yesterday, when F. S. Stewart, Chicago representative of the Cleveland Faucet company, was robbed of $132 while standing in a cigar store at Washington street and Fifth avenue. Albert Drover, the alleged thief, was arrested and taken to the Central detail station, but the money was not recovered. He denied being guilty.

Woman in Saloon Shot.—Three young men entered a saloon at 906 North Wood street shortly before midnight on Sunday, shot Mrs. Elizabeth Prais in the left side, and then engaged in a revolver fight with Rawson street police. Two men were arrested. They gave the names of Joseph Gisinski and Frank Robovitch. Gisinski has been identified. Mrs. Prais was not seriously wounded.

Steal a Safe.—Burglars entered the residence of J. Karch, 170 Noble street, Sunday evening and carried away a safe weighing 350 pounds and secured $150 and private papers. Several suspects have been arrested.

MURDERED FOR REVENGE BECAUSE HE "STOLE ANNIE."

William Brown Found with Head Crushed—In His Pocket Letter from Former Prisoner Containing Threat.

"When I get out of here I will put you out of the way. You have stolen my Annie and you must pay for it."

This threat, contained in a letter written to William H. Brown, a negro, from the county jail, was made good yesterday morning when Brown was found dead in a driveway in the rear of the residence of E. C. Hollis, 485 Dearborn avenue. His skull had been fractured with a club. His assailant had lured him from the barn where he was sleeping and killed him. Three negro men and a woman found in the barn have been arrested, but the police are confident the writer of the letter, who signed himself "M. B.," murdered Brown for revenge.

Brown had taken seriously the threat of his enemy, for written on the back of the envelope containing the letter is the request:

"In case of death or accident, notify my mother, Mrs. Emma Brown, 825 Depris street, Memphis, Tenn."

Referee Rules on Estate.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 15.—[Special.]—The decision of Referee Ferdinand Geiger, to whom was referred the accounting between Mrs. Emeline M. Ludington of Chicago and the estate of former Gov. Harris Ludington, her husband, was filed today. The referee finds that the balance due Mrs. Ludington is $86,839, in addition to amounts she has received under the settlement with the executors of the Ludington estate, soon after her husband's death.

DENY PART IN FEUD CRIME

JETT AND WHITE ON STAND IN MURDER TRIAL.

Breathitt County Grand Jury Takes Up Inquiry Into the Burning of Capt. Ewen's Hotel—Citizens Fear No Indictments Will Be Found — Man Charged with Killing Marcum Says His Hand Was in Such Bad Condition He Could Not Handle Weapon.

Jackson, Ky., June 15.—[Special.]—The defense in the cases of Curtis Jett and Tom White, accused of killing Lawyer J. B. Marcum, opened today. The murder trial was interrupted several times by Judge Redwine for the purpose of instructing the grand jury which is inquiring into the arson charges against Joseph Crawford and Edward T. Larp, accused of setting fire to the hotel of B. J. Ewen early Sunday morning.

The citizens of Jackson fear there will be no indictments in the arson case, as the jury is composed entirely of Breathitt county citizens, who are known to all Jackson and to the leaders of both factions.

In the murder trial the defense opened with a statement that it would prove an alibi and introduced both Curtis Jett and Thomas White on the witness stand in their own behalf to testify that they did not enter the courthouse until after J. B. Marcum, the attorney for the contestants for county offices, had been shot down.

Defense Sets Up Alibis.

Attorney Golden made the opening statement for the defense, and said Jett was near the postoffice when the fatal shots were fired, and that White alone entered the side door of the courthouse prior to the shooting. Golden said they would further prove that Jett came out of the side door after he went to see Marcum's prostrate form in the doorway, and that he was there only to learn what had happened. Curtis Jett, on the stand, answered questions from his attorneys with considerable hesitation.

Says He Could Not Shoot.

Jett was asked what he had said to Mrs. Johnson on meeting her after Marcum was killed. He replied: "I said to Mrs. Johnson that she could not lay this on me, that every time a man was killed they said I did it."

He said at the time of the shooting his right hand was so badly swollen that he could not have pulled the trigger. He said he had had a finger amputated two weeks before.

White Tells His Story.

Thomas White, the other alleged assassin, was placed on the stand when court reconvened in the afternoon and testified in his own behalf and also for Jett. He said when the shots were fired he was one-third of the way across the street. He looked back and saw Marcum fall and Ewen run away. He saw a figure back in the hallway but he did not know who the man was. He had come to town that Saturday in quest of work. The cross examination brought out the fact that the only man from whom he asked work was Hargis.

Lexington Aiding Ewing Family.

Lexington, Ky., June 15.—The three Lexington newspapers, assisted by citizens, have started a subscription for Capt. B. J. Ewen, whose home was burned at Jackson yesterday by incendiaries. A considerable sum has already been raised. A call is made on the people of the state generally to help refund his loss. It is understood that Capt. Ewen, with his family, will leave Jackson at once, and he has been invited to make his home here.

CITY'S CENSUS IS 1,942,500, BASED ON THE DIRECTORY.

Expert Henry L. Smith Makes This Estimate of Chicago's Population—647,000 Names.

The new city directory, the first sixty-four pages of which were printed yesterday, will give the city a population of 1,942,500—a gain of 243,925 over the government census of 1900. This was the opinion expressed yesterday by Henry L. Smith of the firm of R. R. Donnelley & Co., which is printing the directory.

"We estimate there are about 22,000 more names than there were last year, when they numbered 625,000," said Mr. Smith. "During the last four years there have been an increase each year of from 18,000 to 22,000 names. Computing three persons for each name, the approximate population will be 1,942,500. The migratory character of Chicagoans is shown by a daily average of 100 letters that I receive from persons who have moved and who want me to insert their correct addresses in the directory."

"We have figured Chicago's population at 1,885,000," said Dr. C. St. Clair Drake of the bureau of vital statistics of the health department, "but we are extremely conservative. We compute that the population increases at the rate of 3.5 per cent each year, but the average increase each year between 1890 and 1900 was 5.4 per cent. Computing on the latter percentage the directory figures would not be far from correct."

The chief gains in population, according to the directory canvassers, have been along the lines of the elevated railroads. If there has been any special drift of population it has been toward the northwest. Population is still densest in the Sixteenth ward, where there are 137.9 to the acre. In the Ghetto the number of persons to the acre continues to be in the neighborhood of 89.2, showing that it is not the most congested district in the city, contrary to general belief.

ACCUSED OF ATTEMPT TO BRIBE

Bank Cashier Denies He Made Money Offer to Induce Official to Aid Land Sale.

Corning, N. Y., June 15.—[Special.]—George E. Eaton, cashier of Q. W. Wellington & Co.'s bank, was arrested here tonight by United States deputy marshals, charged with an attempt to bribe Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor. He was taken to Elmira, arraigned before the United States commissioner, and admitted to bail in the sum of $3,500. The alleged attempt to bribe was in connection with the sale of the government site for a federal building in this city. The last congress appropriated $150,000 for this purpose. Eaton offered a site. It is alleged that in his letter offering the site he made the offer. Eaton arrived here late tonight and says a great mistake has been made in misinterpreting his letter. He absolutely is innocent, he says, of any such intent or act. He has been cashier of the Wellington bank for a long term of years and absolutely has the confidence of his employers.

BURRO'S TAIL SAVES EASLEY.

Bunch of Hair Is Souvenir of Narrow Escape from Death of Secretary of Civic Federation.

Denver, Colo., June 15.—[Special.]—Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic federation, was saved from being dashed to death over a precipice while scaling Pike's Peak yesterday by grasping a burro's tail. Seeing his perilous position, Easley decided this was the only means which could hope to save his life, and the burro carried him safely out of harm's way. Easley still retains in a neatly done up bundle the bunch of hair which he pulled from the burro's tail in the struggle.

OLNEY PROPOSED AND OPPOSED

Massachusetts Congressman and Tammany Leader Differ Over His Candidacy for President.

Worcester, Mass., June 15.—[Special.]—At a conference between Congressman John R. Thayer and leader Charles T. Murphy of Tammany Hall today, Thayer declared unequivocally for Richard Olney of Massachusetts as the right man for the democratic nomination for president. Murphy could not agree with him. He admitted that Olney was a great man, but hardly thought he would be the man to arouse the country next year.

GUILTY MUST GO, SAYS ROOSEVELT.

President and Postmaster General Confer Over Inquiry Into Postal Scandals.

FRIENDLY TO ENGLAND.

Sentiment of Administration to Be Shown by Visit of Squadron After Kiel Regatta.

POSTAL SCANDALS—President and Postmaster General Payne confer over investigation of irregularities in department, and executive insists that all guilty must be punished. Beavers' arrest likely. Head of department approved for his course.

FOREIGN RELATIONS—American squadron to pay an official visit to England at some coming celebration as offset to appearance at Kiel, Germany, during regatta.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt had a long conference with Postmaster General Payne today regarding the postal scandals. Mr. Roosevelt is now practically directing the course of the investigation, and will continue to do so until it is completed. He has confidence in Postmaster General Payne, but desires to be acquainted with every move and to be advised of all developments.

During the three hours' conference this afternoon the entire situation was discussed, and President Roosevelt is advised fully now on every branch of the subject. The president asserted again today that he proposes to leave no stone unturned until all who are guilty of bringing the postal system into disrepute have been dismissed from the service and punished.

Considerable time was devoted to several important cases which will be presented to the grand jury in New York this week. Out of these presentments will come several important arrests.

While the department officials are reticent it is quite certain that the case of George W. Beavers, former superintendent of the salaries and allowance division, will be presented to the grand jury.

Orders to investigate the Brooklyn postoffice with the same thoroughness that characterized the inquiry at New York went out today. The case of prominent postal officials and their connection with the New York politicians now is ready for the grand jury. Harassed on all sides, Postmaster General Payne's friends say he must soon take a long rest or he will completely break down.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow has received the necessary orders to investigate H. H. Rand, Mr. Payne's confidential secretary.

Chief Inspector Cochran has returned from New York and laid the details of the whole sensational situation there before Mr. Bristow.

During the summer the American squadron will visit British waters on a gala occasion by special invitation of the English government. President Roosevelt has directed Secretary Hay to accept the invitation. Ever since the German emperor asked the president to send a squadron of American warships to the regatta at Kiel the English government has been seeking to have President Roosevelt consent to having the same squadron attend some celebration in English waters, either the review of the British fleet at Spithead or the yachting regatta at Cowes.

The earnestness of Great Britain in this connection has created the idea that the government at London would feel chagrined if an American squadron visited Germany to participate in a national festival and failed to visit England on a similar mission.

That Great Britain regarded the matter as one of considerable political importance was the impression created. It became evident to the officials in Washington that the English government feared that an acceptance by the United States of Emperor William's invitation to send warships to Kiel would create the impression among the nations of the world that Germany was on terms of closer friendship with this country than England.

It is understood that Spithead will be the point visited by the American naval force in Europe, probably when the English home fleet is reviewed there.

The European squadron now is at Southampton, England, but its visit there was not by invitation, but merely for the purpose of taking coal preparatory for the trip to Kiel, where it will remain for the whole of the regatta week—June 23 to June 30.

Baron Rheinbaben, Prussian minister of finance, called on President Roosevelt today with Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German minister. They were accompanied by Baron von Den Bussche-Haddenhousen and several members of the Prussian finance minister's suite and enjoyed a brief chat with the president. Later Baron Rheinbaben visited the treasury department, where he remained some time studying the business methods of the financial department of the government. He was deeply interested in the internal revenue system.

Ambassador Jusserand called on President Roosevelt today and presented him, with the compliments of President Loubet, with a large volume containing a record of all Frenchmen who participated in the American revolution. Col. Roosevelt was well pleased with the gift and requested Ambassador Jusserand to convey his thanks to President Loubet.

Sig. Mayor des Planches, the Italian ambassador, today presented to President Roosevelt twenty volumes of the war reports of Prince Eugene of Savoy. He also presented a copy of Dante's "Divine Comedy." They are gifts from the king of Italy.

President Roosevelt highly appreciated the gift and sent a cordial message to the king. Mr. Roosevelt is a warm admirer of the Italian general, having made a study of the latter's campaigns.

The edition of Prince Eugene's war report is the only one extant and was dedicated by the late King Humbert to the present king of Italy in the hope "that it would stimulate his love of Italian literature."

ROAD TO FOX LAKE PLANNED.

"L" Plans Are Outlined at a Meeting of River Forest and Harlem Citizens.

Plans for extending the Lake street "L" line through Maywood, Harlem, and River Forest and ultimately to the Fox Lake district were outlined last night at a meeting of River Forest and Harlem business men. Clarence Knight represented the railway company. No agreement was reached, but both sides expect to come to an understanding soon. One of the offers made by Mr. Knight was to establish a noonday express service running from Fifty-second avenue on a third track to Rockwell street, the service from Maywood to Fifty-second avenue to be local.

Attorneys from the villages will meet on June 29 to complete arrangements and frame a tentative ordinance to cover the proposed line.

"Shall we continue to pay five cents carfare to ride three blocks?"

To this question was given a resolute "no" last evening by the people of Berwyn, who met in the Masonic hall, to demand a one fare ride to the city. Resolutions were adopted favoring immediate action looking towards cheaper transportation.

ATTACK PEACE BOARD FEE

METHODIST MINISTERS CENSURE BRETHREN OF THE CLOTH.

Committee Reports That Pastor Arbitrators Erred in Judgment When They Asked $1,000 Each for Adjusting Differences Between Packers and Engineers—Burden Too Heavy for Labor and Discourages Efforts at Mediation.

Members of the ministerial arbitration board which recently adjusted differences between the engineers and certain packing houses were criticised by their brethren of the cloth yesterday for having asked a fee for their services.

To minister, and not to be ministered unto, was declared by the Methodist preachers to be the duty of pastors in all work undertaken by them. Further, it was asserted that to demand a fee for acting as arbitrators placed a too heavy burden on the shoulders of labor, who had other necessary expenses to meet in connection with the matters in dispute.

The members of the board of arbitration were the Rev. William M. Lawrence, pastor of the Second Baptist church; the Rev. Edward A. Kelly, pastor of the St. Cecilia Roman Catholic church; and the Rev. Myron W. Haynes of the Belden Avenue Baptist church. It was reported that they asked $1,000 each as remuneration, and on that report the Methodist ministers appointed a committee to investsigate.

Find Error in Judgment.

This committee, composed of the Rev. W. E. McLennan, the Rev. E. B. Crawford, and the Rev. Harry F. Ward, submitted its findings yesterday, which were adopted. They contained these statements:

"Some time during the hearing the question of remuneration came up in the board. It was represented by one of the members that the protracted sitting had seriously interfered with his duties to his church, and that he believed it his duty to ask for a reasonable remuneration which would be applied to liquidating the debt on his church. The board decided that Mr. Haynes should represent it in the matter, which he did in a letter dated April 27, a portion of which is as follows:

"'The board decided that $1,000 each would be a reasonable sum for our services. We had fifteen sittings, besides giving the matter much time and thought outside the actual sittings of the board. We therefore conclude that the packers ought to pay one-half this amount, and the engineers the other half.'

"The engineers, who had been allowed by the board 30 cents an hour for their labor, voted to compensate the arbitrators at the same rate—namely: 30 cents an hour for forty-eight hours, or $14.40 each. The packers sent their checks for the full amount asked, which checks, in two instances, so the committee was informed, were returned. Whether the other was returned this committee is unable to say.

Burden Too Heavy for Labor.

"This committee, however, would record as its conviction that it was a serious error of judgment to ask $3,000 for the services rendered. If the workingman is ever to be induced to accept arbitration, such arbitration must be put within his ability to pay for it. When it is remembered that the stenographers' bill alone was more than $1,200, that the hotel bills were $80, and other expenses, not to mention attorneys' fees, were in proportion, it will be seen that the addition of $3,000 for an arbitration court becomes a heavy burden, particularly to the side of labor.

"Your committee holds that as the minister and the church occupy what may properly be called a unique place in the community, no claim for remuneration, above actual expenses, ought to have been made. The church and the minister are in the community as a sacrificial influence, existing not to be ministered unto, but to minister.

"While it is not our province nor do we wish to sit in judgment on the motives of men, particularly when they represent denominational bodies other than our own, we do believe it is our duty to disavow this act, and at the same time to state that we believe the ministry everywhere should and does count it both a privilege and duty to serve, when asked to do so, in industrial troubles, as well as in all other public affairs, without remuneration."

Austin Citizens Demand Park Seats.

Austin citizens held an indignation meeting last evening, and after a spirited controversy over the question of restoring the seats to the town hall park notified Small Park Commissioner Rapp that if the seats are not restored this week the residents themselves will place benches in the park. June 27 was selected as the day for cleaning Austin park.

THREE OFFICERS NAMED BY MAYOR.

E. B. Tolman Made Corporation Counsel and Chief Musham Reappointed.

CUMMINGS IN OIL OFFICE.

War on Stray Dogs Is Ordered; Hospital Ordinance Becomes a Law.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

William H. Musham.....Fire marshal, to succeed himself
Elgar B. Tolman.....Corporation counsel, to succeed Judge-elect Charles M. Walker.
Edward M. Cummings.....Oil inspector, to succeed Melville G. Holding

WORK DONE BY THE CITY COUNCIL.

Passed amendment to the hospital ordinance, which measure becomes a law without the mayor's signature, prohibiting establishment of hospitals within 400 feet of school buildings.

Passed ordinance for the widening of West Randolph street, by seventy feet, between Halsted and Ashland avenues streets.

Ordered chief of police to enforce the ordinance against allowing dogs to run unmuzzled and unattended between April 1 and Nov. 1.

Referred to the license committee an ordinance providing for the removal of all signboards on elevated road stations, platforms, and stairways, and also those are over public streets or alleys.

Referred to the judiciary committee a revision of the municipal code as brought down to date by Mr. Walker.

Authorized an emergency appropriation of $10,000 for the health department, the money to be used in fighting smallpox.

Passed an order requiring ward superintendents to barricade defective and dangerous sidewalks and keep them barricaded until repairs are made by property owners.

Received Corporation Counsel Walker's opinion affirming the legality of the ordinance requiring railroads and elevated railways to carry children under 12 years of age for half fare.

Committed to the judiciary committee the Metropolitan pneumatic tube ordinance, that body to consider this in connection with the revised ordinance of the Chicago Postal Pneumatic Tube company.

Mayor Harrison filled three important municipal offices by the foregoing appointments at last night's meeting of the city council, each appointment receiving unanimous concurrence from the aldermen. The mayor put an end to the charges of certain members of the Chicago Underwriters' association against the fire department by reappointing Fire Marshal Musham.

"Chief Musham has been the brains of the fire department for some time," was the mayor's unofficial comment. "Despite criticisms of the department no one has convinced me that he should be displaced."

E. B. Tolman Succeeds Walker.

Edgar B. Tolman, who was named to succeed Judge-elect Charles M. Walker as corporation counsel, presented his bond for $5,000, which was approved. Mr. Tolman receives this advancement because of his record in conducting the legal department of the special assessment bureau, which he has directed for two years. His successor in that bureau is expected to be Robert Redfield, until now the chief assistant.

Edward M. Cummings succeeds Melville G. Holding as oil inspector on the pledge to turn all fees into the city treasury. He was one of the leaders of the "97" in the lower house of the state legislature who overthrew the gavel rule of Speaker Miller at the last session.

No further major appointments were made, though Street McGaffey is to be made the mayor's private secretary as soon as the existing law has decided on the new personnel of the board of local improvements, of which Mr. McGaffey now is a member. Minor appointments of bridgetenders were approved as follows: Edward McGill, One Hundred and Fifth street; William Rankin, Ninety-second street; B. F. Fogil, Chittenden street; E. J. Lynn, Ninety-fifth street.

Crusade Against Stray Dogs.

A crusade against the thousands of homeless and ownerless dogs in the city was begun by the council passing an order directing that the chief of police rigidly enforce the ordinance "prohibiting dogs running at large unmuzzled or unattended between April 1 and Nov. 1."

Aiming to protect the city from personal injury cases the council passed the order to have ward laborers barricade all sidewalks which are found defective or dangerous. Until owners of the property repair the sidewalks these barricades are to remain, any one attempting to tear them down being liable to a fine of $25. Ward superintendents are to report such barricades weekly to the public works commissioner and the city attorney.

Health Ordinance Now a Law.

By the failure of the mayor to take any action on the measure the new hospital ordinance, aimed at regulating as "nuisances" institutions where inebriates, epileptics, and the insane are treated, becomes a law. One amendment was passed unanimously—a recommendation of the board of education which prohibits the establishment hereafter of any hospital within 400 feet of any "property used for school purposes." By the new law now in force lying-in hospitals are classed with general hospitals and not under the "nuisance" restriction.

On the promise of Ald. Brennan that only owners of abutting property shall be assessed for the improvement the ordinance enlarging the West Randolph street market was passed by a unanimous vote. Thirty-five feet of land on either side of the thoroughfare, from Halsted to Sangamon street, is to be condemned to widen and extend the market. The total cost is estimated at $1,000,000.

Would Remove Signs on "L."

Ald. Sullivan introduced an ordinance to clear the elevated stations, platforms, and stairways of advertising signboards. It directed the commissioner of public works "to remove all advertising billboards erected in or on the elevated railroad stations, stairways, or platforms, when on or over a public street, alley, or other public place." On motion of Ald. Hunter it was referred to the license committee.

Mr. Walker, the retiring corporation counsel, submitted an opinion holding legal the ordinance compelling the railway lines to carry children under 12 years of age for half fare. At the next meeting of the council Ald. Butterworth will introduce an order that the ordinance be enforced to the letter. With these communications Mr. Walker submitted an unofficial letter thanking the council for its courtesy to him during his seven years of service—three years as a member of the body and four years as corporation counsel.

On motion of Ald. Williston the Bacheller Pneumatic tube ordinance was recommitted to the judiciary committee. The vetoed ordinance of the Postal Pneumatic Tube company is now in the hands of that body and both measures are to be considered and passed on as to their merits.

Ald. Dunn presented an order that the city, in view of the inaction of the Union Traction company, place grooved rails in North Clark street between Belmont avenue and Diversey boulevard, the improvement of the street now being held at a standstill owing to the traction company's failure to comply with the ordinance.

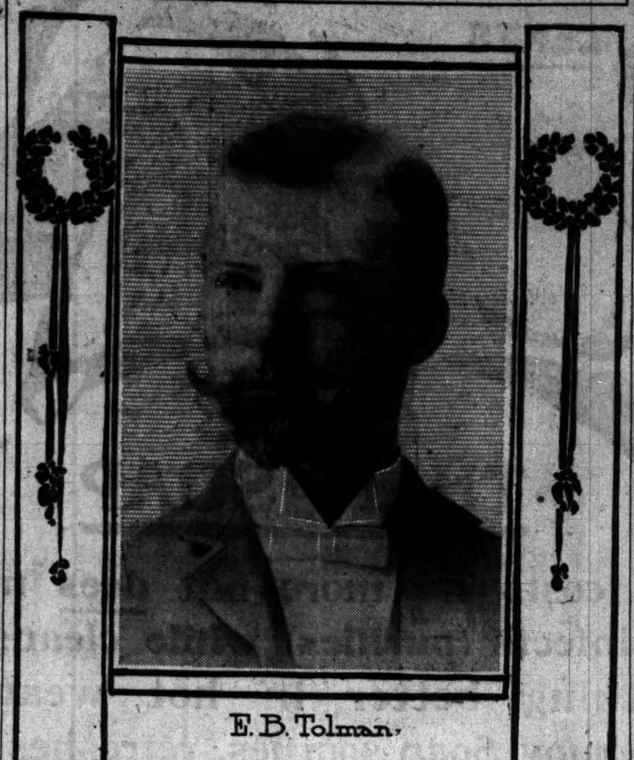

Switch Track Row Promised.

At the meeting of the streets and alleys west committee yesterday Ald. Cerveny objected to the recommendation for passage of the New Quincy company ordinance by which the corporation is allowed to traverse four streets with a switch track, besides occupying part of an alley, for $200 a year. Cerveny declared the compensation is too low. The other aldermen said that he should have spoken sooner and refused to alter their decision. Ald. Cerveny may fight the measure on the floor of the council.

NEW CORPORATION COUNSEL OF CHICAGO.

E. B. Tolman.

Edgar Bronson Tolman, the new corporation counsel, came to Chicago in 1868, went through the public school system, and was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1880. He is now a member of the "congregation of the university," having been elected by the alumni in 1898. Mr. Tolman studied law with Former Senator James R. Doolittle and was graduated from the Union College of Law in 1882. In the Spanish-American war he was a major in the First regiment of Illinois volunteers, and served in the trenches before Santiago until its capture, on July 17. He has three children. Mrs. Tolman died recently.

MAYOR INSISTS ON WAIVER

CALLS PROPOSITION OF CITY RAILWAY ILLEGAL.

Declares He Will Reject Any Ordinance Which Recognizes the Ninety-nine Year Act—Invites Litigation of Question if It Cannot Be Settled Otherwise—Members of the Local Transportation Committee Think Mr. Harrison Is Too Hasty.

Mayor Harrison said yesterday he would have nothing to do with any ordinance for traction franchise extension which did not involve absolute waiver by the companies of the ninety-nine year act.

The mayor branded as illegal the proposition of the Chicago City railway company that the city agree to make a new grant to the company at the end of twenty years should the city at that time neither exercise its right to buy the lines nor authorize another corporation to become the purchasers.

"The proposition is no waiver of the ninety-nine year act at all," said the mayor. "Its adoption would justify the claims of the opponents of the Mueller bill that we were playing a confidence game which would benefit the companies. To begin with, the proposition is illegal. It contemplates action or conditions twenty years from now, and such authority this council has no right to grant. What we want and demand is that the ninety-nine year act shall be buried now and forever. Every alderman who belongs to the so-called reform element is pledged to exact a waiver of the ninety-nine year act. They cannot compromise on that, and the mayor will not. If we have come to the point where we must make a compromise of this sort, I say litigate the ninety-nine year claims."

Think Mayor Too Hasty.

Members of the local transportation committee think the mayor's statement is premature. The tentative ordinance, they assert, binds the city in no way, and was intended to provoke full discussion, the call for a meeting next Friday being intended for this purpose.

"The interviews given out by the mayor and the law department were ill-advised before public discussion is held on the tentative ordinance," said Ald. Bennett, chairman of the committee. "We have merely sought to take some steps toward settling this problem as soon as possible and securing early improvement of the wretched service the city receives. To litigate the ninety-nine year problem will mean years of delay."

"We have sought some way for an early adjustment of this question," said Ald. Mayor. "We have bound neither the city nor ourselves to anything. If that clause is not fair and cannot be incorporated in any franchise, then I do not see that any terms dealing with a waiver of the act can be incorporated."

Preparing the Petition.

General Counsel W. W. Gurley and R. R. Govin, one of the receivers, returned to Chicago yesterday and made final preparations for the 50,000 word petition, arguing the validity of the ninety-nine year act, which will be presented to Judge Grosscup on Thursday. Attorney Joseph S. Auerbach of New York will reach the city this afternoon, and tomorrow will make the most extended argument before the court.

Suit for More Transfers.

A step toward extending a universal transfer system was taken during the day by the filing of a petition by P. H. Conley in the Circuit court for a writ of mandamus to compel the Chicago City railway and the receivers of the Union Traction company to interchange transfers where the lines of these two companies intersect at Madison and Clark streets and State and Madison streets.

POLICEMAN IN A WAGON RUNS DOWN FUGITIVE.

Aided by Fire Marshal Grauer Patrolman Brennen Chases Alleged Thief in West Side Streets—Shots Fired.

An exciting chase, in which a number of shots were fired and one man was wounded, occurred yesterday afternoon when Policeman Brennen of the West Lake street station and Acting Fire Marshal Grauer pursued William Ainsworth, a peddler, nearly a mile.

The chase started at the rear of L. S. Woelfersheim's grocery, 875 West Madison street, where the police say Ainsworth had taken some empty barrels and loaded them on a wagon. He was discovered by Woelfersheim, who ordered him to replace the barrels. Ainsworth, it is said, replied by firing a shot at Woelfersheim, the bullet striking him in the leg. Ainsworth then drove away.

The policeman heard the shot and pursued in a baker's wagon. Marshal Grauer in his buggy joined in the pursuit. Ainsworth was captured at Paulina and Erie streets.

Chicago Wife Regains Husband.

Denver, Colo., June 15.—[Special.]—C. O. Eastman came to Denver from Chicago several weeks ago, leaving behind him a wife and five children. Instead of depending on the police, Mrs. Eastman started for Denver herself to locate her husband. She found him last night, and early this morning Chief Armstrong had him put in jail. This afternoon they reached an understanding and both returned to Chicago this evening.

SHOT ENDS LONG 'JOSHING'

AFTER EIGHT YEARS OF JOKING DAN GIBSON LOSES TEMPER.

Draws Pistol and Fires at His Old Friend, Hugh Byrnes, Who May Die—Latter, Thinking of Possible Murder Trial, Sends for Police and Chum and Makes Formal Statement Exonerating Him—Both Men Horse Dealers in the Stockyards.

Daniel Gibson and Hugh Byrnes are friends who have whiled away their spare time for eight years in playing practical jokes on each other. The first in all that time to lose his temper was Gibson, and as a result of the last "joshing" bout Byrnes is in a hospital wounded, perhaps fatally, from a pistol shot. Gibson is in the Stockyards police station, contrite and mournful over the possible fate of his friend.

For they are friends still. Byrnes, as he lay on his cot at the Englewood Union hospital early yesterday morning, with life at almost its lowest ebb, got to worrying about the fate of Gibson should he (Byrnes) die and leave his friend to face a murder charge. So he called for the police and made a sworn statement describing the joke and exonerating his chum. Gibson was present and sat by the bedside, holding his comrade's hand.

Horse Dealers at Stockyards.

The two men are horse dealers at the stockyards, Byrnes being an employé of M. Newgass & Son. They have been neighbors since 1895, Byrnes living at 4246 Emerald avenue and Gibson at 414 Forty-third street. Every day they went to the stockyards together chaffing each other in a wholesouled though often boisterous manner, and at night returned discussing the trades of the day in the same vein of raillery. They got up hoaxes on each other and in the company of acquaintances held each other up to the sort of mock ridicule that attests the depth of a mutual attachment. Friends concluded that the two inseparables were safe in each other's company, for neither ever lost his temper.

Saturday afternoon Byrnes was walking down Emerald avenue when he spied his friend Gibson sitting in the window of Bracken's blacksmith shop, near Forty-second street. Gibson had his chair tilted back and his heels cocked high on the window sill.

"Oho, old pal, you're perchin' high fer an' old bird, ain't you?" cried Byrnes, leaning through the window, lifting Gibson's ankles and tilting him farther back in his chair.

Gibson struggled and finally wrenched himself loose. Then, as the other turned away, he called out:

"That's too much of a good thing. I could shoot you for doing that."

"O, you wouldn't do that would you?" sung out Byrnes laughingly, as he turned back, and, coming close, tapped his friend on the chest.

Draws Pistol and Shoots.

Gibson whipped a pistol from his pocket and shot Byrnes in the abdomen. The wounded man dropped and Gibson, after pausing in consternation at his deed, set off up an alley pursued by several persons. He was caught in the rear of the Transit house by Policeman Dennis O'Leary.

Just after midnight—yesterday morning—Byrnes thought he was dying and asked that the police be called to take his statement. Lieut. Downey took Gibson to the hospital with him and there witnessed the reconciliation of the two friends.

Rivals' Fight Ends Fatally.

James Spellacy, who was shot on June 7 during a fight with Peter Gom in front of his own home, 110 McHenry street, died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital. The men had met the night before the shooting in a dance hall and had quarreled over escorting a young woman home. The following day Gom met Spellacy and, after a quarrel, shot him.

SEES HIS PLAYMATE DROWN: RUNS HOME. GOES TO SLEEP.

Boy Does Not Tell of Companion's Death Till the Victim's Mother Goes to His House to Ask for Her Son.

Terrified by seeing his playmate drown in the lake an 8 year old boy ran home last night and went to bed without telling any one of the accident. The drowned boy was Otto Lund, 7 years old, whose parents live at 312 Wells street. His companion was Willie Schultz.

The boys were playing on the lake shore at the foot of Ohio street when Otto slipped and fell into the lake. At 9 o'clock Mrs. Lund became alarmed at her child's absence and went to the Schultz boy's home to make inquiry. The boy told her that he and Otto were kneeling on the edge of the breakwater when a stone slipped and Otto fell into the lake.

"He went right down," said young Schultz. "I waited a minute, and, when he did not come up, I ran home."

The patrol wagon and several policemen from the East Chicago avenue station went to the lake to drag for the body, but it was so dark that the search was postponed until today.

WAITERS NEARING A ROUT

CHANGE FRONT AND TAKE STEP TOWARD ARBITRATION.

With Their Union Disintegrating and National Labor Leaders Telling Them Their Course Is Wrong, the Strikers Prepare to Sue for Peace—Samuel Gompers Confers with Joint Board and Offers His Services as a Mediator to Bring About Settlement.

limited scale, and at night reported that the results had been satisfactory.

Says Strike Is Over.

"So far as the hotel men are concerned the strike is over," said Secretary Paul Blatchford of their association. "Every house in the city can start up, if it so desires, with practically a full quota of help. The pickets have tried to stop the supplies, but have failed, and from their disconsolate talk have about given up the struggle."

"The restaurant men will reopen their places tomorrow," said Secretary S. D. Seaman of that organization, "and will have enough employés to make the venture an assured success. It is astonishing how the waiters and cooks have deserted their central union and its joint board. All who made high wages are ready to return to duty, and the others will do so as soon as the restaurants get well started.

Answers to Be Made Today.

The negotiations for peace opened early in the morning, when a committee from the steam power council asked the joint board if it was willing to submit its grievances to arbitration. The committee visited the hotel and restaurant men on the same errand. The union will give its answer at 10 a. m., the hotel men at 11 a. m., and the restaurant keepers at 3 p. m. today. A committee of nine, appointed last night, will act for the restaurant men.

Order Out More Employes.

While the committee was holding its session with the joint board, members of the union were about the city closing the cafeterias. Those attacked were:

National Life building—A cook, a helper, and a waitress stopped work. Ninety-five other employés remained.

Bay State building—Three out of forty employés struck.

Lakota Cafeterias and Restaurants (five in number)—Ninety employés struck, but service at the stock exchange was continued.

Mortimer's restaurant—Twenty-five waitresses struck.

Restaurant at 202 Clark street—Strike ordered but employés refused to go out.

The joint board then ordered that the employés of the Windsor-Clifton hotel and the Transit house be called out. Most of the workers at the Windsor-Clifton went out, but the strike at the Transit house was a failure.

Sharp Words by Driscoll.

When members of the board called on Secretary Driscoll they were taken to task for their conduct and their position.

"You have been led astray by rabid ideas," said Mr. Driscoll. "For a month you have acted without sense or reason. Now you ask how the teamsters stand. The teamsters will live up to their agreements.

"So will the engineers and firemen. You might as well understand that you will get no aid so long as you will not listen to reason and give to the employers the right to get fair terms and an equitable settlement of your demands. If you care to have my assistance I will give it when you formally invite me to do so."

Just as the strikers were about to leave, Driscoll called to Business Agent Neiderhoff of the bakers, who was present, and told him the teamsters had discovered that a "job" was being played on H. H. Kohlsaat & Co., and that if the unions striking against that firm did not make peace soon the teamsters would begin to deliver supplies and cart away bakery goods.

At the conference with President Samuel Gompers, in the office of Thomas I. Kidd, those present were:

For the waiters and cooks—B. G. Gorton, T. J. Kinnally, Charles Keisler, L. W. Washington, and James Carey.

For the American Federation of Labor—President Samuel Gompers and Vice President Kidd.

For the Chicago Federation of Labor—President W. G. Schardt.

For the labor movement—President G. W. Perkins of the cigarmakers, President D. Mulcahy of the woodworkers, and Business Agent Norton of the bakery wagon drivers.

"The meeting was a most harmonious one," said Chairman Ben Gorton of the board, "and was given over to a discussion of the events of the strike. We will have another conference with President Gompers when he returns. Is there any progress toward peace? We have not got far enough along for that, but there may be developments soon."

The joint board received $20,000 yesterday from the headquarters of the international union. This will be used to care for the needy members. Arrangements were made with some minor hotels, and all the women who apply for assistance will be sent to them.

STRIKE SIGNAL STARTS A RIOT.

Waiters in Swan's Restaurant Refuse to Walk Out and Blows Do Not Coerce Them.

The shrill whistle which had been the signal for a line of departing waiters failed last night, and was the precursor of a riot call in Swan's restaurant in Twenty-second street, near Wabash avenue, last night.

An officer of the waiters' union sounded the signal and six of the twelve employés started for the door. The hesitation of their companions induced the first six to wait and an argument was started. The pleading of the hungry customers induced ten of the employés to return to the kitchen. Strikers waiting outside then swarmed into the place and a free fight followed. The riot call was sent in, but before the patrol wagon arrived the strikers had left, having secured but one recruit from the place.

The Desplaines street police were summoned in the evening to disperse a crowd of union barbers which had collected in front of John Klauk's shop, 198-200 West Madison street. According to the police the union men tried to close the place. They were quietly dispersed.

STRIKE CHANGES BANQUET PLAN

Medical Alumni Will Meet in College Hall Tonight and Students Will Serve as Waiters.

The banquet for the Alumni association of the Northwestern university medical school, which was to have been held in the Auditorium tonight, will be held in the main hall of the college building, Twenty-fourth and Dearborn streets.

The change was caused by the waiters' strike, for though the members of the alumni offered to furnish their own waiters and provisions the hotel management was unwilling to undertake the care of the banquet.

Five hundred doctors are here to attend the meeting, and the school hall has been prepared for them. One hundred medical students have volunteered to serve as waiters and they have been engaged.

BLAMES TROUBLE TO DAUGHTER

Joaquin Vargas Says She Caused the Discord Which Finally Involved Parents in Divorce Suit.

The domestic troubles of Joaquin Vargas and wife received a further airing in Judge Clifford's court yesterday. The Mexican vice consul said his daughter caused much of the trouble which led to the divorce suit.

Vargas said his daughter hit him with a broomstick and called him a "nigger," and that when he protested to his wife against the girl visiting dance halls and coming home at 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning he was told that it was none of his business. The hearing will be resumed today.

Mrs. Lulu F. Klaner, who declared that her husband, George W. Klaner, had taken possession of a check for $10,000 alleged to have been given the couple as a wedding present, was granted a decree of divorce by Judge Clifford. Klaner lives at 577 Orchard street. He is 23 years old.

MINERS IN FAVOR OF NEW STRIKE.

Sentiment Is for Tieup if the Operators Do Not Live Up to Recent Decision.

DEFER FORMAL ACTION.

Convention Refers Entire Problem of Recognition to Its Committee—Mitchell Speaks.

Scranton, Pa., June 15.—[Special.]—That the sentiment of the miners of the anthracite coal fields is for another strike if the operators do not live up to the decision of the strike commission as well as the miners do was made evident in the speeches at the convention of workers here today.

No final action was taken, as a result of the talks of President John Mitchell and other of the conservative leaders, and the whole matter of the refusal of the operators to recognize the conciliators appointed by the joint executive board was referred to a committee.

John Mitchell presided, and 640 delegates were in attendance. The conciliation matter and all other grievances the different districts want to have considered were referred to a committee, which was composed of seven delegates from each district and the three district presidents.

Mitchell Scores Operators.

In opening the convention President Mitchell made a brief speech, reviewing the events that have transpired since the close of the strike, and making suggestions as to what plan of procedure the convention should follow. He said in part:

"It is needless to say that the refusal of the coal operators to accept the award of the strike commission in a broad, liberal, fair spirit is a deep disappointment to me. I had hoped that after the award was made each side would accept it and carry out its provisions to the last letter. I desire to say that if the mine workers had refused to carry out even so much as the slightest provision of that award I would be the first man to condemn them for such conduct. We expect to keep its provisions inviolate. When we are ready to live up to the award, it is not unreasonable for us to ask the operators to do the same.

Not All the Miners Asked.

"The award of the commission was far from all we asked and were entitled to. From a monetary standpoint it was not a great victory for us. It was, however, a great moral victory. True, we are granted an advance in wages and a decrease in hours of labor, but, altogether, we did not receive one-half of what we were entitled to. But whatever disappointment came of the award we can bear it. We will accept our failure and carry out the award as faithfully as though we secured everything we sought."

Secretary George Hartlein, in a spirited speech, provoked resounding cheers by declaring, "I can see a six months' strike in every one of your faces to get what we are entitled to." He declared the convention had nothing to do about selecting conciliators, as that already had been done, and the only business before it was to formulate this and the other grievances and proceed to have them redressed. "Let us get our grievances properly before us, so that if we have to fight we will know what we are fighting for," he said.

Opposed by Colored Delegate.

A colored delegate, William Tarr of Shamokin, arose to protest against Secretary Hartlein talking strike. "We've had enough of strike," he declared. "What we're here for is to avoid strike. We're not looking for bother." He was howled down.

Time and again motions were made, all substantially in favor of having the convention indorse the action of the joint executive board in selecting the conciliators, but President Mitchell each time staved off a vote. Finally he advised the convention should express its sentiments, leave it to the committee on resolutions to frame the sentiments in proper order, and then take action. This was heeded. The convention adjourned to meet again tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Chicago-Hammond Fight Is Up.

Cincinnati, O., June 15.—[Special.]—The differences between the Chicago delegates and those from Hammond, Ind., are to be fought out before the fifteenth annual convention of the international printing pressmen and assistants, now in session in this city.

The Chicago delegation objected to the seating of the delegates from Hammond, charging the latter with allowing the W. B. Conkey company to enforce its own shop practices and pay less than the union scale, while it is in competition with Chicago houses in printing catalogues and other commercial work. It is charged that the Conkey company has one pressman to operate two large rotaries. Both sides have submitted their case to the committee on credentials.

Roosevelt Scored by Miners.

BIG UNION IS EXPELLED BY AMERICAN FEDERATION.

Association of Steamfitters Loses Standing Because of Refusal to Amalgamate with Organization of Plumbers.

After a prosperous existence of over ten years, the National Association of Steamfitters lost its standing in the American Federation of Labor yesterday because it refused to amalgamate with the United Association of Plumbers.

For years the steamfitters have been building up a strong union against the wishes of the plumbers, who claimed jurisdiction over that line of work. The question which organization should live came up before the annual convention of the American federation at New Orleans, which in turn left it to arbitration.

Early this spring both unions submitted their case to Frank L. Rist, who recommended that there be an amalgamation. His decision was declared unjust by the steamfitters, who alleged that it was based on evidence that was not submitted to him according to the laws laid down by the federation.

President Gompers accepted it, however, and ordered the two unions to amalgamate by June 15. At their recent convention the steamfitters refused to do as ordered, asking that they be given a hearing before the American Federation of Labor at its next convention. They decided further to maintain their organization and refuse to give it up unless absolutely necessary.

The headquarters of both unions are in Chicago. Both are strong here, but locally are on the best of terms. Both have agreements with the contractors of the city which are expected to keep them from open warfare for the present. Jointly the two organizations control over 60,000 workers throughout the country.

JEERS GREET LAUNDRY VOTE.

Decision Against Reopening of Strike Announced at a Stormy Meeting of the Workers' Union.

The vote of the workers which decided against a renewal of the laundry strike was read last night at a meeting of the union at 122 La Salle street, which was made boisterous by the displeasure of the beaten faction, some of whom jeered the girls who had voted for peace. One of the girls was attacked and beaten severely.

Of the 748 ballots cast in the Sunday vote, 422 opposed reopening the strike. A two-thirds vote is required to call a strike.

WRIT FOR SILVER; LICENSE ISSUED.

Resort Keeper Is Charged with Keeping the "Maxim" Open After Midnight.

MANY MORE ARE ACCUSED.

Vigilance Committee Will Take Its Cases Before the Grand Jury Next Week.

That twenty-five horse power political "pull" of George Silver, the Dearborn street saloonkeeper and proprietor of the "Maxim," 2020 Wabash avenue levee, is the envy of all the city hall henchmen who have been struggling for years to acquire even a semblance of such influence. Yesterday afternoon the pull that won't come off or slack up secured a license for the "Maxim," after a warrant had been sworn out to arrest Silver for violating the midnight closing ordinance. The police secured warrants for the arrest of many others.

It transpired during the day that although Silver had been running the "Maxim" for three days he had no license till late yesterday afternoon. On Saturday City Collector Lahiff telephoned to the Twenty-second street police station that Silver was "all right" and to allow him to open.

Shortly before midnight on Saturday Capt. O'Brien visited the "Maxim" and informed Silver that he would have to close his doors promptly at midnight and cease selling liquor.

Ignores Orders of the Police.

"O, I'll close the doors all right," replied Silver, "but of course I'll keep my restaurant running. You let me alone tonight and tomorrow, and I'll square it up downtown on Monday."

O'Brien went away, but he left several detectives in the neighborhood, who brought in evidence that Silver had disobeyed his orders. The warrant for Silver's arrest was issued yesterday morning and he hurried to the city hall at once to ward off any evil effects of the report. The pull was working beautifully and the license was issued officially at 4:10 p. m.

Silver Gloats Over License.

THE TRIBUNE was last night in receipt of an insolent invitation from George Silver to visit his Wabash avenue dive, which, according to the note, "is doing business with a license granted by the mayor of the city of Chicago."

Other South Siders Arrested.

The other south side saloonkeepers against whom warrants were issued for keeping open after midnight, and who were arrested last night, were the following:

Samuel Leopold, 2101 Dearborn street.
Herman Mueller, 2856 State street.
Hamblin & Cross, 71 Twenty-third street.
Louis Miller, 3000 State street.
J. A. Kiawans, 2642 Dearborn street.
Israel Daniels, State and Nineteenth streets.
George Carsen, 2223 Cottage Grove avenue.

Arrests on the North Side.

On the north side the following were arrested:

H. R. Lee, State and Ontario streets.
J. P. McGovern, Clark and Indiana streets.
Gustave Bender, 204 East Kinzie street.
J. P. McGovern, 57 North Clark street.
David Rothschild, 205 North Clark street.
Mont Teanis, 143 North Clark street.
John Fellman, 452 Wells street.
Thomas O'Brien, 655 North Clark street.

When the police visited Lee's place after midnight they found it doing a flourishing business—without a license. Lee will have another charge preferred against him tomorrow.

McGovern has the distinction of having been arrested three times, twice on Monday and again last night.

Ten Taken on West Side.

The following arrests were made by the Desplaines street police:

Louis Frank of Frank Brothers, Halsted and Madison streets.
Cæsar Delpino, Peoria and Madison streets.
M. J. Lippert, 78 Halsted street.
Isaac Epstein, 87 Halsted street.
Abraham Epstein, 225 Madison street.
Albert Bernstein, 142 Madison street.
Moses Rubin, 180 Madison street.
William Murphey, 93 Halsted street.
James McGinnis, 96 Peoria street.
Steven Powers, 119 Halsted street.

During the evening Detectives O'Malley and Mulvihill raided the saloon of Samuel Davis, 444 West Madison street, and arrested two men and eight women who were said to have been drinking in the rear of the place.

The following are to be arrested today:

John Gazolo, 481 Madison street.
John Gallagher, Throop and Harrison streets.
Victor Abrams, 738 Madison street.
John Livingston, 804 Van Buren street.
William Malcolm, 784 Madison street.

"Ike" Bloom's troubles are multiplying. He was arrested yesterday charged with assaulting D. H. Bell," with a deadly weapon," and the case will be heard by Justice Richardson tomorrow. The encounter is said to have occurred in Freiberg's dance hall. The charges against him of selling liquor after midnight were continued until June 24.

Will Appeal to Grand Jury.

The issuing of licenses to three Wabash avenue saloons, Silver's among them, has roused the citizens' vigilance committee to a renewed crusade. Louis J. Behan, attorney for the committee, had a long conference with the state's attorney's office, at which it was decided to present to the next grand jury evidence against thirty-five saloonkeepers and women who are running disorderly houses. The grand jury will take up the investigation as soon as it convenes on next Monday.

Mr. Behan will ask the grand jury for indictments against the saloonkeepers and prosecute them in court before laying the matter before the mayor. Then the vigilance committee will call on Mr. Harrison with a list of the convictions secured and demand that he revoke the licenses. If the mayor still refuses mandamus proceedings may be commenced to compel him to do his duty.

The work of the police department has been lessened by the enforcement of the midnight closing order. The number of arrests made in the districts where all night saloons heretofore have been unmolested show a decrease of almost 25 per cent. The same percentage is seen in the decrease of accident cases taken to the County hospital.

SAY LIQUOR IS SOLD IN JAIL: CHARGE IS DECLARED FALSE.

Two Released Prisoners Accuse Guards of Peddling Intoxicants to Inmates—Whitman Investigates.

Charges of drunkenness and brutality on the part of guards in the county jail were made yesterday by August Rothe, 20 Emerson avenue, who was released on Saturday on bonds. He had been committed by Judge Dunne for failing to pay alimony. Rothe was supported in his statements by August Popp, 352 Wells street, who was also released on Saturday. According to Rothe prisoners have purchased liquor from guards. Rothe also said he had been assaulted by other prisoners while guards stood by without interfering. Jailer John L. Whitman investigated the charges yesterday afternoon and last evening, and said he was satisfied the charges were without foundation.

ASK COST OF OZONE PLANT

CITY OFFICIALS TALK OF EMPLOYING THE METHOD IN CHICAGO.

Say German System of Water Purification Is Sure, but Want to Know How Quickly It Works and What the Expense Is—Are Investigating These Points Now—Output of Pumps Here Is So Great It May Prove a Difficulty.

The process of sterilizing water by impregnating it with ozone, as is done in Wiesbaden and Paderborn, Germany, has been made of vital importance in Chicago by the suggestion of the health department that it be experimented with at the Rogers Park pumping station.

Investigations are now being made by city officials individually touching the practical application of the German process to a city whose demands are so great as are Chicago's. The question of cost is another important point.

"There is no question of the efficiency of the ozone process in the purification of water," said City Engineer Ericson. "Heretofore, however, although its effects have been recognized by all, its expense has been great, practically prohibitive, except with small quantities of water. There is an immense amount of water to be treated in Chicago, 400,000,000 gallons a day, and the process must be rapid. If the German chemists have secured a process of ozonizing water that is both inexpensive and quick, they have solved the problem of a pure water supply in large cities."

"I have not been able to get all the information I want on this subject," said City Electrician Ellicott. "My information is still too meager to admit of an opinion that would be worth much. I have been able to learn little except in a general way of the cost of the plants and of the process, and there has nothing been told in anything I have found of the time required to do the work."

Of the ozonizing process Hugo Jone, chemist and analyst at the municipal laboratories, said:

"The system has passed its experimental stage. The germs of typhoid fever, Asiatic cholera, and dysentery are killed by ozone without fail. This is not always the case in filtration through sand or even through charcoal. By the introduction of ozone the problem of sterilizing, purifying, and revivifying water easily and completely without danger of making the water harmful has been solved."

Briefly the process, as described by the German chemists, is to subject air to powerful electric currents, which "burn" the oxygen, thus producing ozone. The water is then impregnated with this ozonized air, with the results that all the harmful germs in it are destroyed.

NEGRO GRADUATE CHEERED BY NORTHWESTERN STUDENTS

Lawyer Taylor Is the First of His Race to Finish Studies at Evanston—Exercises Today at Chicago University.

Students of Northwestern university to the number of 1,200 made class day memorable in Evanston yesterday by a shouting demonstration in honor of Lawyer Taylor, colored, a member of this year's graduating class and the first negro to secure a degree in the college of liberal arts.

Eddy S. Brandt, class historian, ended his review of the four years in college by saying:

"And there is one who has been with us four years, and in every way has proved himself a scholar and a gentleman. Friends, I now ask you to join with me in giving three times three cheers for Lawyer Taylor, the first man of his race to be graduated from this institution."

A minute's silence followed. It seemed possible the Evanston audience would not pay the tribute asked. Then with one accord the resounding cheer for Taylor was given.

The exercises were held in the afternoon in Orrington Lunt library. Aside from the class history, a prophecy was read by Ruth Woodley of Evanston.

In the morning the senior class oration was delivered by Harry Smoot of Petersburg, and the class poem was read by Miss Rogertha Dickenson of Eureka. Miss Lillian Thomas of Denver, Colo., delivered the ivy oration.

Ceremonies at Chicago University.

The convocation exercises this morning at the University of Chicago will formally close the regular college year. The exercises will be held at 10 o'clock, in the big tent on the campus. The class numbers 184 students. Forty-two doctor's and master's degrees will be conferred. Six of these are the degree of J. D., the graduate law degree, today given by the university for the first time.

Commencement at St. Xavier's.

The annual commencement exercises of the St. Xavier academy were held in the afternoon in the recital hall of the new building, at 4928 Evans avenue. The exercises, under the auspices of the Sisters of Mercy, marked the fifty-seventh annual commencement of the academy.

IDLE RICH SCORED BY FORMER PASTOR OF ROCKEFELLER.

Dr. W. H. P. Faunce Says There Is a Rapidly Growing Class Which Has No Right to Live.

Providence, R. I., June 15.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, president of Brown university, the former pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church in New York City, which John D. Rockefeller and his son attend, delivered a scathing rebuke to the wealthy leisure class of this country in the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Brown university.

Dr. Faunce said: "The man who has no wish to serve his fellows, but only to use them, has no moral right to be here. He may shelter himself behind legal documents, behind the pride of birth, or the insolence of office, but if he is not here as a willing, loyal servant, he is at odds with the universe, he is anti-social, anti-Christian, and has no moral right to live.

"We see a rapidly growing leisure class in America who are tempted to interpret life as a series of rights without duties and pleasures without responsibilities. They conceal mental vacuity behind the arts of the caterer and upholsterer and contribute to society nothing more novel than a simian banquet, and by lives of 'luxury and alimony' sow seeds of social revolt whose harvest their unwelcome children must surely reap."

Defines the Ideal Lawyer.

Madison, Wis., June 15.—[Special.]—Hiram F. Stevens of Minneapolis, president of the American Bar association, addressed the graduating class of the Wisconsin university law school tonight on "Professional Ideas in Business Methods." He defined the true lawyer as follows:

"The true lawyer is one who by that protected patience which Buffon has declared to be the equivalent of genius, or, as Carlyle phrases it, 'the transcendent capacity for taking pains,' has mastered the principles of law as well as the tedious details of their technical application to the affairs of life; who loves justice so thoroughly that he tries to make it synonymous with law; who esteems honor above riches and self-respect above popular acclaim; and who scorns all meanness and trickeries and holds his word above reproach."

PRIZE SPEAKING IN OAK PARK.

John Farson Awards Go to Bruce Fairchild Barton and Marjorie Gardner Wilson.

Bruce Fairchild Barton, a son of the Rev. William E. Barton, and Miss Marjorie Gardner Wilson were awarded the John Farson prizes for oratory and declamation last evening at the annual contest of the Oak Park and River Forest High school. The contest was held in the First Congregational church before 900 guests. John T. McCutcheon, H. H. Kinsley, and E. A. Potter were the judges.

FUGITIVE SLAYER YIELDS TO POSSE

Fred Mink, the Double Murderer, Cravenly Surrenders and Begs for Life.

GIVES UP TO SHERIFF.

Career of Would-Be "Bad Man" Is Cut Short—Taken to Pittsfield Jail.

Pittsfield, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Fred Mink, the murderer of Newton Harris and Sarah Mink, surrendered to the sheriff tonight. He was brought to Pittsfield guarded by a company of the Fifth infanty, Illinois national guard, and fifty deputy sheriffs.

Mink surrendered when he realized that death was the only alternative. He had been pursued all day by a sheriff's posse and by crowds of farmers, the latter determined to lynch him.

Mink was captured at 8 o'clock tonight on a farm owned by his uncle, Jerry Mink, three miles from the scene of the tragedy. A little niece of the murderer had occasion to go to a cowshed and there she discovered Mink in hiding. He asked her to get him food and drink, and the girl hurried to the house and notified her father, who immediately notified the authorities.

When the posse, mounted on horses, rode into the lane leading to the barn, Mink saw them and ran to a piece of timber to hide. The posse, firing as they ran, did not give Mink time to fortify himself, and he threw up his hands. He repeatedly begged that he be not shot.

After he had murdered his stepmother, Sarah Mink, last evening, he hid in a deserted house near the scene of his crime. Here he was surrounded, but soon after midnight he managed to escape.

Pursued to New Hiding Place.

The pursuit was at once taken up by the farmers, but the fugitive succeeded in holding them off until he reached the timber. Here he was safe for a time.

Bloodhounds were secured and hundreds of men joined in the search. The sheriff swore in fifty deputies, in order to guard his prisoner if he captured him. This afternoon the members of company A, Fifth infantry, joined in the search.

Circuit Judge Higbee and other prominent citizens united in a telegram to Adjt. Gen. Smith at Springfield, asking that a thousand rounds of ammunition be sent here and permission be granted to use the arms of the militia company at this place to protect the life of Mink in the event of his arrest.

Mink apparently is a wild west hero of the dime novel type. He is only 21 years old. Eighteen months ago he left his home here and went to the state of Washington, declaring he would return a man and then would settle accounts.

Saturday evening he was seen at Maysville, seven miles from here, with a rifle and two revolvers. He engaged a boy to drive him to the home of Newton Harris, a middle aged farmer with whom he had had some trouble because of his attentions to Harris' daughter. During the drive he told the boy that he was out to do some killing.

Shoots Victim in the Back.

Mink slept in a schoolhouse near by and early Sunday morning, while Harris and his daughter were in the yard, Mink approached from behind and shot Harris in the back several times, killing him. He told the daughter to stand back or he would shoot her.

The alarm was given, and neighbors and a posse here were soon in pursuit, but they did not find him, though he was hiding nearby, and later went to the residence of his father and, opening the door, shot his stepmother, Sarah Mink, through the head, killing her instantly. He then entered and forced those present to converse and shake hands with him.

The deputy sheriff was among them, and he told them that he wanted to kill three more and then he was ready to die. These three were relatives of the stepmother. He was allowed to depart unmolested, no one daring to offer a protest.

CITY'S OLDEST POLICEMEN TO GO ON RETIRED LIST.

Thirty-six Must Give Up Active Work as Part of Plan to Save $160,000—Nearly All Protest.

After having served the city faithfully for many years thirty-six of Chicago's oldest policemen were called to Chief O'Neill's office yesterday and told they must be placed on the retired list. The move is the result of the necessity of saving $160,000 in the department. In all 320 men must be removed.

One of the men who has been marked for retirement is Alexander S. Beaubien, who was born under the walls of Fort Dearborn eighty-one years ago, and who is the first white male child born in Chicago. He was first appointed to the police force in 1863 and has seen thirty-two years of service. Another is Lieut. Frank Penzen of the Cragin station, who also has served thirty years.

Chauncey W. Bartlett, 61 years old, who has handled the crowds at the Washington street bridge for nearly fifteen years, and who has served continuously since 1881, is one of the few men who is willing to retire.

CAPT. JAMES R. SINCLAIR DEAD.

Chicago Manager for Tug Combine Succumbs to Heart Disease, Brought On by Strike Last Year.

Capt. James R. Sinclair, manager of the local office of the Great Lakes Towing company, died at his home in Austin at 9:40 o'clock last evening. His wife, who had been attending the golden wedding of a relative at Port Austin, Mich., arrived fifteen minutes after her husband died. The cause of death was heart failure, brought on by severe overwork during the strike of tugmen last summer. All of Capt. Sinclair's business life had been spent with the Dunham company. He began as a fireman on one of Capt. Dunham's tugs, became a captain, then superintendent of the line. When the Dunham company was absorbed by the tug trust he was put in charge. He was 49 years old, and left a widow and four children.

OBJECTS TO PEEKABOO DRESSES

Waukesha Pastor Condemns Open Work Dresses Now Generally Worn by Young Women.

Waukesha, Wis., June 15.—[Special.]—Father W. G. Miller of St. Joseph church has caused a sensation here by preaching against open lace apparel, low neck dresses, and lace shirt waists. At all masses on Sunday he denounced this style of apparel, terming it "peekaboo" dress, and charging his flock not to indulge in it. He spoke scathingly of the present modes of feminine dress, and especially censured the young women who wore light waists with an abundance of open work.

COL. CLOWRY NOT TO RESIGN.

Rumor Concerning President of Western Union Telegraph Company Officially Denied.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—A rumor having been in circulation several days that Col. Clowry, president of the Western Union, would resign, the following announcement was authorized today: "There is absolutely no truth in the report. You can state on authority that it is without any foundation whatever."

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Theatrical Quiet.

IT is a week of almost complete stagnation in the local theatrical world so far as anything novel is concerned. The Masonic temple and the Chicago opera house are the only downtown houses offering any change of bill, and the items on their lists are not startlingly new. Emmet Corrigan in "The Man with the Green Eyes" is the headliner at the Chicago, and the piece, which is less familiar to the patrons than was the playlet he used when there earlier in the season, is winning favor. Three European attractions which also figure prominently on the bill prove interesting. At the Masonic temple Mary Norman is the star, but the New York, the Boston, the San Francisco, and the Chicago girl, while skillfully impersonated by her, are such old-time acquaintances that they cannot with truth be said to pique curiosity or awaken the interest they did when she first gave them, some four years ago. Mecart's clever dogs and monkeys, Press Eldridge, and Blanchard and Warren are the best numbers on the list this week.

At the Bush Temple of Music last evening the summer season began with an "extraordinary musical event," consisting of an entertainment given by the Bush Temple Church Choir Minstrels—a company of nineteen lads selected from the best choirs on the north side. The youngsters appear in black face, and while the minstrel show they offer is not especially brilliant from a fun creating viewpoint, vocally it is unusually attractive. The voices are all sweet and well trained, they blend well, and when Mr. Bunge and his orchestra shall have got into harmony with each other and into sympathy with the singers, the first part of the program, which consists of ten vocal numbers—solos and ensemble—will be enjoyable. The hits of the performance were made last night by Loyal Bigelow, who has a voice of exceptional sweetness, and by the "end men," Julian Linsay and Arthur Kraft, who not only sang well but displayed neat abilities as embryonic comedians.

The second part of the program consists of a dramatic sketch, "Reform," by Marjorie Benton Cooke, a pretty little one-acter, pleasingly played by the authoress and Florence Kerby; some excellent ensemble singing by the Hess Burr ladies' singing class, ten young women, who have well trained voices and who use them to good purpose; a monologue by Elizabeth Ward; some ragged playing by an organization that was billed as the Oak Park Banjo and Mandolin club, but which, instead of being feminine in composition, as was announced, was unmistakably masculine; and a one act comedy, "The Confessional," played with fair amount of spirit by Joseph Sullivan and Grace Reals. If the management will do away with the too abundant encores, and cause the entertainment to move more briskly, the bill should afford the eager amusement seeker a couple of hours of pleasant enjoyment.

RANCHMEN TO PLEAD TODAY.

Preliminary Hearing of Chauncey Dewey and Two Others Accused of Killing Berry Family Is Set.

Topeka, Kas., June 15.—The preliminary hearing of Chauncey Dewey, Clyde Wilson, and W. J. McBride, accused of killing the Berry family, will begin tomorrow in St. Francis.

Military protection will be withdrawn from Dewey and his two employés as soon as their preliminary hearing is concluded. If the prisoners are bound over without bail Gov. Bailey has ordered the sheriff of Cheyenne county to remove them to some other county for safe keeping.

If they are admitted to bail the Deweys will hardly care to remain in the county, as the settlers would doubtless avenge the death of the Berrys at the first opportunity. Chauncey Dewey, however, says he has not thought of selling his ranch.

WARRANT FOR J. C. BLANEY SWORN OUT BY A. C. MORGAN.

Boiler Inspector Is Accused of Attacking a Woman Neighbor—His Appointment Is Put Off.

A warrant for the arrest of James C. Blaney, city boiler inspector, was issued yesterday by Justice Underwood on complaint of Alonzo C. Morgan. Blaney is charged with having attacked Mrs. Morgan, who is Blaney's next door neighbor in West Forty-second street.

"Before I swore to the complaint I went to Mayor Harrison's office," Morgan said, "and laid the facts before him. He told me to go ahead and assured me that Blaney would not be reappointed to the position he now holds. I have been a neighbor of Blaney for ten years and had thought him my friend. Behind my back, however, he has insulted my wife repeatedly and I can endure it no longer."

"The insults have been received when Blaney was intoxicated, and that, perhaps, tells the whole story," said Mrs. Morgan.

The warrant was not served last night, but Blaney said he would give bonds in the case today. Said he:

"I know absolutely no reason why any charge should be made against me by my next door neighbor. I have been on friendly terms with Mr. Morgan and his wife, and it is a great surprise to me to hear that they have obtained a warrant for my arrest."

"I had intended," Mayor Harrison said last night, "to appoint Blaney boiler inspector, but something came up which I will have to investigate. It may be one of those 'knocks' that take place every once in a while, and, if disproved, I shall put his name back on the list."

Not Drugs, Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic and apparently incurable constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days. "From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxatives continuously, going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were partially paralyzed and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested immediately from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is a reason.

PLAYS BASEBALL ON HIS DEATHBED

Friends Humor Boy in His Delirium and Make His Last Moments Happy.

NEW NAME IN SCANDALS.

Ex-Congressman Driggs Declares His Relations with the Government Were Proper.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. } New York, June 15. }

Overstudy and injury received by a kick in a football game a year ago are given as the causes of the death by spinal meningitis of George Gallagher, 23 years old, at his home in West New York, N.J., early this morning. Gallagher was to have been graduated as a mechanical engineer with the class of 1903 at Cooper Institute. He was a member of the Taritas Athletic club of Guttenberg.

Plays Ball with an Orange as He Dies.

He became delirious on the subject of baseball shortly before his death. To humor him his friends placed an orange in his hand and told him it was a baseball. The orange was passed back and forth between Gallagher and his friends. "Throw it home" he would shout in his delirium, and he would deftly catch the orange as it was thrown to him. The game was kept up until a few minutes before he died.

Herbert W. Bowen, United States minister to Venezuela, arrived tonight on the steamer Marcaibo. Mr. Bowen is on leave of absence for two months, after which he will go to The Hague.

Ex-Congressman Edmund H. Driggs, a leading democrat of Brooklyn and candidate against Borough President Swanstrom last year, has been brought into the investigation of the sale of stamp selling and change making machines to postoffices. Driggs does not deny that while in congress he received $12,000 as vice president of the Brand Automatic Cash Register company, which sells the machines. It is alleged that while Driggs was in congress his company sold to the government 250 machines for $175 apiece, or $25 above the market price. Inspectors Oldfield and Little had a talk with Driggs recently, and it is said he denied having used his influence with the postoffice department in the interest of the company. Driggs said today:

New Name Dragged Into Postal Scandals.

"I have done nothing improper or wrong. My dealings with the postoffice department and the cash register company were square and above board."

"We expect to prove that these gentlemen who manipulated and forced through this scheme were to receive large pecuniary benefits from its completion, and the circumstances under which they were to receive these benefits are such as to make their action a constructive fraud on the minority stockholders."

Fraud Alleged in Street Railway Deal.

Before Judge Scott in the Supreme court at its sitting for the trial of the action of Isaac Wormser, Jr., of the banking firm of I. & E. Wormser, to have the Metropolitan Street railway company and the Interborough Rapid Transit railway company perpetually enjoined from carrying out the terms of the lease of the former to the latter, Albert L. Stickney, chief counsel for the plaintiff, made the following declaration.

"In line with this, the acts of the underwriting syndicate of which Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are the head will be inquired into. This syndicate, to which $6,000,000 of the $30,000,000 capital stock of the securities company was allotted, will be asked whether any officials of the Metropolitan Street railway is interested in the syndicate and, if so, how much benefit he derived therefrom.

Great difficulty is being experienced by those who are attempting to lift the White Mountain Paper company out of a financial mire into which it was plunged after the failure of the underwriting syndicate to fulfill its promises. A plan of reorganization has been prepared, but it has been impossible for one not in the confidence of the promoters to learn how many million dollars has been sunk by investors in the securities of the White Mountain Paper company. Much bad feeling has been caused and there are even threats of prosecution in criminal charges of those who are said to have made false representations. The company is a $25,000,000 corporation. It is said a start was made on a little of everything at the company's plant, but little was completed.

Millions Probably Lost in Paper Company.

President Nixon of the United States Shipbuilding company issued a statement today in which he said the present reorganization and receivership proceedings of the company will not interfere with the progress of the construction of United States vessels now building at the Crescent yards. A new plan for the reorganization of the affairs of the United States Shipbuilding company was suggested today by Samuel Untermeyer, who is counsel for the complainants in the suit recently instituted for the appointment of a receiver.

Warships Will Not Be Delayed by Row in Trust.

The plan suggests the scaling down to 65 per cent of Charles M. Schwab's $10,000,000 second mortgage bonds and the company's bondholders' $16,000,000 first mortgage bonds, and the purchase by every bondholder of both classes of an additional 10 per cent of his holdings in the new consolidated mortgage bonds. Furthermore, it is suggested that the bondholders "might take preferred stock for the balance of their present bonds and a more liberal allowance of common stock than is at present proposed to give them, to be made to the existing preferred and common stockholders."

A. J. Cassatt, Edward S. B. Young, John D. Crimmins, J. R. Shanley, Dr. Leslie Ward, Misha B. Gaddis, Archer W. Pratt, Charles M. Shipman, and James Smith, officers and directors of the North Jersey Street railway company, appeared before the Supreme court at Trenton, N. J., today and entered pleas of not guilty to the indictment of manslaughter found against them in Essex county in connection with the Clifton avenue, Newark, trolley accident, which resulted in the death of several school children.

Trolley Officials Plead Not Guilty in Fatal Accident.

The pleas were entered in the branch court before Justices Garrison, Garretson, and Swayze. The case was then remitted to the Essex County Circuit court for trial.

This means that the indicted men will be tried before Chief Justice Gummere, who sits in the Essex county circuit. The men came here this morning, accompanied by counsel, in preference to coming tomorrow, which is the opening day of the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' association tonight gave out the following resolution in regard to the acceptance of its plan of arbitration by the labor unions: "When any union has caused to be submitted to this body a properly signed and sealed document accepting the plan of arbitration submitted, then the board of governors shall at once arrange to start work in that trade, and, after the arbitration plan has been accepted by 75 per cent of the unions in the building trades, the board of governors will consider and pass on any changes that may be recommended by unions representing three or more trades."

NEW PICTURE OF KING PETER OF SERVIA.

PETER I of SERVIA.

This picture is from a photograph now in the possession of M. Nicholas de Struve, the Russian imperial consul at Montreal. It was presented to M. de Struve by the new king while he was at Cettinje, the capital of Montenegro. M. de Struve was attending a dinner party at the palace of the ruler of Montenegro, and he asked the prince if he had not a photograph of himself that he could give him. He replied that he would be delighted, and the following day the Princess Helène, now queen of Italy, took the picture, the negative being sent to the court photographer for retouching and printing.

SLAIN BY POLICY PLAYER.

GODDARD SOCIETY AGENT MURDERED IN COURT BUILDING.

Negro William Spencer Shoots Down William S. McFarlane and Wounds His Assistant, Philip Bray — Murderer Indicted Within an Hour—Attack Made at Door of Court of General Sessions—Dead Man Had Caused Arrest of His Assailant.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—William S. McFarlane, superintendent of the Goddard anti-policy society, was shot to death by a policy player named William Spencer, whose arrest he had secured several weeks ago, and Philip Bray, assistant superintendent of the Goddard society, was shot in the arm at the doors of the Court of General Sessions, in the Criminal Courts building today.

Spencer, who was speedily overpowered, was taken to police headquarters at once. The grand jury was informed of the case within an hour of the shooting, and the negro indicted for murder in the first degree. The prisoner is likely to be brought to trial a week from today.

Was Lying in Wait for Victim.

Spencer, the negro, evidently was lying in wait for McFarlane, as he was standing at the foot of the stairs to the left of the elevator as McFarlane was passing. Three or four negroes were with him or near him. The negro allowed the men almost to walk past him, and then, shouting evidently at McFarlane: "You!" fired. McFarlane, who had turned his head completely around as if to confront his assailant, received the first bullet in the right temple. He staggered toward the balcony, and the negro, still standing his ground, fired two more shots at him. Both bullets struck him in the chest, one piercing his heart. By the time the third shot had been fired McFarlane was prostrate on the floor.

Bray Unable to Act.

So quickly were the shots fired that Bray, who was within three feet of McFarlane and slightly ahead of him, had no time either to get out of the way or to grapple with the murderer before Spencer turned his revolver upon him and fired. The bullet struck his right arm at the elbow, and Bray lurched over toward the balcony and sank upon the floor.

A large and excited crowd immediately gathered, but before Spencer had time to fire another shot the weapon was knocked out of his hand by Policeman Tunney, and Detective Kellehan had his arms pinioned. Spencer struggled for two minutes before he was subdued.

Crowd Yells for a Lynching.

The police undertook to walk him down to the police station in the basement, and then the growing crowd set up the cry of "Lynch him! Lynch him!" but did nothing.

Spencer declared McFarlane had been hounding him, and said, "I'm no chicken hearted nigger."

KEPT FROM PARTY: GIRL DIES.

Pleads in Vain with Mother for Permission to Join Friends, Then Swallows Carbolic Acid.

Disappointment because her mother refused to allow her to attend a party given by a girl friend last evening is said to have caused Mary Moulik, 15 years old, 752 Loomis street, to commit suicide by swallowing carbolic acid. Twice the girl asked to go to the party, and when she found her mother obdurate she went to her room, where she took the poison.

With a curse on his lips for a woman whose identity is a mystery to the police, a man, believed to be Daniel Riley, killed himself at Sixty-ninth and Halsted streets last night by taking carbolic acid. In one of his pockets the following letter was found:

Alice: It is more than a year since I wrote you, but this will be the last, and whatever happens don't blame me. Old Jane drove me to it. My curses on her. DAN RILEY.

Because he was without employment, Mathew Wash believed his wife and two children would fare better without him and yesterday he locked himself in his bedroom at his residence, 77 West Erie street, and cut his throat. He died soon after. Wash was a carpenter and 45 years old.

After attempting to take her life three weeks ago, Mary Brown, 18 years old, was rescued from the lake again last night near the spot where she had leaped into the waters before. She will have a double charge to answer in the Chicago avenue police court today, for the last case against her was continued for three weeks.

SERVIAN ARMY DICTATES CHOICE OF THE NEW KING.

Parliament at Belgrade, in Choosing Successor to the Murdered Alexander, Controlled by the Conspirators, Who Stifle All Sentiment for a Republic—Prince Peter Accepts the Crown and Expects to Start for the Capital Thursday.

popular. It was evident during the ceremony, where Col. Maschin stood conspicuously among the numerous brilliant uniforms and decorations, how proud he is of his work.

When, later in the day, the late Queen Draga's regiment, with the other troops of the garrison, took the oath of allegiance, it was obvious that they were in complete ignorance of what they were doing. They swore allegiance to a constitution which has not yet been formulated. The utter vacancy in their faces showed that they would have as readily taken an oath of allegiance to the czar or the emperor of Austria.

Maj. Nikolics of the Shabats gendarmerie, who shot Alavantics, an alleged relative of the new king of Servia, when Alavantics attempted to start a revolution March 5, 1902, at Shabats, thirty miles west of Belgrade, was himself killed by soldiers at Shabats yesterday.

It is stated that a draft of a scheme was found in King Alexander's handwriting in the palace showing his intention of declaring Queen Draga's brother heir to the throne June 28 and on the same day to proclaim martial law and condemn to death many persons, including the present premier, Avakumovics; the minister of justice, Schiokovics; and Gen. Jankovics, commander of the Nish division.

Lieut. Lazar Jovanovics of the Sixth infantry shot and killed himself yesterday evening because his fellow officers did not permit him to participate in carrying out the plot against the late king and queen.

News Excites New King.

GENEVA, June 15.—Prince Peter Karageorgevitch has accepted the Servian throne, to which he was elected by the parliament at Belgrade at noon today.

According to present arrangements a deputation from the skupshtina will arrive here Thursday morning. After conferring with the deputation King Peter will take a special train for Belgrade. He will not interrupt his journey at Vienna, and will not be received there either officially or semi-officially.

King Peter received calmly but with evident satisfaction the telegraphic notification of his election as king. Subsequently, however, he became more excited, laughed hysterically, marched up and down the room, and finally flung himself into a chair, trembling with excitement. His acceptance of the throne is stated to be subject to four conditions:

First—That the action of the skupshtina is constitutional and entirely free from bribery or force.

Second—That those directly implicated in the assassinations and revolution should be exiled.

Third—That the civil list be increased.

Fourth—That an official delegation come to Geneva to confer with him.

King Peter has sent messages to the emperor of Austria, the czar of Russia, and the king of Italy announcing his acceptance of the Servian throne.

Later in the afternoon King Peter received a telegram from Belgrade announcing that a sharp fight had taken place in the streets between the partisans of the new king and those of Milan, the legitimatized son of the former King Milan, father of the murdered King Alexander. Young Milan had recently been living in Constantinople. His partisans posted a proclamation on the walls of Belgrade, and it was torn down by King Peter's supporters after a free fight.

Exile Hopes to Return.

Janesville, Wis., June 15.—[Special.]—Two words received today by John Gollmer, an exiled Servian editor, have assured him that his friends are working for him at Belgrade and that his sentence of exile will be recalled.

SCOTT ANNOUNCED AS JUDGE.

Canvassing Board Decides Democrat Was Elected in Fourth District by 44 Plurality.

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Guy C. Scott of Aledo was declared formally to be elected judge of the Supreme court by the state canvassing board today. The members of the board consisted of Acting Gov. McKenzie, Secretary of State Rose, and Attorney General Hamlin. The results showed Scott to have received a total of 26,106 votes and Joseph N. Carter of Quincy, the republican candidate, received 26,062 votes, making Scott's plurality 44 votes. It was reported that Carter would contest the election, but no notice of contest was filed with the board today.

LIBERALS FIGHT TARIFF ON FOOD.

Viscount Goschen, in British House of Lords, Attacks Chamberlain Plan.

SEES NO HIGHER WAGES.

Declares Old Age Pension Scheme Cannot Be Carried Out Because of Expense.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 15.—The tariff debate reached the house of lords this afternoon when Viscount Goschen, liberal unionist, attacked Chamberlain's scheme.

Lord Goschen pointed out that the whole question rested upon the taxation of food. He considered that the colonies were asking infinitely more than they themselves were prepared to give, and dwelt on the difficulties which the taxation of food would create and the danger of tying Great Britain's hands by an agreement with the colonies involving such tax. He challenged the statement that higher wages would result therefrom.

Attacks Old Age Pensions.

Referring to the scheme for old age pensions, Viscount Goschen pointed out that the more food received from the colonies the less would be the tariff receipts from foreign countries, consequently the amount of money would be diminishing in quantity, while the liability for pensions would be increasing and could never be stopped. He described the whole scheme as a gamble—a gamble with food of the people. He expressed the hope that the duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council, would tell the house that in this gamble he would take no hand.

Viscount Goschen concluded by stating that the statesmen of Great Britain must endeavor to realize the fair dream of a cemented empire without tampering with the food of the people.

Ministry Will Be Cautious.

Foreign Minister Lansdowne said he did not wish to disagree with the practical point Lord Goschen had raised, namely, to act with extreme caution before committing themselves to a radical departure from free trade principles. The government was going into the investigation with a perfectly open mind. If it collected statistics it would not be with the object of supporting any particular thesis or theory.

Lord Lansdowne's speech revealed a leaning towards retaliation or protection. He made two statements of considerable importance, the first being that Great Britain had been given to understand that if Germany is likely still further to raise her tariffs against Canada in retaliation for the dominion having increased its duties against German goods. The second was that Germany had intimated, not obscurely, that if other British colonies followed Canada's example in giving preference to British imports, then, despite the fact that Great Britain now opens her ports wide to German imports, the kaiser's government probably will withhold the most favored nation treatment from Great Britain herself. That, said Lord Lansdowne, raised a most serious situation and alone justified a thorough examination of the tariff question. He added:

"We, among commercial nations, are like an unarmed man who goes into a room among men, each of whom has a revolver in hand. We ought to buy a large revolver and let everybody see it and realise that it is larger than any other. Our market is the greatest in the world. A threat to close it to any class of goods could not be ignored."

Lord Lansdowne's attitude is politically described as being the same as Premier Balfour's.

Chamberlain Answers Question.

Replying to a question in the house of commons this afternoon in regard to the tariff differences between Canada and Germany Colonial Secretary Chamberlain said Canada had only differentiated against Prussia after she had been for five years excluded from the benefits of the most favored nation clause, because of the preference given by Canada to the mother country.

"The situation thus created," said Chamberlain, "is one of the subjects to which I have recently called attention, and in reference to which I have invited discussion."

Mr. Chamberlain went on to explain what differentiation was. He accompanied this statement by saying that certain preference should be given to any British possession, or in fact to any other country, which gave reciprocal treatment to Great Britain.

EVANS RECEIVED BY DOWAGER.

American Rear Admiral and His Staff Guests of Royalty—Conger Makes a New Protest.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PEKIN, June 15.—The dowager empress today received Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, and his staff. All the far eastern newspapers infer that the assembling of an American squadron at Che Foo is for the purpose of impressing Russia.

The action of the throne in issuing an edict transferring the headquarters in the negotiation of commercial treaties from Shanghai to Pekin has brought forth a strong note of disapproval from Mr. Conger, the American minister, and a refusal by him to recognize the change. M. Uchida, the Japanese minister, is awaiting instructions from Tokio as to what action he shall take.

Is Not Menace to Russia.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—It is stated at the navy department that Rear Admiral Evans' movements have no connection with the Manchurian negotiations or the attitude of Russia.

American Treaty Nearly Settled.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SHANGHAI, June 15.—The terms of the American commercial treaty have been settled, except the clause providing for the opening of two Manchurian ports. The treaty abolishes all interior trade barriers in the shape of internal taxation on goods in transit in China or Manchuria, except the duties collected by the native custom houses at the treaty ports under foreign customs management and allows surtaxes of 1½ per cent in import duty and ½ per cent in export duty.

ASK CERTIFICATES AS JUDGES.

Men Elected in Cook County Make First Move in Attempt to Test the New Law.

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—Arguments were heard in the Supreme court today on the application of Thomas M. Hoyne, Joseph O'Donnell, and George Mills Rogers, the successful democratic candidates for provisional Circuit judges of Cook county, for a writ of mandamus, compelling Peter Olsen, the county clerk of Cook county, to issue certificates of election to them. The court took the matter under advisement.

Counsel for Olsen maintained that the act of 1901, attempting to create three additional judges of the Circuit court and three additional judges of the Superior court of Cook county, to be elected in November, 1902, and whose term shall expire in June, 1903, and November, 1904, is in violation of the express provisions of the constitution and void.

Counsel for relators held it is constitutional as far as it relates to the Circuit judges.

Change in Big Shipping Agreement.

SUES TO DEFEND DEGREE.

HARRIMAN UNIVERSITY DIPLOMA SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY.

The Rev. Charles Garnett Brings Action Against Publication for Saying His Parchment Is "a Fake"—Takes Stand and Tells How He Passed His Examinations Far from Seat of College—Prominent Americans Testify.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 15.—The Rev. Charles Garnett, pastor of the Arundel Square Congregational church, brought an action today before Justice Kennedy and a jury in the king's bench division of the high court of justice against the Christian World, because that paper had stated that the degree of doctor of divinity conferred on him by the Harriman university in Tennessee was worthless, and also that the university was in the nature of a "fake and sham."

Mr. Robson, K. C., solicitor for the Rev. Dr. Garnett, said his client was one of the editors of an American religious paper called "The Guide to Holiness," and was a regular contributor to the Christian Standard. The article complained of, he said, appeared on May 29, 1902, and the sting it contained was the statement that the university "was a fake institution, and its degrees bogus, contemptible, and worthless."

Consul General Evans' Testimony.

Henry Clay Evans, the American consul at London, took the stand and said the governors of Harriman university were all reputable men who would not allow their names to be connected with anything in the shape of a "fake." On cross examination Mr. Evans said he did not know that all the lectures at the university were crowded into one week of the year, or that one of the lecture rooms was let as a drill hall and another was occupied by an oil agent and his wife. Mr. Evans stated that Gen. Russell A. Alger, former secretary of war of the United States, was an LL. D. of Harriman university. Newton Crane, an American lawyer, took the stand and testified as to the regularity of the charter of Harriman university.

Examinations Were Oral.

The Rev. Dr. Garnett then gave his evidence. He said his actual examination did not take place at Harriman university, but at Ocean Grove, N. J., where he was attending a religious conference at the time. He was met there by the chancellor of the university, who examined him orally. That was his bachelor of arts examination. His master of arts examination took place under similar conditions at Philadelphia some weeks later, when Dr. Westwood, who was described as one of the "sentinels" of the university, examined him. Then, having become a master of arts in this way, he was made a bachelor of divinity during the same visit. He returned to England, and in the course of time became a doctor of divinity.

Defense Ridicules University.

For the defense Mr. Dickens, K. C., suggested that the Harriman university resembled the city of Eden in "Martin Chuzzlewit," and caused much laughter by quoting passages regarding this city from his father's book. Mr. Dickens said his clients made no reflections on the Rev. Dr. Garnett personally, as in their view he was a victim of a bogus establishment. Prof. Davis of Yale university testified as to the deserted and dilapidated appearance of Harriman university and the case was adjourned.

NO HOPE FOR CANAL TREATY.

People of Colombia Opposed to Panama Waterway Under Present Contract with United States.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, June 15.—The Panama canal treaty will not be ratified by the Colombian congress called to meet June 20. This is the consensus of the best informed opinion in the republic. Congress would not dare to defy the wishes of a majority of the people. If the matter should be left to a public vote, a test would show an overwhelming majority antagonistic to the proposition. Public opinion is against the canal. Even those who heretofore have appeared most enthusiastic for the treaty now realise their cause is lost.

DISPUTE ON KAISER'S PRAISE.

Berlin Paper Denies Emperor Lauded Americans at Ship Club, but Admits Statement Possible.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, June 15.—With reference to the statement sent from here by a correspondent that Emperor William some time ago, in talking to the officers of the club of one of the principal Silesian regiments, said, "It is only Americans who come up to my requirements," the North German Gazette says it is authorized to state that the emperor has not been inside the Ship club for nearly two years. This would not prevent his majesty from recognizing in the fullest measure the qualities of the Americans which secured for them so important a position in the world of commerce.

Belgian Steamer Lost; Eight Drowned.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 15.—The Belgian steamship Rubens sank off Christiansand on June 10. The captain, mate, and six sailors were drowned. Seven survivors drifted twenty-three hours in an open boat, and three of them died from exposure. The other four were picked up by a Norwegian steamer.

BUYS RIVALS; NOT A TRUST

MISSOURI SUPREME COURT SAVES CORPORATION FROM OUSTER.

Effort of Attorney General Crow to Drive the Continental Tobacco Company Out of the State for Alleged Violation of Anti-Trust Laws Prevented by Highest Legal Tribunal, Which Declares Promoters May Buy Plants While Money Lasts.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 15.—[Special.]—The Supreme court, without a dissenting vote, today decided against Attorney General Crow in his suit for a decree in ouster against the Continental Tobacco company, because of its alleged violation of Missouri's anti-trust laws.

The court holds that a corporation in the legitimate pursuit of its business can buy up all the similar corporations it has the money to pay for. The anti-trust law does not prohibit the purchase of one corporation by another.

No Evidence of a Trust.

The court says that the evidence fails to show a combination or trust. The authority to erect, maintain, and operate tobacco plants, all of which is granted the Continental company by its charter, gives that company the power to purchase the assets of other companies in a smaller business.

Railroads Win a Case.

The court also decided in favor of thirteen railroads against whom Attorney General Crow had instituted suits of ouster for violation of laws relating to reconsignment charges. The court held that the case was prosecuted solely for the vindication of private rights and that quo warranto is not a remedy. The court says the statute provides ample relief for remedy at the hands of the railroad and warehouse commissioners.

ALABAMA CONVICT CAMPS VIOLATION OF FEDERAL LAW.

Judge Jones, in Charging Grand Jury at Montgomery, Declares Imprisonment for Debt Is Unconstitutional.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—Judge Jones of the federal court in a special charge to the grand jury declared that the Alabama "criminal contract law," which permits any person to confess judgment for costs against persons convicted of misdemeanors and requiring such person so convicted to work out the fine, is violative of the constitution of the United States in that it was a civil contract, and no one could be imprisoned for debt or forced to serve a master to pay such debts.

If Judge Jones' ruling holds, all connected with the conviction and hire of such convicts, except committing magistrates, are liable to indictment under the federal statutes.

The ruling, if sustained, will break up the convict camps of Alabama.

BARS LIQUOR AND DANCING AT CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS.

Bishop of Louisville, Ky., Roman Catholic Diocese Tells Congregations There Is Evil in Both.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—[Special.]—Bishop McCloskey of the Catholic diocese of Louisville has placed a ban on liquor or dancing at church picnics. His ruling was made public today, and it caused the calling off of the big Catholic knights picnic for next Saturday. The bishop said: "In view of the shockingly indecent style of the modern dance, we hereby forbid dancing of any kind at any of the fairs, picnics, or entertainments for which permission has been or may be asked during the summer or autumn months, and, following the instructions of the third plenary council of Baltimore, we feel bound in conscience to forbid the use at any of the above named fairs, outings, picnics, etc., of intoxicating liquors." The decision also prohibits the Catholics of the diocese attending similar gatherings where liquor is sold or dancing is permitted.

The Oregon Disaster.

Quickly following the cyclones in Missouri and Iowa, the floods at Kansas City, Topeka, and other points, the cyclone at Gainesville, and the flood at Spartanburg, involving an aggregate loss of 416 lives, comes the news of a cloudburst and consequent flood at the little town of Heppner, Ore., by which it is thought between 400 and 500 lives have been lost. The fact that 105 bodies had been recovered at an early hour yesterday morning indicates the loss of life has been large. Fatalities of this kind have been so common during the last four weeks that they almost have ceased to attract more than passing attention. The world is becoming familiar with horrors, so fast do they tread upon each other's heels. It is only when the suffering becomes so great as to call for outside help that the sympathy of the public is aroused. It is then extended in such a generous and material manner as to show that charity is still a living virtue, and that "fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

JUDICIAL FOOLISHNESS.

"He who is not sometimes a fool is always a fool." It may also be said that when a wise man deviates into foolishness his excursion carries him over bogs, and quicksands, and precipices of foolishness from which the ordinary, everyday, common, or garden fool would recoil in terror.

Consider the recent action of the New York court of Special Sessions. A Brooklyn magistrate had handed down a decision against the Long Island railroad. The offense of which the railroad stood condemned was a vile and nasty one. Its locomotives had been allowed to acquire the vice of incessant and voluminous smoking. What did the Court of Special Sessions do? Sustain the Brooklyn magistrate in his attempt to keep the welkin clean and to prevent the impairment of human health? Not at all. It reversed the Brooklyn magistrate and held that it would be necessary for the prosecution to prove that the smoke had, in a certain specific way, injured certain specific persons who had taken it into their lungs.

One of the New York papers has professed itself astonished by this incident. Its astonishment should be tempered with good humor. The wisest men, even judges, must be allowed their moments of aberration, and the fact that during these moments they wander farther afield than other men only proves their unusual capabilities. The same mental motive forces that drove them to the highest success when they were headed in the right direction continue to operate when they have got headed in the wrong direction. Their occasional achievements in foolishness are as magnificent as their usual, normal achievements in wisdom. The average man can never make the sublime fool of himself that the man of genius can. His puny attempts at foolishness are foiled by his mental inadequacy. But take a man of genius, say Robert Browning, and let him once get started on an attempt at foolishness and what a spectacular tour de force we have! One needs brains to be able to do anything, even bad things, well.

James L. Ford, in an essay on magazine poetry, once spoke about "good bad stuff." The stuff was bad as art but it was good as business because it could be sold, and one needed brains to get it to the exact requisite degree of badness. The smoke decision of the New York court might be regarded as judicial "good bad stuff." It is bad, but it is so bad that it is good. Only a great man could have done it.

NEGRO'S POWER OF LOGIC.

Prof. Otis Ashmore, the Savannah (Ga.) superintendent of schools, who has been for many years a teacher of white and black children, said in a conversation with THE TRIBUNE correspondent that the marked difference which he noticed between the two races is that white children at the age of 14 begin to develop their reasoning faculties rapidly, while, on the contrary, the negro children remain "undoubtedly deficient" in the faculty of logic. Mr. Ashmore adds that possibly, in compensation, the negro children often show as much or more power of memorizing.

Perhaps Mr. Ashmore has, in this interview, gone deeper into the race problem than any other man who has spoken upon it. The white man who holds the negro to have an inferior intellect is at once confronted with facts which seem at first scrutiny to shake the theory of inferiority. At the leading universities negro students have acquitted themselves well in competition with white students. The contention that negroes cannot think as well as whites does not seem to harmonize with that fact.

But consistency between the theory and the fact is possible on Prof. Ashmore's hypothesis. Possibly the negroes who do well at college elect studies which may be memorized and excel in them. As history, for instance, is taught at college memory is the chief requisite for good marks. The same is true of some of the ancient language studies. The same is true, and must be true to a greater or less degree, of all lecture course studies.

It is quite conceivable that a diligent negro youth might at college make an excellent record because of his retentive memory and that later on in his life he should find himself unable to deal with problems requiring of him initiative and the power of reasoning from cause to effect. Memory permits the storing away in one's mind of other men's thoughts; reason is the creation of thoughts for one's self. Situations are always recurring in the life of an active man when other men's thoughts cannot fit his case and when he needs to make up for himself some fresh thoughts appropriate to the occasion. If he cannot meet his crises by thinking out their meanings he must fall behind his rivals who can do so.

We do not mean to assert that Mr. Ashmore is right in his characterization of the negro's intellect. We should like more evidence in the case first. But his ideas are provocative of interesting speculation.

IF RUSSIA SHOULD REMONSTRATE.

If the Russian government should address to that of the United States a courteous remonstrance on account of the ill-treatment of the colored people in the south, what would happen?

First, there would be a sputter of indignation on the part of the jingoes. Many furious patriots would insist on declaring war against the country whose government had "insulted" the republic. Nobody would clearly know how Russia could be reached so as to be greatly harmed. Its commerce by sea is not extensive and would not afford prizes to American cruisers, and by land the empire is as unassailable as is the United States. Its possessions on the Pacific ocean are more open to attack than those on the Black or Baltic sea, but not even in Manchuria could Russia be attacked to much advantage. The railway system would enable the Russians to send to the coast all the men and supplies that were needed, while the Americans would be far from their base of supplies at Manila.

Commercially the United States would be a loser by war. Russia is one of the countries in which its manufactures are welcomed and in which the demand for them is constantly growing. American agricultural implements, machinery, and railway supplies are in great demand in the empire. The Manchurian railway was constructed by American engineers with American rails, and was equipped with American locomotives and cars. Russian exports to this country are inconsiderable, and if they ceased altogether there would be no distress in the dominions of the czar. So, perhaps, the cry of the jingoes that the wounded honor of the country demanded war would not appeal to the moderate and level headed citizens of the United States, who in the last analysis would have the decision of the question.

What would happen next? The last lot of the negroes in the south would be worse than the first. The southern people would be more than human if they did not feel a certain degree of resentment because of the remonstrance and visit on the helpless blacks the ill-feeling they could not gratify at the expense of the militant Russians. Consciously or unconsciously the white oppressor in the United States would make his heel bear heavier upon the colored man than before. The negro would be discriminated against even in the north. The ill-will which is shown in some quarters would increase. The people who believed formerly that the negro was unfitted for any education, and now think he is incapable of the higher education, would conclude that he is fit for nothing but slavery or serfdom. The belief entertained by many that the negro is fit to work but cannot think, and is not even fit to work unless he has a white taskmaster put over him, would make new converts daily. There would be no haven of rest for the colored brother anywhere in the United States until the irritation caused by the remonstrance of Russia had died out.

Why is it not equally true that a remonstrance from the United States addressed to Russia on the subject of the persecution of the Jews would have a similar effect? The president of the B'nai B'rith said in his address at the annual meeting of the order May 17:

> We must not overlook the order of the czar to his officers to suppress and punish any outbreaks against the Jews. . . . It is neither fair nor wise to execrate the government of Russia because of the murderous brutality of a frenzied mob. . . . The fate of the Jews in Russia will depend finally upon the ruler of the Russian empire. To his sense of justice and to the humane spirit which he has so often manifested the Jews must look for protection when ignorance, prejudice, and lawlessness assail them.

Manifestly this intelligent philanthropist knew whereof he affirmed. He believes the czar to be naturally a humane man, that the Russian government is convinced that its safety lies in maintaining peace and order, and that it is opposed to the persecution of any class of its subjects. Since the massacre at Kisheneff, which nobody can apologize for or defend, the governor of Bessarabia has been dismissed in disgrace. It is authoritatively said that more than 500 Russians are now in jail for failing to enforce or for violating the laws and for not protecting the Jews in the province. Whether the statements are exaggerated or not, it is clearly demonstrated that the central government is in the sternest manner punishing the individuals responsible for the outbreak at Kisheneff, and is showing every disposition to protect the Jewish population.

A remonstrance from the United States addressed to the Russian government on behalf of the Jews would have precisely the contrary effect from that intended. It would increase hostility among the common people of Russia towards the Jews and would make the lot of the four millions or more of them in southern Russia harder than it is at present. It would irritate and provoke "the ruling race" and do no good to anybody.

If the policy of remonstrance which would be so disastrous to the Jews should be insisted upon it would be difficult to avoid the conclusion that it was inspired by political feeling or considerations in the United States—that its promoters took little or no account of the real welfare of the persecuted race, but that under the pretense of sympathy for Jews abroad they were endeavoring to embarrass the president and administration at home and to cultivate a low order of politics in their own country under the pretense of promoting the cause of humanity in the dominions of the czar.

Daniel Cruice, the labor candidate for mayor at the The Frivolate election, has a low opin- lous Labor ion of trades unionists. He Unionists. says: "The trouble with organized labor is that when brought together its members would rather discuss the winner of the Derby and the result of the baseball game than questions of industrial economics." No doubt the situation is as Mr. Cruice describes it. When union men meet they discuss trivial subjects, and do not, with thoughtful brows and earnest voices, discuss economic questions and the best method of circumventing the aristocrats of capital. Nor do the employers behave any differently. When they are gathered together they do not plot to get the better of labor, nor do they argue about cost of production, utility value, or other deep subjects. They, too, talk about the possible winner of the Derby and of the yacht race. An Englishman once used with a variation a text from St. James' Epistle, saying: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the father is this, to visit the fatherless and the widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from"—political economy. People generally have not the clergyman's abhorrence of that dry and sober science, but they take no special interest in it, and when they hear men wrangling about it usually find themselves yawning and steal quietly away. This is a world which prefers light to grave topics for conversational purposes. Employer and employé are tarred with the same brush, and Mr. Cruice is wrong to blame the latter for frivolous discourse. Indeed, if the study of political economy or industrial economics were exacted of members of labor unions the membership would not be so large as it is. The general public is firmly resolved to leave political economy to the professors who have to study it because they make their living by teaching it.

THE SHAMROCKS HERE.

The Shamrocks are here, both I. and III., after a tempestuous voyage, and received an enthusiastic welcome as they sailed into New York bay. That in such stress of weather the racers and their steam consorts should have come into harbor together shows seamanship of the best kind, and is an indication that if Shamrock III. does not lift the cup it will not be because it has not been handled skillfully. It represents the best construction and equipment of which British yacht builders are capable. It will now have ample occasion to "tune up" and "find itself" in forthcoming races over the cup course with Shamrock I., and will be in fit condition for its supreme effort in August next.

In the meantime it is as good as settled that Reliance will defend the cup. There will be yet another series of races between the cup defenders in the sound, but it is not believed by the yachting contingent that they can affect Reliance's record. It has now had five trial races with Columbia and Constitution in the kind of weather which is likely to prevail during the cup races, and has won every race by a margin so decisive as to leave no doubt that it was won upon its merits and not upon chance winds caught by luck or upon more skillful handling. Columbia and Constitution were sailed as well as Reliance. The inference is unavoidable that Reliance is the fastest of the three and has demonstrated its superiority so unmistakably that the remaining trial races seem unnecessary. Now may the best boat win.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE.

Public opinion censures the striking waiters because they refused to arbitrate and because they refused to recognize to employers the same right which they claim for themselves—that of organizing.

Sunday the waiters applied successively to the Steam Power council and the Ice, Coal, and Market Drivers' union for aid in the shape of a sympathetic strike. By each of these bodies they were informed that their position was untenable and tended to give a black eye to union labor. They were further advised to seek to arbitrate.

Labor unions to a large degree depend for their success upon public opinion. Public opinion approves of unions when they are soundly and honorably managed. The stand of the Steam Power council and the Ice, Coal, and Market Drivers' union will commend itself to the community as fair and worthy of credit.

It would be more nearly accurate, perhaps, to say that the soupbone of the waiters' strike appears to be broken.

THE Charleston News and Courier asks us with some asperity how many American dollars have been sent to the starving people in China. If Uncle Sam has been unmindful of his duty in that direction the esteemed News and Courier doubtless will cheerfully start a fund for the benefit of the Chinese sufferers.

IF the Colombians think there is any more than $10,000,000 in the Panama canal for them they are moving swiftly in the direction of a hard jolt.

GOV. YATES' wireless message from the steamship Umbria must be pronounced a distinct improvement over the general run of his messages.

THE fourth of July will fall on Saturday this year, and Saturday is likely to be severely hurt.

ONE good result is that you know a great deal more about Servia now than you ever did before.

WORD from Kansas City is to the effect that the Kaw river, with a dark brown taste in its mouth, has crawled back into its bed.

FACILITIES for traveling along Western avenue from the drainage canal northward, however, are no better than before McKinley park was opened.

THE striking waiters were not prepared for the discovery that the city is full of amateur waiters.

BY acquainting himself with the full particulars of King Alexander's finish King Peter may possibly see his own.

IN A MINOR KEY.

One Conspicuous Benefit.

"Yes, the flood was a calamity, of course, but it did some good in our town," said the native.

"You'll have to show me," commented the stranger, looking at the scene of ruin around him.

"Well, we had one old fellow in this town who was here during the high water of 1844. He's quit talking about it."

By Double Right.

"Everybody seems to be making a fuss over that young woman in white. Which is she—a sweet girl graduate or a June bride?"

"Both."

But Who Has?

"Can you give us the name of some friend who would look after you if he knew of your condition?" they asked him.

The stranger who had been injured in a street car accident and carried into the nearest drug store opened his eyes.

"None that I could trust with the publication of my memoirs if I should die," he replied, feebly, closing his eyes again.

Renewing the Acquaintance.

Later in the day the visitor from the east, who had breakfasted at the fashionable hotel in the residence district, made his way downtown and called at the general offices of the X., Y. and Z. railway to present a letter of introduction to one of the high dignitaries of the road.

"It seems to me I have seen you before," he said to that personage, on being admitted to his private office.

"Yes," responded the dignitary. "You saw me at the hotel this morning. They're a little short of help there, on account of the strike, and I had the pleasure of waiting on you at the table."

Friendship's Tribute.

Maud—"I think it's queer of Mabel to hold spite against you just because somebody told her you said she was 'such a little thing.'"

Irene—"Huh! The smaller some people are the more spite they can hold."

Had Observed It.

Upgardson—"A Panama hat is expensive, of course, but it will last forever. The longer you wear them the tougher they get. This one of mine is in its third year."

Atom—"Yes, I've been noticing it. I think it's the toughest hat I ever saw."

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

OLD world monarchs are not responsible, as a general rule, for those preposterous prosecutions for lese majesty which excite so much ridicule and indignation in this country. These are, in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, the work of some overzealous officials, and are ignored by the sovereign until his attention is called thereto by the public press. Indeed, the only rulers whom I can recall as having personally initiated proceedings of lese majesty are the late King Alexander of Servia and, in one memorable instance, King Leopold of Belgium, who did not, however, venture upon any such action in Belgium, but had recourse to the German courts.

If I call attention to this it is because an 11 year old schoolboy, the son of a poor carpenter, has just appeared before the Vienna tribunals on a charge of lese majesty, his accuser being a schoolmate of about the same age, who claimed that he had spoken disrespectfully of the emperor. Fortunately, the courts acquitted the child and set him free. But by direction of the emperor, who has manifested the keenest indignation about the matter, Premier Koerber, who is likewise the minister of justice, has inaugurated a searching inquiry in order to ascertain who are the officials responsible for having subjected a mere child to the excitement, the alarm, and the disgrace of arrest, magisterial hearings, and, eventually, of a public trial, with all that it entails in the way of publicity, cross-examination, etc.

Francis Joseph insists that the authorities responsible for this shall not merely be reprimanded but likewise severely punished, realizing not merely the cruel injustice of the proceedings, since the stigma of arrest and indictment will follow the boy throughout his life, but likewise the fact that it is just things such as these which serve to impair popularity of the monarchical system both at home and abroad.

It is the same with most of the prosecutions on charges of lese majesty in Germany. The kaiser himself is in no wise responsible for them, and, when they are brought to his notice, usually expresses his disapproval by reprimanding the officials concerned, and by causing pardons to be at once issued to those who have been subjected to penalties of the law in connection therewith.

An agreement has been reached whereby the ex-crown princess of Saxony is to be allowed to retain possession of her baby daughter until the latter is 6 years of age. It is understood that the crown prince, who has all along shown himself most chivalrous and forbearing in the entire matter, has brought about this concession to his former wife, for whom, it is asserted by those in a position to know, he retains nothing but sentiments of profound pity, and even of affection.

It is thoroughly understood, however, that any rapprochement between the ex-crown princess and Giron would, of course, be followed by the immediate removal of the child to Dresden, and it is anticipated that the companionship of the latter will, under the circumstances, prove the most effective safeguard against any further indiscretions on the part of the princess—indiscretions that, as far as the past is concerned, were attributable to an unbalanced condition of mind resulting from her delicate state of health. This is now generally admitted by most of the members of the royal house of Saxony, and the widowed queen, in particular, in a letter written to a friend, has not only given expression to this conviction but likewise to profound sympathy for "the poor woman."

The princess will make her home in the south of France, where a château and estate have been rented for her by her parents in the neighborhood of Avignon. Austrian territory for the present remains closed to her, as she declined to conform to the only condition on which Emperor Francis Joseph would allow her to live in Austria, namely, that she should take up her residence, not in a convent, as asserted in the cable dispatches from Europe, but in one of those institutions founded and maintained for the purpose of providing a home for maiden ladies and childless widows of noble birth and of small means, and who are subjected there to certain rules and regulations that are necessary for the welfare of the little community, but which are in no sense conventual, nor require the adoption of vows of celibacy, while the only ecclesiastical duties consist of attending mass in the morning and vespers in the evening.

There are quite a number of these so-called "damenstift" in Austria and Germany, and most of them have a princess of some reigning house or other at their head. Thus the present queen of Spain was the abbess and lady superior of the "damenstift" of the Hradschin at Prague until the moment of her marriage with the late King Alfonso of Spain.

A life of this kind would have entailed no hardship upon the ex-crown princess. But it was felt by her parents and by herself that she would be happier with her child alone in some château of her own, and accordingly she is to live in the south of France.

In giving a brief sketch the other day of the life of the late ex-Bishop Bauer, the former lord high almoner of Empress Eugenie, I omitted to mention that as a young man at Pesth he had taken part in the insurrection against Austria, and had been forced to leave the country. For two years he was an assistant of the at one time famous Parisian photographer, Grohwohl, in the French capital, and then became a Trappist monk, but was relieved of his monastic vows and transferred to the secular church through the influence of Queen Isabella and Empress Eugenie's mother, the countess of Montijo, whose interest had been excited in his behalf by his brother, Ignatius Bauer, the well known Jewish banker and representative of the Rothschilds at Madrid.

Lady Cecilia Turton's death serves to recall one of the romances of the British peerage. For she was a twin sister of the fifth, sixth, and seventh earls of Milltown, whose large ancestral estates are now in the possession of her son, Edward Henry Turton of Upsall castle, Thirsk, but whose peerages remain in abeyance owing to the inability of the claimant to establish his pretensions thereto. Lady Cecilia Turton's elder brother, the fifth earl of Milltown, who died in 1871, had been a wild young fellow in his youth, and became infatuated with a pretty girl, the daughter of a farmer, whom he would have married openly but for the opposition of his family to the mésalliance. So he and the girl crossed over the border into Scotland, where they lived together as man and wife under the same name.

This in itself, according to Scotch law, was sufficient to constitute a valid marriage. A boy was born of the union. But when the child was about 2 years old the father suddenly received the appointment of A. D. C. to the viceroy of Ireland, which he accepted. When he returned after a fortnight's absence to bring his wife and boy quietly across St. George's channel to Dublin, he found that both had disappeared, and all his efforts to trace them were in vain. It seems that they were abducted by his father's relatives, taken to Australia, and given an allowance on condition that they should make no attempt to correspond with Lord Rusborough, as the fifth earl was then.

After the mother's death the boy drifted over to India, was for a time in the employ of one of the railroads there, and is now in England endeavoring to raise money to prove his father and mother's marriage and his consequent claim to the earldom of Milltown and to the estates.

THE PERFECT WAITER.

[By Sambo J. Johnson, Esq., Head Waiter Ameropolis Hotel, U. S. A.]

I.—DRESS AND APPEARANCE.

Every waiter should possess the following wardrobe: One Tuxedo, one pair black pants, one white vest, one black vest (for use when white vest is being washed), two white ties, two collars, one pair creaky shoes.

A shirt or collar should not be changed until guest requests; then change as favor to him and expect a tip.

Never wear cuffs; they are unnecessary.

In winter underwear should be changed once a quarter; in summer, once a month. The reason is obvious.

A waiter should always keep his hair smooth. This he can do with his hands.

In addition to a wardrobe every waiter should own a corkscrew, a razor, and a short club for use in case a guest refuses to tip.

II.—TAKING THE ORDER.

As soon as a guest takes a seat thrust the bill of fare into his hand; if his hands are occupied thrust it in his shirt front.

When you have fastened the bill of fare to him take a position beside guest's chair and stand first on one leg, then on another. This has a tendency to hurry the order along.

Never serve a glass of water or refill glass until requested to do so. In serving water always encircle the rim of the glass with your hand.

If, when the order is brought, a guest is reading a newspaper take it away from him and throw it on the floor. If the guest should repeat the offense refuse to serve him and report to the head waiter.

THE latest sea serpent story lacks convincingosity. No reference is made to the fact that the monster's head was "as big as a barrel."

AND the most annoying thing about it (to the waiters) is that everybody seems to be glad of it.

OUR ESPERANTO DEPARTMENT.

[Esperanto is a universal language. It is not so new. Ten papers are printed in it. It has not, however, got a start in this country, and as we regard it as a good thing, we propose to push it along. Esperanto is a simple language. Count Tolstoi learned it in two hours. It took us 2:05:16. This argues that Tolstoi is a better linguist than we are; but as nobody held the watch on him we must take his word for the two hours flat. Esperanto not only looks well, but sounds well when played on a piano. Follows the lesson for today:

YATES IN EUROPE.

Liverpool, June 15.—[Special.]—When the Umbria arrived here today a vast crowd assembled at the dock and people fought for a chance to see Gov. Yates of Illinois come down the gangway.

"E's little, but O my!" was heard on every hand.

The governor descended slowly, conscious that he was the target of several thousand glances, and, seeing me in the crowd, he nodded affably and signified that I should approach. This I did with my usual nonchalance, pushing out of the way the struggling Britishers, some of whom fell into the water. Naturally I became the object of innumerable envious looks, and I heard the following conversation:

"'E must be Pierpont Morgan."

"Naw. Morgan's gawn home."

"How are you, Slinger?" said the governor, patting me familiarly on the shoulder. "Going to be busy for a few weeks?"

I replied that I had nothing special on hand, and the governor suggested that I accompany him on his travels. I accepted conditionally.

"What's on hand first?" I inquired.

"Can't say exactly," replied the governor. "The king is anxious to dine with me at the earliest date possible, but I am thinking of first going to Westminster abbey to make a few remarks about my second term. You know, I have an amiable weakness for talking shop in or near a tomb."

While the rest of the governor's party took carriages Yates and I walked up the street, followed by the cheering crowd.

"This is something like, eh?" remarked the governor, with a backward nod toward the enthusiastic throng.

"You must let them have a look at you in your uniform," I suggested.

"Leave that for London," he replied.

The Man with the Transferable Conscience.

A truthful, if not factful, fairy tale.

III.

SINISTER Samuel, the constabulary terror of the justice courts, was preparing to move southward from a Clark street abode of law, justice, and equity.

He was seated in an express wagon at the head of his expedition, surrounded by a bodyguard of men armed with rifles.

Behind the express wagon was a wrecking wagon, with jacks, derricks, grappling irons, rollers, and a stationary engine. The remainder of the expedition consisted of moving vans, other express wagons, a detachment of armed men on foot, a hospital corps, and an ambulance.

Just as the expedition was about to start, James Johns Jones came by. He had been considerably discouraged by his attempt to do reform work in the medical profession.

SAINT SINISTER.

The results indicated that several consciences would be required, and he had but one which he could hand about.

"I shall have to try the effect on a rough, untutored nature," he had said to himself. Sinister Samuel, the constable, presented an opportunity.

A sharp visaged man in shabby black clothes hurried down from the abode of law, justice, and equity and addressed Samuel.

"Get that sewing machine if you have to bring the house and part of the neighborhood with it," he said. "That peanner's got to come if you have to shake all the teeth out of it getting it. There's a sack of flour at 5160 same street. Get it. Don't mind the wimmen."

"Leave it to me, leave it to me," replied Sinister Samuel, with a wave of his hand, as he gave the orders for the expedition to start.

"Ain't he a peach," murmured the sharp visaged man as the procession got under way.

James Johns Jones joined the spectators who followed the army of invasion. It marched southward until it had invaded a peaceful neighborhood, and then came to a stop before a cottage. The armed men surrounded the house and Sinister Samuel directed a detachment of sappers in the work of leveling the fences and cutting down all the shade trees. Then sharpshooters were posted behind the neighboring fences.

The wrecking wagon came into position and a derrick was placed so that its arm swung over the roof of the ill-fated house. The grappling irons were lowered and fastened under the eaves. The ambulance corps got out the stretchers. The moving vans were backed up to the curb.

Sinister Samuel surveyed all these preparations with a pleased smile. No sound was heard from the beleaguered house. The pale face of a frightened woman had been seen at one of the windows, but that was all. Everything being in readiness Sinister Samuel walked up the steps and rang the door bell, holding his watch in his hands.

Two seconds elapsed and there was no response.

"Break in the door," ordered Sinister Samuel.

"This is something like, eh?" remarked the governor, with a backward nod toward the enthusiastic throng.

Three men with a battering ram hit it and it flew in fragments. Samuel stepped over the threshold. The woman, who had been on the point of opening when the three men hit the door, picked herself up in an adjoining room and wiped splinters out of her face nervously with her apron.

"You dead beat," roared Sinister at her. "Pick up the peanner and take it out to the van."

"O, sir," exclaimed the woman. "I am afraid I cannot lift it all by myself. If you will have one of your men help on the other end, I'll try."

"You refuse," yelled Samuel. Then he turned to the doorway. "Get busy," he shouted to his men. The engine gave a couple of snorts, the derrick creaked, there was a jerk, and off came the roof of the house. One division of the army marched to the back yard and killed all the chickens; another broke all the glass in the windows, and the third began to carry off all the furniture.

The grappling irons were let down into the uncovered house and were fastened around the piano, which was hoisted out and into one of the vans.

The woman wrung her hands and pleaded with Samuel.

"Everything is scheduled," she exclaimed.

"Here are the schedules."

"Schedules be blowed," rejoined Samuel.

Half the moving vans were filled by the time the work of levying on the piano had been completed.

"Pay your debts after this," said Sinister to the woman as he gave the orders to advance. "We will now," he added with a chuckle, "leave the scene to the reporters."

James Johns Jones had been strongly tempted to hand the constable the conscience during the work of devestation, but he was restrained by a desire to observe the actual conditions first and to try conscience afterwards.

He feared that even St. Anthony's conscience had a hard piece of work cut out for it on this trip.

"Probably I ought to try it on something easier at first and get it in training for rough work," he said to himself. But he followed the expedition, which advanced on another peaceful neighborhood and brought up at another quiet cottage.

The same preparations were made here as at the first residence. In this case, however, the housewife sent her little boy out over the back fence to summon father from his work.

The head of the family arrived just as Samuel was walking up to the door with his watch in his hands again. As soon as Sinister saw father he called out: "Front." A large man with a protruding chin and a receding forehead stepped from the ranks and the others formed a ring around him and the citizen who was coming to the rescue of his home.

Father lasted half a round and then he went down for the count.

Sinister Samuel again stepped for the door and then James handed him the conscience. It acted slowly. Samuel made a wry face as if he had tasted something bitter, and asked one of his men for a chew of tobacco. He waited until the door was opened, although the men with the battering ram stood waiting orders.

The instant the door opened out came a pot of boiling water, followed by a flatiron and a copper kettle. The housewife stood within with a rolling pin in one hand and a mopstick in the other.

Sinister Samuel sidestepped the missiles and drew his revolver. But he did not shoot. His men stood wondering at such leniency. He contented himself with ordering the woman to be bound and gagged and tied to the gate post.

He superintended the looting of the house in a manner which was observed to be refined and gentlemanly. He reproved a follower for smashing a mirror and only carried off about $500 worth of furniture to satisfy a $10 judgment.

Once a fit of temper seemed to be coming on him, but its only manifestation was when he kicked the cat. Father was just coming to when the procession started to leave the neighborhood with mother still tied to the gate post.

As the expedition proceeded to the third residence Samuel complained of feeling ill and said he would lie down in the bottom of the express wagon.

"I knew he was sick when he did not shoot back there," said one of his men.

By the time the procession had brought up at the third home Sinister Samuel was in convulsions. He was tossing about in the bottom of the wagon. James became alarmed and withdrew the conscience. Sinister regained consciousness and sat up looking sadly and feebly around at his followers.

SINISTER SAMUEL.

"I'm all in," he said. "I'm going to kick the bucket."

"What's the trouble, Samuel?" asked one of his lieutenants anxiously.

"I don't know," he replied still more feebly. "It hit me all of a sudden—something like a stomach ache or a sunstroke, only worse. When I'm dead put a tombstone over my grave with this inscription: 'He was kind to his feller man and it killed him.'"

The conscience was pulsating feebly when James got it back. It seemed worn out by a hard struggle. It was dented and frayed around the edges.

"Another stunt like that," said James, "and this piece of bric-à-brac will be cast to the bad."

PROF. BLACK MUST SMILE.

TRUSTEES DISPOSE OF NORMAL SCHOOL CHARGES.

Official Ax Falls on Accusers of Dr. Tompkins, and Miss Reilly and Instructor Hogan Are Transferred to Some Work Where Philosophy Will Not Vex Them—Miss Mary Downey Startles the Board with a Letter on Marking System.

Sentence has been pronounced on "Smileless" William Wesley Black. The school management committee yesterday condemned him to smile, and Assistant Supt. William M. Roberts, another of sober visage, was appointed instructor to the head critic in the gentle art. This is the facetious way the committee disposed of the charges preferred against Mr. Black by the normal school teachers.

The charges involving the philosophy of Dr. Arnold Tompkins were not treated in so light a vein. Dr. Tompkins escaped sentence, but the official ax descended on his accusers, Miss Marcella Reilly and Instructor Andrew J. Hogan. Miss Reilly and Hogan were ordered transferred from the normal school to some city high school where Dr. Tompkins' philosophy would cease to annoy them.

Supt. Cooley recommended this action to the committee. As for Dr. Tompkins—he was requested to tone down his philosophy, and to endeavor not to tread on the toes of any religious sect.

The action of the committee in regard to Miss Reilly and Instructor Hogan was a surprise to many, as the rumor had been persistent that a compromise would be reached whereby all the malcontents could abide in peace under the one roof. A story which is going the rounds now says the friends of Orville T. Bright had the investigation instituted in the hope that it would result in the dismissal of Dr. Tompkins and the election of Mr. Bright as his successor.

Miss Downey Writes to the Board.

Miss Mary T. Downey, who was "pardoned" last week by the committee for barricading the doors of her room at the Dante school against invaders, was on the "official mat" again. After her acquittal Miss Downey wrote a note to the members of the board of education that created consternation. The board members immediately reopened her case as a result. Miss Downey is not quite sure where she stands now. She left the committee rooms smiling radiantly after Trustee Claussenius had informed her that "people living in glass houses ought not to throw stones."

Here is Miss Downey's letter:

To the Members of the Board of Education—Gentlemen: Realizing that I have been discriminated against financially and feeling that I have been wronged professionally by the present system of marking teachers by principals, I hereby call attention to the matter.

Feeling also that this system, shrouded in vagueness and mystery and unsafeguarded against possible abuse, is calculated to shake the confidence of conscientious teachers in the fairness of those to whom they must look for encouragement and approval, I respectfully ask that this system be abandoned for one calculated to restore the much needed and much to be hoped for harmony between your honorable body and your appointees, the faithful teachers. In this sentiment I am joined by others, who, like myself, have suffered wrong which we appeal to you to redress.

When asked to explain her letter Miss Downey said that her heart had been touched by the tears of two other teachers who had been "treated unfairly," and that she had risen to defend them. She explained that she had prepared a statement which the other teachers were to have signed, but that at the last minute they declined.

Miss Downey was then told by Trustees Claussenius, Harris, and Stolz that it did not seem "becoming" for her to take up the case of two other teachers while she herself was under fire. Her case was left unsettled.

ACCUSES DRUGGIST OF ERROR.

Cecelia Miles Sues Otto A. Kreml and Others, 900 West Twelfth Street, for $20,000 Damages.

On account of an alleged mistake in selling subacetate of lead for lime water Otto A. Kreml, Dr. Charles E. Kreml, and Frank J. Kreml Sr. were sued in the Circuit court yesterday for $20,000. The plaintiff is Cecelia M. Miles, a child, who sues through her father, William H. Miles. Last March, it is said, lime water was called for at Otto A. Kreml's drug store, 900 West Twelfth street, and, it is said, subacetate of lead was sold in its place. When given to the child, it is asserted, she suffered intense pain, and has become partly paralyzed. Dr. Kreml is a registered pharmacist employed in the store.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."
—SHAKSPEARE.

MERRITT—Wesley Merritt, major general, former military governor of the Philippines.

Gen. Merritt began as a writer and lawyer:

"I had no idea of ever becoming a soldier. My ambition was to be a good lawyer and politician, and enter public life. I believed that my fortune lay in the direction of discussion and public speaking. However, when my father pointed out the great advantages of a West Point education, a careful consideration of the subject in the light of his experience and arguments convinced me of his wisdom. I accepted his views and entered West Point. At that particular time the course of study at the military academy was five years. I got along well. I did not stand high in my class except in English; was slow in mathematics. I think I was in the only full five year class ever graduated from that institution.

"Among my classmates were Gen. Horace Porter, Gen. James H. Wilson of Illinois, and Gen. John M. Wilson."

Gen. Merritt is a popular commander. His soldiers love him for his consideration for them. He never rashly jeopardizes his command to win glory for himself. While requiring the best military duty from his men he is ever mindful of their wants, and is the one who most assiduously cares for his own duties. On the battlefield, in camp, and in hospital they are always remembered.

He is famous for his unostentatious daring and coolness.

Gen. Merritt was one of the "boy generals" of the civil war. His superb cavalry command was renowned for never suffering a surprise, never losing a wheel captured from the enemy, and never meeting the enemy's cavalry but to defeat it.

Gen. Merritt is the hero of a ride that rivals Sheridan's. It was a dash through the Rocky mountains, four days and nights continuously, to the rescue of Maj. Thornburgh's command, hemmed in by the Ute Indians at the time of the Red river massacre.

Gen. Merritt has strong likes, and tastes, and abilities.

His terse, chaste style of writing is shown in all his reports of military operations, and is especially noted in his published memoirs of Gen. John Buford, his account of Sheridan's campaign in the Shenandoah valley, and other published writings.

Gen. Merritt is so modest of temperament that his soldiers say he too much avoids the proper praise due his glorious actions, and seeks to deprecate the renown others may court.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY.

Luncheon and Dinner Given to Miss Mills' Bridal Party—Weddings Last Evening.

The last of the gayeties attending the marriage of Miss Mari Brainard Mills to Mr. Frank Taylor Crawford took the form of a luncheon and a dinner to the bridal party. Both were given at the Saddle and Cycle club, the luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson and the dinner by Matthew Mills, brother of the bride to be.

The luncheon was given at 1 o'clock. Only the bridal party was present. This includes Mr. Matthew Mills, who will serve as best man; Mr. Charles W. McKelvey and Mr. Thomas Benedict Clark of New York; Mr. Crispen Ogelbay and Mr. Malcolm Lee McBride of Cleveland, Mr. William Biddle Williams of Philadelphia, Mr. James H. Niedecken of Milwaukee, and Mr. Hopewell L. Rogers of Chicago. The young women in the party were Miss Electa Mills, who will attend her sister as maid of honor, and the bridemaids—Miss Caroline Mills, Miss Agnes Mills, Miss Margaret Potter of East Orange, N. J.; Miss Ethel Boies of Scranton, Pa., and Miss Ethel Mason, Miss Lucy Peet, and Miss Mary Dickinson of Chicago. In addition to the bridal party Mr. Matthew Mills entertained at dinner Mr. Robert Waller, Mr. Harold Wallace, Miss Ellen Waller, Miss Sarah Peet, and Miss Helen Boies.

The wedding of Miss Mills to Mr. Crawford will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Lake View Presbyterian church, Evanston avenue and Addison street. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. F. M. Carson, pastor of the church. A reception will follow at the Mills residence. The decorations at the church will be daisies and ferns. The bridemaids' hats will be decked with daisies and they will carry huge bouquets of the white and yellow flower and wear long, trailing chains of the bright blossoms.

Miss Celeste K. Walsh was married last evening to Mr. D. J. Callaghan. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock at Holy Angels' church, and was largely attended. The Rt. Rev. A. J. McGavick officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marie E. Walsh. The best man was Mr. Frank J. Fahney of New York. Those who served as ushers were Mr. James T. Boyle, Mr. Thomas M. Roach of Cleveland, Mr. Maurice J. Sullivan of St. Paul, Mr. Arthur Devlin, Mr. Harry Sullivan of New York, and Mr. Arthur W. Walsh.

This afternoon will witness the marriage of Miss Bertha Chapman to Capt. Frederick George Skipwith of the Royal Warwickshire regiment. The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Augustus Chapman, 678 La Salle avenue. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom will go to New York preparatory to sailing, on June 20, for Europe.

The marriage of Miss Mary Helen Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Gale of 426 Warren avenue, to Mr. John Chandler Leonard, will be celebrated this evening at 8:30 o'clock, in the church of the Redeemer. Dr. Wilson F. Backus of the Third Presbyterian church will officiate and Mr. Farlin H. Ball will be master of ceremonies. Miss Alice Wilcox will attend the bride as maid of honor and Mr. Edward S. Leonard will act as best man. The other attendants on the bride will be Mrs. Farlin H. Ball, Miss Keturah Beers, Miss Gertrude Fife, Miss Ada May Price.

Miss Clara Genevieve Devlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Devlin of 599 Albany avenue, was married last evening to Mr. Charles Palmer Wheelock.

Miss Alice Mary Ketcham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Ketcham of 2149 Kenmore avenue, will be married tomorrow evening to Mr. Walter Noble Gillette. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William Birch at the residence of the parents of the bride. Mr. Herbert F. Rawll will attend Mr. Gillette as best man and the bride will have as her maid of honor Miss Cora Vawter. A reception will follow the ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Doris Levy to Mr. Arnold H. Chapman will take place tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 549 La Salle avenue. Dr. A. Hirschberg will officiate. A reception will be held at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock, at the Church of the Epiphany, Miss Cecelia Spurr will be married to Mr. Fred Wells. The Rev. Mr. Bate will officiate.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Mendelsohn will be at home after June 15 at 3729 Indiana avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pelham of Oak Park celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary on Sunday. A. J. Smith, father of Mrs. Pelham, came from Cleveland with his family to attend the reception.

Mrs. William A. Bond and Miss Bond, 4025 Drexel boulevard, gave a dance last evening for the Misses Massey of Philadelphia, who will be their guests during the remainder of this month.

Mrs. Joseph E. Weidenfeld of 4516 Calumet avenue will receive on Thursday afternoon for Miss Gertrude Frost of Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. C. E. Coe and Mrs. E. Lester Johnson of 4630 Drexel boulevard will sail on Wednesday to meet their father, Mr. Edward Iverson, who is now in Switzerland. Mrs. C. L. Iverson of La Grange will accompany them.

A. L. Sercomb sails for Europe on June 27, accompanied by his two sons, who will graduate from Williams college this year.

SEEKING FOR SUNKEN TREASURE

Milwaukee Wrecking Company to Hunt for Vessels with Cargoes Sunk in Lake Huron.

Oscoda, Mich., June 15.—One of the most thoroughly organized hunts for lost treasure ever attempted on the great lakes is to be made on Lake Huron, where the Milwaukee Wrecking company is preparing to search for the hulks of long lost vessels dotting the lake bottom six or seven miles off this shore. One of the most valuable cargoes is a large one of copper, lost in the early days of lake navigation. Another is of steel ingots and still another is a cargo of whisky, lost in a schooner bound for Mackinaw many years ago.

The Tribune's Vacation Guide

Continuing its series of hints for vacation hunters "The Tribune" presents another installment of a guide to the most desirable spots for summer outings. The series will be continued daily and will be found invaluable to those who are wondering where to go.

WATER TOURS—The great lakes and their tributaries offer almost unlimited opportunity for outings on the water. To outline the numerous lake tours that may be taken on steamers going out from Chicago would be impossible in these columns. From a few hours' trip to Michigan City, South Haven, Milwaukee, Holland, or any of the ports on the east shore of Lake Michigan one can extend his outing to a cruise of the entire lake system, including a cruise of the Georgian bay, traveling 1,500 miles and spending weeks on the water. Almost any port on the lake system may be reached on steamers from this city connecting with steamship lines on Lake Superior, Lake Huron, and even in Lakes Erie and Ontario and the St. Lawrence river. There is a great variety of itineraries to select from, each varying in cost according to the distance traveled and the character of the accommodations demanded.

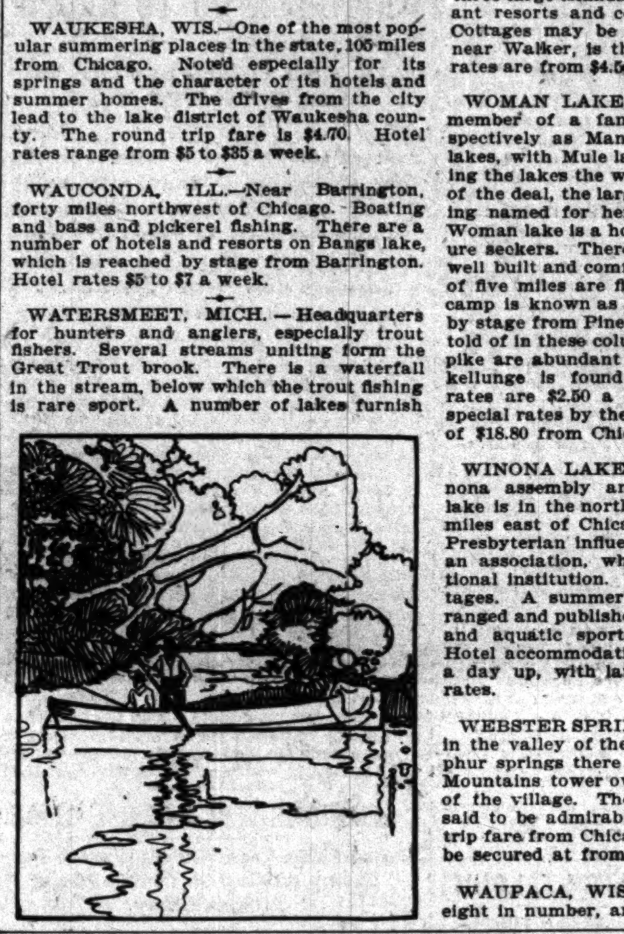

WATERVILLE, MINN.—Summering place on the shores of Lakes Tetonka and Sakatah. The sand bar which separates the lakes has been improved into a pleasant drive, over which may be reached other resorts and camping spots. The lakes are well stocked with bass, wall eyed pike, croppies, and pickerel, and all kinds of aquatic sports, including boating, bathing, water tobogganing, and water polo, have been provided for the visitor. Hotel rates are from $4 a week to $2 a day. The round trip rate from Chicago is $14.

LAKE WASHINGTON, MINN.—The lake is twelve miles from Mankato, and is a beautiful sheet of water, where fishing is good. Boats, bait, tackle, and other necessary paraphernalia are to be had at the lake, which is extensively patronized by Omaha and Council Bluffs residents. The hotel accommodations are good, the rates being similar to those at the Waterville resorts. The round trip fare from Chicago is $14.

WAUKESHA, WIS.—One of the most popular summering places in the state, 105 miles from Chicago. Noted especially for its springs and the character of its hotels and summer homes. The drives from the city lead to the lake district of Waukesha county. The round trip fare is $4.70. Hotel rates range from $5 to $35 a week.

WAUCONDA, ILL.—Near Barrington, forty miles northwest of Chicago. Boating and bass and pickerel fishing. There are a number of hotels and resorts on Bangs lake, which is reached by stage from Barrington. Hotel rates $5 to $7 a week.

WATERSMEET, MICH.—Headquarters for hunters and anglers, especially trout fishers. Several streams uniting form the Great Trout brook. There is a waterfall in the stream, below which the trout fishing is rare sport. A number of lakes furnish bass fishing, and in the fall game is plentiful. The hotel rates are $8 and $12 a week. Watersmeet is 408 miles from Chicago, just across the Wisconsin line.

WALKER, MINN.—Station at Leach lake, and tributary to a score of smaller lakes. The round trip fare from Chicago to Walker is $19.97. Leach lake is a large body of water, divided into two parts, and with an irregular shore line of some 500 miles. The lake is the subject of much Indian tradition, the original Indian name being Casagasquajimaigog Sagaaigua. Here the red man has left his names on stream and hill and rock. The lake is forty miles long and seventeen miles wide, and there are three large islands. On its shores are pleasant resorts and convenient camping spots. Cottages may be rented. The White City, near Walker, is the principal resort. Hotel rates are from $4.50 a week up.

WOMAN LAKE, MINN.—This pool is a member of a family of lakes, known respectively as Man, Woman, Boy, and Girl lakes, with Mule lake close by. In christening the lakes the woman was given the best of the deal, the larger pool of the cluster being named for her. A log cabin camp on Woman lake is a home for tourists and pleasure seekers. There are a number of cabins, well built and comfortable. Within a radius of five miles are fifty lakes and pools. The camp is known as Kabekona, and is reached by stage from Pine River station, previously told of in these columns. Bass, pickerel, and pike are abundant in the waters, and muskellunge is found there also. The hotel rates are $2.50 a day for transients, with special rates by the week. A round trip rate of $18.80 from Chicago is quoted.

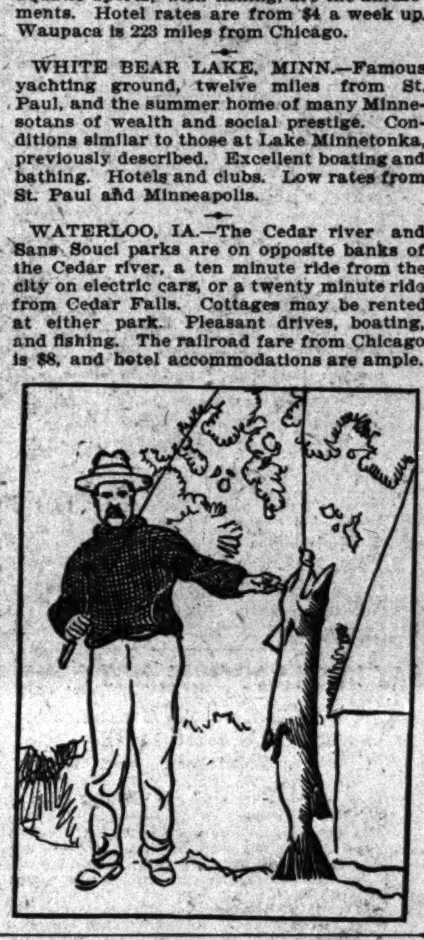

WINONA LAKE, IND.—Home of the Winona assembly and summer school. The lake is in the northern part of the state, 110 miles east of Chicago. The resort is under Presbyterian influence, and is controlled by an association, which conducts the educational institution. There are hotels and cottages. A summer's program has been arranged and published. Various kinds of land and aquatic sports have been provided. Hotel accommodations may be had for $1.50 a day up, with large reductions in weekly rates.

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. Va.—At Addison in the valley of the Elk river. The salt sulphur springs there gave the place its name. Mountains tower over the valley on all sides of the village. The climatic conditions are said to be admirable for asthmatics. Single trip fare from Chicago is $16.45. Board may be secured at from $6 to $10 a week.

WAUPACA, WIS.—The Chain O' Lakes, eight in number, are near at hand, and are the favored resorts for thousands annually. The lakes are linked by deep waterways, and can be visited in turn by boat or by beautiful drives along their banks. On their shores are scores of summer homes, some modest and some elegant. There are many camping spots, which in the summer are converted into tent cities. Golf, driving, and aquatic sports, with fishing, are the amusements. Hotel rates are from $4 a week up. Waupaca is 223 miles from Chicago.

WHITE BEAR LAKE, MINN.—Famous yachting ground, twelve miles from St. Paul, and the summer home of many Minnesotans of wealth and social prestige. Conditions similar to those at Lake Minnetonka, previously described. Excellent boating and bathing. Hotels and clubs. Low rates from St. Paul and Minneapolis.

WATERLOO, IA.—The Cedar river and Sans Souci parks are on opposite banks of the Cedar river, a ten minute ride from the city on electric cars, or a twenty minute ride from Cedar Falls. Cottages may be rented at either park. Pleasant drives, boating, and fishing. The railroad fare from Chicago is $8, and hotel accommodations are ample.

O'DONNELL CHANGES HIS MIND.

Wants to Drop Forgery Charge Against Charles A. Werner, and the State Asks Why.

Patrick H. O'Donnell is desirous of dropping the prosecution of Charles A. Werner, his formed protégé, whom he had indicted on three charges of forgery, but Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olson sees no reason for failing to give a jury the facts. O'Donnell told Judge Brentano yesterday he had made an error in accusing Werner of forgery. He said embezzlement might be shown.

It has been charged by Werner and his attorney, Kickham Scanlan, that O'Donnell feared to have the case aired in court. This accusation was made stronger, it is alleged, on each of the several times the day of the trial was set, by the departure of the former public administrator from the city.

Werner was a young attorney in O'Donnell's office at the time O'Donnell was public administrator. He had charge of several estates, and was given a check book, with blank checks signed by O'Donnell, to be used in distributing probated estates. Werner was said to have misused this book for his own benefit.

Judge Brentano allowed a postponement of the case, and it is probable that Attorney Olson will insist on prosecution to discover why O'Donnell suddenly changed his attitude soon after expert accountants and attorneys had examined his books.

CHANGE PLAN OF BOND SALE.

County Commissioners Object to Resolution Delegating the Authority to President Foreman.

The finance committee of the county board yesterday decided to reject the resolution prepared by President Foreman delegating to him the power to negotiate for the sale of the $1,250,000 bonds voted at the last election. The committee will have another meeting and make a recommendation.

The rejected resolution reads that the "bonds shall be sold and disposed of under the direction of the president of the board of commissioners and the controller of Cook county." All five members of the committee present decided on a change and then summoned President Foreman before them to ask why he had worded it as he had.

He said he meant to follow previous resolutions and was willing to make the change.

MISS PIO GOES TO WED A COUNT.

FLAG DAY IS CELEBRATED IN THE PARKS OF CHICAGO.

Thousands of School Children and Civil War Veterans Join in Ceremonies and in Raising National Emblem.

In the parks of Chicago yesterday school children joined with their elders in celebrating the 126th birthday of the flag, and in eleven states and over 300 cities of the republic similar observances took place. It was the tenth annual observance of Flag day and booming cannon, oratory, martial music, and patriotic recitations marked the occasion.

Twenty-five thousand civil war veterans, school children, and citizens participated in the celebration in the Chicago parks. Special exercises were held at Humboldt, Lincoln, and Washington parks. At each of these centers there was a flag raising, patriotic addresses, and the singing of national airs by children from the public schools. The celebrations were held under the auspices of the American Flag Day association.

At Washington park the children heard the story of Lincoln's assassination, told by Henry R. Rathbone, whose father sat with Lincoln on the night of the assassination. Mrs. Arabella Root Del Armitage told the history of the flag, and the hundreds of children sang "America" as a replica of the Betsy Ross flag was run up.

Nine hundred children from north side schools joined in the Lincoln park ceremonies. The children marched to the lagoon, where the flag was raised, then to the speakers' stand, where addresses were delivered by the Rev. T. Tain, the Rev. J. F. Tain, D. D., and Mrs. Minnie Eastman.

Over 5,000 persons participated in the exercises at Humboldt park in the afternoon. Pupils and teachers from thirteen public schools took part in the celebration. Dr. B. J. Cigrand presided. The exercises began with the raising of a new flag. A cannon boomed the national salute as 200 school children, clad in white, pulled the rope which raised the flag. The Rev. W. B. Leach and Dr. B. J. Cigrand delivered the addresses. In the evening another demonstration was held. Fireworks were the feature.

GIRL PLEADS FOR EDUCATION.

Deserted Child of Fourteen Tells Judge Tuthill She Cannot Read or Write.

A plea for education was made in Judge Tuthill's court yesterday morning by Laura M. Burns, 14 years old.

"I cannot read or write," said the little girl. "All the schooling I ever had was about three weeks. I want to go to some place where I can get an education."

Juvenile court officers said that the girl had been deserted by her mother, who lived at 183 West Quincy street. The mother has gone to St. Louis. Mrs. J. L. Hurd, 1338 North Clark street, offered to take care of the girl. The court allowed her to go in the custody of Mrs. Hurd.

PETITE STAKES TO BADGER GIRL.

Slaughter's Filly Proves Best of the Two Year Old Fillies at Harlem.

WINS DESPITE BAD LUCK.

Owner of Duke of York and Jockey Eggerson Suspended After Jumping Race.

Badger Girl, owned by J. L. Slaughter of Milwaukee and an added starter, won the Petite stakes at Harlem yesterday from a fair field of 2 year old fillies. Ten were named to go for the prize, which was worth $2,330 to the winner, but Pipe Dream, Interrogation, Tapiola, Ida Davis, and Mary Dunn dodged the argument.

Handsome Florry, on the strength of her last win and presumably because she is the property of John A. Drake, was installed favorite. A strong tip on Memories sent her to the post a slight second choice over Determination.

The race proved the winner to be much the best, as she left the post absolutely last, wore down her field, and won quite easily on the end. Henry, with 2½ pounds overweight, piloted the Milwaukee trick and handled her nicely throughout. Determination had all the early speed and hit the top of the stretch three lengths in advance of Badger Girl, but the latter, with speed to loan, ran over her in the final sixteenth. Memories broke first, was outrun by all the others in the first furlong, but under Knight's vigorous riding finished third, two open lengths behind Cook's filly. The favorite looked dangerous at the turn but went to pieces when the crucial test came.

Several Are Suspended.

The levee sports were out in force, and when Badger Girl's number went up they raised a howl loud enough to be heard all through the black belt.

The steeplechase handicap, one of the features of the afternoon, was a suspicious looking affair, and resulted in the suspension, pending investigation, of Owner Morehouse, Trainer Dennison, and the jockey of Duke of York, the favorite, and of Jockey Eggerson, who rode Golden Link, the winner. The favorite was considered much the best, and it looked from the stand as if every boy in the race was determined he should not win. At any rate they cut him off and interfered with him intentionally, it appeared, at every opportunity. At that he proved himself better than all but the winner, which, in the vernacular of the turf, dropped out of the clouds. The last time Golden Link started Eggerson made no effort to get away with him, and he trailed his field and was beaten off. Yesterday, however, he hustled him along and lashed him through the length of the final run in. Duke of York, despite the interference, was second, and Miss Grannon, J. S. Bratton's mare, was second.

Edward Corrigan pulled down two purses—the first with Hargis and the other with Alice Dougherty at odds of from 15 to 30 to 1. Alice's win was a surprise, as her last efforts hardly warranted her winning. Annie Thompson, with any kind of a hustling finish, would have won, as she had matters her own way a sixteenth out, and the boy, thinking he had the race well enough in hand to loaf, did so, with the result Reiff, who put up an excellent finish, beat him out by a scant head.

The racing, considering it was an off day, was up to standard.

'MISTAH' SLAUGHTER A WINNER

J. L. SLAUGHTER.

J. L. Slaughter, owner of Badger Girl, the filly which won the Petite stakes yesterday at Harlem, and caused the bookmakers to lose a lot of money to the levee sports and others, has jumped into prominence on the local tracks. Yesterday's coup was the third made this season by the colored man from Milwaukee. At Roby he and his friends made a big killing with Lucy E. S. Later he followed it up with a watermelon feast on Anna Beall at Worth, and yesterday he captured a stake, defeating the entries of Millionaire John A. Drake and others. Slaughter is a newcomer, this being his first season. He is of striking appearance, being unusually tall and slender, with hands big enough to hold all the money in the betting ring and feet of proportionate size.

SAVABLE IS NOW 2 TO 1.

REPORT THAT IRISH LAD WILL NOT COME AFFECTS PRICE.

Derby Speculators Are Kept Guessing by the Conflicting Reports as to the Intentions of Eastern Owners of the Colt—Judge Himes Does Good Work at Hawthorne—Probable Starters in the Trial Race Which Will Be Run at Harlem Tomorrow.

The bearish report from the east that Irish Lad was not coming had a marked effect on the betting against Savable yesterday in the local winter books, the price against the Drake colt falling to 2 to 1. This is probably the lowest figure ever offered against an American Derby candidate five days before the race.

The conflicting reports about Irish Lad are keeping Derby speculators guessing. The latest, which came from New York yesterday, lacks confirmation, and many think it strange that Whitney and Duryea should elect to send the 3 year old into the Suburban with his big impost in preference to starting him in the Derby, even though a 1,000 mile trip has to be thrown in the balance with the latter. The statement that the easterners think the Washington park track will be heavy looks like a joke. Evidently they are judging Chicago's climate by their own, as it has been raining in Gotham for several days. The present outlook for the Derby favors a good track.

Should Irish Lad be sent into the Suburban in preference to the Derby, it will be a tribute to the prowess of western 2 year olds, for Irish Lad will have to give away great loads of weight in the Suburban to the pick of eastern handicap horses, while in the Derby he would be conceding small weight to any, and would be in receipt of weight from one and carry equal weight with two or three others.

Both O'Leary and Weller yesterday cut the price on Claude, who is now 10 to 1.

Good Workout by Judge Himes.

Judge Himes had a nice workout at Hawthorne yesterday morning and Ellison's "selling plater" is being more and more favored by some as a conspicuous Derby candidate. With Jockey Otis in the saddle and carrying probably 115 pounds Himes worked a mile and a quarter in 2:12⅘. He did it cleverly, looked well, and pulled up strong. The last mile was covered in 1:45⅗ and the last mile and a furlong in 2:00 flat.

Corrigan's three candidates—McGowan, Maxey Blumenthal, and Ravel—were worked a mile in 1:46⅘ at the same track. The first named finished in front and Ravel was three lengths behind Maxey Blumenthal, was whipped out, and is evidently no good.

High Chancellor was breezed a mile in 1:50; Early had a slow gallop of a mile and a half, and Banter, looking good, was galloped around the course. Today is Banter's work day if he carries out his usual program. Several of the Derby colts probably will get stiff work today.

Savable, Bernays, Judge Himes, Gregor K., Linguist, Au Revior, Gilfain, and Manru are announced as sure starters in the Derby trial special at Harlem tomorrow if the track remains good. Fore and Aft is due to arrive today, and if he travels well he is a probable starter; so, it is said, are Claude and Monsieur Beaucaire, winner and second in the St. Louis Derby, if they are not detained by the floods. Epicure would have been a starter, but he is temporarily lame from stepping on a small stone.

Telephone System at Track.

Yesterday the new telephone system was completed at Harlem park, which now boasts the most complete system of the kind of any racetrack in the world. One of the important features of the new system is the connection of all starting stands with the judges' stand, which will enable the starter to immediately inform the judges of any intentional fouling, cutting across, or other dirty work when the horses leave the post. Another good feature is the patrol judges' ability to communicate to the judges in the stand any information they should have before the result of a race is made official.

This telephone system includes the judges' stand, the secretary's office and paddock judge, the patrol judge's stand, Supt. Myer's office, the Harlem Jockey club's barn, the business office, all entrances to the park, and all starter's stands around the track. The system can be extended to any part of the track, and before racing is resumed there in August it is likely owners of big stables will avail themselves of the opportunity to have a telephone in their barns.

Notes of the Golfers.

A two ball foursome for women is scheduled for this afternoon at the Calumet Country club.

Tom Bendelow is promoting a tournament for western professionals and already has the promises of twenty-one to compete. It will be played after the open championship at Baltusrol and before the western open championship at Milwaukee.

Present indications are there will be a slim attendance of Chicago professionals at the open championship next week. Champion Auchterlonie will go to defend his title. Former champions Willie Smith, Fred Herd, and James Foulis will also compete, as will Harry Turpie.

Ohio State, 5; Toronto, 2.

Columbus, O., June 15.—Ohio State university defeated the University of Toronto today by a score of 5 to 2.

M'CARREN GIVES A FEAST.

CELEBRATES VICTORY OF HIS FILLY IN ASTORITA STAKES.

Ocean Tide Wins in a Hard Drive from Tafee and Julia M. and the Senator Banquets the Nominators to the Event—Assistant Starter Is Blamed for Poor Start Given to John A. Scott in the May Stakes, Which Are Won by W. R. Condon, a Long Shot.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—The Astoria stakes for 2 year old fillies, a private sweepstakes, with a subscription of $250 each, with $2,000 added, together with a $500 cup, was run in the mud and rain at Gravesend today and was won by Senator P. H. McCarren's Ocean Tide. There were six starters, who carried fourteen pounds below scale.

Senator McCarren gave a banquet to the subscribers at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight. The race was a hot betting affair, all the fillies receiving ample support. Andrew Miller's Julia M. opened favorite at even money, but went back to 2½ to 1, as there was a heavy plunge on the Mexican stable's Dusky, who was pounded down from 8 to 1 to 7 to 2. The Oneck stable's Trossarchs was reduced to 7 to 2, while Ocean Tide was lowered to 7s.

Julia M. rushed away from the post at a terrific pace, but she gave way to Ocean Tide at the head of the stretch, Senator McCarren's filly coming on under a hard drive from Bullman and winning by a length and a half in 1:08⅘. Burns put Tafee under the whip and took the place money from Julia M. by a head.

The May stakes for 3 year olds at about six furlongs caused a big howl from those who made John A. Scott favorite at 7 to 5. Assistant Starter William Murray took hold of him at the post, and when the field broke Scott got away last and was never prominent. W. R. Condon at 8 to 1 and Minotaur at 5 to 1 had a hard race to the turn, where Condon drew away and won galloping by two lengths in 1:12 2-5. Minotaur, under Fuller's drive, finished a length before Toscan, who beat August Belmont's Forward by a head.

First race, about 6 furlongs—Locket, 101 pounds [O'Brien], 6 to 1, won; Daisy Green, 104 [O'Neill], 8 to 1, second; Rostrand, 100 [Michaels], 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Eva Russell, Ben Howard, Oclawaha, Baikal, Brixton, Neither One, Mary Street, Mennenfield, and Midnight Chimes ran.

Second race, handicap, 1 1-16 miles—Africander, 126 pounds [Odom], 15 to 20, won; Duke of Kendal, 100 [Martin], 8 to 1, second; Colonsay, 92 [Creamer], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:50. Akela and Invincible ran.

Third race, the May stakes, about 6 furlongs—W. R. Condon, 104 pounds [Martin], 8 to 1, won; Minotaur, 101 [Fuller], 5 to 1, second; Toscan, 100 [Cochran], 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:12 2-5. Forward, Captivator, and John A. Scott ran.

Fourth race, The Astoria, 5 furlongs—Oceantide, 111 pounds [Bullman], 7 to 1, won; Tepee, 114 [Burns], 5 to 1, second; Julia M., 114 [Odom], 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:08 4-5. Dusky, Trossachs, and Heatherdown ran.

Fifth race, 1 1-16 miles, selling—Silurian, 98 pounds [Fuller], 2 to 1, won; Lord Advocate, 101 [Gannon], 9 to 1, second; Carroll D., 104 [O'Brien], 25 to 1, third. Time, 1:53. St. Sever and Graden ran.

Sixth race, handicap, 5½ furlongs—Basefull, 120 pounds [McCue], 3 to 1, won; Toledo, 120 [Waterbury], 11 to 5, second; Reveille, 104 [Redfern], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:10 3-5. Excentral and Celebrant ran.

SAY IRISH LAD WILL NOT COME.

Report Now Is That the Great Eastern Colt Will Start in the Suburban.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—Those who put their ears to the ground at the Gravesend paddock today declared with emphasis that Irish Lad would not go to Chicago to run in the Derby after all, but instead would be a sure starter in the Suburban handicap. Just after the second race the story was on everybody's lips that Herman B. Duryea, part owner of the Candlemas colt, had suddenly left the track before anybody could interview him, and in his absence Trainer John W. Rogers and John E. Madden said they could not discuss the matter at all. It is said the uncertainty as to the weather made Messrs. Whitney & Duryea conclude to keep the Brooklyn handicap winner east, where he might have an excellent chance to win the Suburban, even with 115 pounds. Taking into consideration the roughness of the 1,000 mile railroad journey and the probability of a heavy track at Washington park, it is said the owners of Irish Lad decided it would be folly to send the colt west.

Another report is in circulation to the effect that W. C. Whitney's Goldsmith, already the favorite in the Suburban, will not be a starter because he has been coughing the last few days. Under the circumstances, with Goldsmith an improbable starter, it is stated that Whitney will start Gunfire, with 123 pounds, with Burns or Redfern up. The Metropolitan winner is in splendid shape for a hard race, although such weight is not to her liking.

Frank Farrell decided today not to start Blues, so Fuller has accepted the mount on Africander.

Race Results at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 15.—A fast track and a good card drew a large crowd to the fair grounds track today. Nine of the speediest sprinters at the track were entered in the handicap at six furlongs. Frank Bell was installed as favorite, with Scorpio second choice. Father Wentker and Santa Ventura were left. Scorpio lasted just long enough to beat Frank Bell a neck. Summary:

First race, 4½ furlongs—Anne Davis, 115 pounds [Troxler], 6 to 5, won; Wreath of Ivy, 5 to 2, second; Liberty Bell, 10 to 1, third. Time, :55¼. Hoe Down, Ann Dear, Mrs. Malaprop, Moulin Rouge, Bush Smith, and Lona S. ran. Wootsy Winifred left.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Vestry, 111 pounds [A. W. Booker], 3 to 1, won; Maverick, 5 to 2, second; Flash of Night, 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:15¼. Cardwellton, Edith Mack, Harry Griffith, Marchioness, Dolly Gray, Hook Se, Oka, and Budweiser ran.

Third race, 5 furlongs—Mafalda, 105 pounds [L. Wilson], 6 to 5, won; Arnold K., 8 to 5, second; Atlas, 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:03. Castle Gregor, Don O'High, and Max Rose ran.

Fourth race, 6 furlongs, handicap—Scorpio, 118 pounds [Troxler], 9 to 2, won; Frank Bell, 3 to 1, second; Louis Wagner, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:14¾. Happy Chappy, Maltster, Croix d'Or, and Orleans ran. Father Wentker and Santa Ventura left.

Fifth race, 1¼ miles—The Wizard, 88 pounds [Bridwell], 30 to 1, won; Kitty Clide, 8 to 1, second; Neversuch, 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:55¼. Joe Doughty, Chopin, Dominis, Sardian, Jean de Reszke, Tammany Chief, and The Way ran.

De Montreville Is Released.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—Eugene Demontreville, a second baseman on the Washington baseball team, has been released unconditionally.

COLTS LOSE TO THE CHAMPIONS.

Leever Pitches Great Game and Pittsburg Wins by Score of 3 to 0.

ALLOWS ONLY ONE HIT.

Menefee Gets Lone Bingle and Does Excellent Work on the Slab.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 15.—[Special.]—Although Jack Menefee pitched winning ball against the Pirates this afternoon, and kept Clarke's men down to six hits, the Colts lost the game by a score of 3 to 0. The reason for the defeat was that Leever, who was in the box for the locals, pitched a remarkable game and shut out the Chicago boys with only one hit, which was made by "Jocko" Menefee himself.

The Colts played an errorless game, but Harley should have been charged with one for letting Leever's easy fly fall safe in the second inning, which scored two runs for the home team. Wagner was the only Pirate who made any misplays. He fumbled two grounders which he should have picked up clean, but he atoned for his mistakes. The weather was fine and a crowd 6,000 strong turned out to witness the battle between the two teams, which were in a tie for second position in the race.

The Colts were unable to get a man past first base during the game, and only six men were allowed to reach the first corner.

The champions were the first to score, when in the second round Bransfield beat out a grounder to Casey and Leach was punctured in the ribs by Menefee. Ritchey sent a fly out to Jones' territory and Bransfield and Leach moved forward a base. Phelps pushed a grounder to Casey, and Bransfield was run down between third and the plate while Phelps was making second. With men on second and third, Leever sent a Texas leaguer to right garden, and Chance, Evers, and Harley started for it, and Harley could easily have captured it, but he stopped within a foot of it for fear of colliding with Chance, and the ball dropped safe, scoring Leach and Phelps.

In the fourth inning Bransfield hit to deep center and was resting on third when the sphere was returned to the diamond. Leach died easily at first and Ritchey sent a short fly to Jones in center, but "Davy" could not throw straight enough to the plate, and Bransfield tallied with the third and last run of the game. Notes of the Colts' Game.

Wagner fumbled Evers' grounder in the sixth and then made a double play off Kling's grounder immediately after.

Taylor will likely pitch the final game with the Pirates. The locals have great respect for "Brakeman Jack." Jimmy Cook is a member of Selee's party now, and may be given his first show in a professional game in a few days.

Tinker played a great game at short and showed Wagner's work off to a disadvantage. The game closed with a pretty double play. Slagle sent a liner into Leach's hands, and Harley was doubled off first, retiring the side and ending the game.

The Colts play tomorrow with the Pirates, and then move on to tackle the Giants in New York. Wednesday is an off day for Selee's men, and they will stop off at Orange, N. J., and play an exhibition game with the club there. The "Phillies" stopped off here today on their way home and saw the game.

CINCINNATI DEFEATS ST. LOUIS.

Visitors Shut Out for Eight Innings, but Make a Game Rally in the Ninth.

Cincinnati, O., June 15.—Cincinnati defeated St. Louis today by the score of 4 to 3. St. Louis made a game bid in the ninth inning, scoring three runs. Ewing went up in the air entirely, as after he had given two bases on balls, Hackett flied to Seymour, and Dunleavy singled to left, filling the bags. Another base on balls to Williams forced in a run. Donovan struck out, but Smoot singled, scoring two more runs. Brain was not equal to the occasion and flied to Corcoran. Farrell was put off the grounds for abusing Umpire Holliday. Score:

Chicago, 9; Beloit, 2.

Capt. Floyd Harper's last game of college baseball yesterday resulted in a victory when Chicago defeated Beloit, 9 to 2. Heavy hitting on the part of the Chicago men was responsible for the victory. "Shorty" Ellsworth pitched well for the locals, but Morey of Beloit proved easy for Stagg's followers. Score:

Associated Clubs' Games.

Games of the Associated Ball Clubs next Sunday are as follows:

Cedar Brooks and Malt Vigors at Waveland and Clark streets.
Sycamore and Sterlings.
Heintz and Ellison Grays.
Marquettes and Olivers, at Woodstock.

Strong Wins Bowling Tourney.

Fred Strong captured first place in the west side individual bowling tourney, which finished last night, with an average of 195 21-50. Trumbull was second, F. Woodbury third, and Edaiy Stoike fourth.

Notes of the Harlem Track.

J. Carter's ride on Dandvise is under investigation.

S. S. Bender, who was struck on the head with a pitchfork by one of his stable hands, was reported much better yesterday, and will in all probability recover.

Badger Girl's time, :54 1-5, is the fastest of the meeting.

Bill Walters and Ed Guinzburg fell at the turn in the opening event. The boys, Major and Taldock, escaped injury.

"Kansas" Price ran up Martinmas to $1,500—$700 over his entered price—but the horse was retained for the customary $5.

The entire crop of yearlings of the McAlester stock farm and the first get of imp. Larium will be sold in the Harlem paddock at 12:30 today.

Duke of York's race looked suspicious to the officials, and they suspended, pending investigation, owner I. Morehouse, Trainer J. Dannison, and Jockey T. Murphy. Jockey Eggerson, who rode the winner, Golden Link, was indefinitely suspended for his previous ride on the same horse the last time. On that occasion Eggerson never made an attempt to get away, and trailed throughout. Yesterday he rode like a demon and won by using the whip vigorously.

WHITE SOX GO TO RACES.

RAIN AND COLD PREVENT THE GAME WITH NEW YORK.

Most of the Players Practice Punting at Gravesend—Magoon Probably Will Join the Team in Chicago on Friday—Holmes to Play Left Field—Athletics Beat St. Louis and Washington Trims Detroit, Each by the Same Score of 2 to 1.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—Another of the games so much needed by the White Stockings to make the present trip east look better was called off today on account of the rain and cold weather. Since the club left Boston a week ago it has been handicapped by bad weather, and three games have had to be postponed. Yesterday's rain kept up steadily here all day, and after a short conference over the telephone Managers Callahan and Griffith decided to put today's game by for a more propitious time.

Most of Comiskey's players went to Gravesend, where they lost a portion of their high salaries on the ponies. Hallman went to Philadelphia for the day.

Since Magoon did not report today, it is probable Manager Callahan will order him to join the club in Chicago on Friday. Daly and Dolan will remain with the club until it goes west Wednesday night, then they will go to Philadelphia to join Cincinnati.

Dolan will not be used, Holmes going into left, but Daly will continue to cover second.

CHAMPIONS WIN A CLOSE GAME.

Philadelphia Team Draws Near to Boston by Beating St. Louis—Plank Pitches Finely.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 15.—Plank pitched the champions to victory over St. Louis today. Only one of the visitors' two triples resulted in a run, and that was due to a dropped thrown ball by Davis. Donohue made his appearance here after a year's absence. He pitched a good game. Score:

Ordnung and Silverdale Turned Out.

Lexington, Ky., June 15.—[Special.]—The two great racehorses, Ordnung and Silverdale, owned by John W. Schorr, arrived today from New York to be turned out. Ordnung went to the Willamette stud of John B. Ewing, and the latter to the Spendthrift stud of O. H. Chenault. In case neither of these cracks recovers to stand training for next year they will be returned to the stud at the farms where they are now located.

WISCONSIN CREW ON THE HUDSON.

O'Dea's Oarsmen Arrive at Poughkeepsie After a Pleasant Journey.

FIRST WORKOUT TODAY.

Varsity Men Will Be Sent Out This Afternoon in Their New Shell.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 15.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin oarsmen arrived at Highland, opposite Poughkeepsie, this afternoon at 2 o'clock after one of the most comfortable trips ever made by a Wisconsin crew.

The weather was cool all the way from Chicago, and the dust had been settled by recent rains. The men as a result arrived here in fine condition and high spirits. The car with the shells arrived on the same train, and the shells were transferred across the river to the Miller boathouse, which had been set aside by the committee for the use of Wisconsin in storing its shells. It is hardly probable the building will be accepted by Wisconsin, as it is a ramshackle affair and not fit for any purpose, so an effort will be made to secure other quarters.

Another objection to the boathouse is that it is nearly a mile from the military academy, where the men are quartered.

The men were not given work of any kind today, but were allowed to lounge about the quarters and get the stiffness out of their limbs after the long ride.

Tomorrow the new shell will arrive from Boston, and the morning will be spent in unloading and rigging the boat for use. All the crews probably will have their first workout in the afternoon, the varsity using the new shell and the freshmen rowing in Camilla.

The plan of Coach O'Dea at present is to work the crews twice a day for the first week at least, as all of the men are in need of hard work. This plan will surely be followed if the weather continues as cool as it has been during the last week, and if the weather is favorable. Besides rowing the men will take a long walk in the morning before breakfast and also before retiring in the evening.

Wisconsin is the second crew to arrive on the river, Pennsylvania having arrived last Thursday. Ellis Ward has had his men out each day since their arrival and the crews have nearly swamped each time, as the water was rough. This morning he attempted to send them over the course on time, but they were forced to stop at the third mile to keep the boat from filling.

Columbia, in charge of Ned Hanlan, came in shortly after Wisconsin this afternoon, and all seem as confident as they did last year of winning the race.

In an article in a local paper today Hanlan confidently states that Columbia will win, or at least will take a lot of beating. Syracuse and Georgetown will arrive toward the last of the week, and will be the last oarsmen to arrive for the regatta. All the crews will have the same quarters as last year.

DRAW FOR POSITIONS AT START.

Wisconsin Varsity Boat Gets No. 4, Pennsylvania Oarsmen Securing No. 1.

New York, June 15.—Representatives of the six universities—Columbia, Cornell, Georgetown, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin—which will compete over the Poughkeepsie-Highland course on June 26, met today and drew for positions at the starting line. The drawing resulted as follows:

Four oared race—1, Pennsylvania; 2, Cornell; 3, Wisconsin; 4, Columbia.

Freshman eight oared race—1, Cornell; 2, Columbia; 3, Pennsylvania; 4, Syracuse; 5, Wisconsin.

Varsity eight oared race—1, Pennsylvania; 2, Columbia; 3, Cornell; 4, Wisconsin; 5, Syracuse; 6, Georgetown.

The positions number from the west shore. Owing to the width of the river at that point, there is practically no difference in desirability as far as rowing conditions are concerned.

FAST WORK BY HARVARD EIGHT.

Cover the Four Mile Course in 21:48, Favored by the Tide—Yale Crews at Practice.

New London, Conn., June 15.—[Special.]—Harvard's varsity eight, rowing under the fastest of conditions of tide and following wind, tonight covered the four miles in the fastest time either Yale or Harvard has made since they came here. They made the distance in :21:48, according to the reporters' watches. No crew has made the four miles this year in less than :22 until tonight.

Swaim, the Harvard bow oar, who has been sick, was able to row his usual position tonight.

At both the morning and afternoon practice the Harvard freshmen beat the varsity.

The Yale crews were eager to cover the course under the watch, but did not dare because of rough water. The varsity and freshman eight rowed half miles races in secluded Horton's cove. The varsity won by half a length on both occasions, but Morse and Hecksher of the freshman eight have been sick all day and were unable to row in strong form. Capt. McMahon of the freshman eight has sent Stroke Defrees of the freshman four home because of a breach of discipline.

With favorable weather tomorrow the Yale varsity eight will try the four miles on time.

Brewster to Captain Cornell.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 15.—The Cornell baseball team has chosen Alfred A. Brewster Jr. of Akron, O., captain.

STIFT FAILS TO STOP BURNS.

Local Fighters Battle for Four Rounds in Private, the Lighter Man Winning.

By hugging on with the tenacity of a clam Charley Burns, the local middleweight, succeeded in weathering a bad thirty seconds in the last round of a four round bout with Billy Stift last night, winning the long end of the purse and a side bet in addition. Stift had agreed to put his opponent out in four rounds, and although the contest was advertised as being for ten rounds, the original agreement was adhered to, presumably on account of the small crowd present.

The match was the first of any importance since boxing closed down, and was pulled off in a downtown resort within a mile of the city hall. Between sixty and seventy spectators were present, but only in the last few seconds of the milling was there any sign of excitement. Stift looked big and strong, and was between 165 and 170 pounds, having an advantage of fully twenty pounds over his opponent.

For the major part of the time Stift occupied the center of the sixteen foot ring, while Burns was content to circle around the edges. No serious damage was done in the opening three minutes, although it was evident Burns was not in shape for a bruising contest. In the middle of the second round Burns received a hard right uppercut to the stomach, which put him down for a count of six. Stift did not wade in as expected, and Burns covered himself well for the balance of the round. Burns tried to do a little attack work in the third round, but his left leads were woefully weak.

With one minute to go in the last round Stift scored a knockdown with a hard left to the chin. Burns was down for a count of seven and arose groggy. Stift planted another in the same spot, and Burns took a count of nine. Stift rushed in to finish him, but Burns hung on to his legs. Stift rushed again, and Burns ducked and threw him clean over his head. This gave him the necessary grace, and the timer announced time.

Simms Knocks Out Schuh.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—Art Simms of Chicago won from George Schuh of Louisville in the nineteenth round of a hot fight at the Louisville Athletic club tonight. Simms scored a clean knockout with a right hook to the jaw. Schuh forced the fight all the way, and apparently had the best of it until the seventeenth round, when Simms' stamina, combined with superior head work and clever boxing, began to turn the scale. After he had taken considerable punishment while letting Schuh wear himself down, he assumed the aggressive and finished his opponent. Schuh apparently had Simms all, but out in the fifth. The men fought at 133 pounds.

Corbett's New System.

San Francisco, Cal., June 15.—[Special.]—Corbett has begun preliminary training. In explaining his new system today Corbett said: "I am doing what I should have done long ago—building up strength, muscle, and weight. I've always had speed to spare, and now I'm developing muscles I never used before. As a result of my work on bars and rings, I've filled out my chest four or five inches and can punch as hard again as ever before. All my efforts now are being devoted to a building up process."

Tennis is enjoying a well merited boom, and if anything is more popular than ever. Spalding's complete line of tennis supplies has been improved and is better than ever.

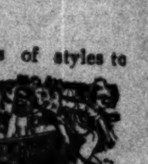

RACKETS. Spalding's complete line of tennis rackets will give you a chance to select from dozens of different models, and the leaders this year are practically duplicates of the rackets that were used last season by the most successful players. In quality of material, workmanship, balance and appearance they are unequaled. Prices $7.50, $7.00, $6.00, $5.00, $4.00, $2.00, $1.00, and 75c.

TENNIS BALLS. Spalding's "Championship" Tennis Ball is absolutely perfection. It is regulation in size and weight, and has the finest quality of felt cover. Per dozen, $4.00.

The Spalding "Tournament" Tennis Ball, uniform in every way, regulation size and weight, $3.50 per dozen.

Spalding's "Vantage" Tennis Ball, $3.00 per dozen.

TENNIS NETS. Dozens of styles to select from. Single nets as low as 75c. The Spalding Double Centre Net is the go this year. In the centre, where most of the wear comes, it has double twine knitted together for 11 to 13 feet, according to the size of the net. That's why it will outlast two or three other nets.

Spalding's Backstop Net is in use by nearly all the important tennis clubs of America. It is in six sections and measures 54 feet in length by 7 feet in height. Each section is hung separately, so that a player can pass back and forth without going around end of net. It will last for years.

Tennis Poles, Guy Ropes and Pegs, Racket Covers, Racket Presses and the restringing of rackets a specialty.

ECZEMA

The World's Greatest Skin Torture

Many Infants are Born with Eczema

THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE IS CUTICURA

It is in the treatment of this most distressing of torturing and disfiguring skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate, they present to those suffering from Eczema the most successful curative of modern times. We know that this will be considered strong language by those acquainted with the character and obstinacy of the disease under consideration, but it is justified by innumerable successes where all the remedies and methods in vogue have failed to cure, and, in many cases, to relieve, even.

The first step in the treatment of the chronic forms is to remove the scales and crusts and soften the skin, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. The scalp, ears, elbows, hands, ankles and feet will require frequently a thorough soaking in order to penetrate the thickened skin and crusts with which these parts are often covered. Dry carefully, and apply Cuticura Ointment, lightly at first, and where advisable spread it on pieces of soft cloth and bind in place. Take the Resolvent, pills or liquid, in medium doses. Do not use cold water in bathing, and avoid cold, raw winds.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors. Send for "How to Cure Eczema."

WHEAT KEEPS GOING UP.

SOME BAD CROP CLAIMS FROM ABROAD START LOCAL BUYING.

Trade Narrow and Professional, but Marked by Absence of Selling Pressure—St. Louis Insists Winter Wheat Is Still Deteriorating — Corn Steadied by Cash Demand and Support for September — Oats More Quiet and a Shade Stronger.

Claims of continued deterioration in soft winter wheat from the southwest, cable advices from London claiming reduced crop estimates in Russia, France, England, and Germany on account of recent floods, and moderate advances at Liverpool and Paris gave a strong tone to the wheat market here, and on liberal support by local traders there was a steady advance, with the close at about top prices, the gains ranging from ⅝c to ¾c in the different deliveries.

There was a slight dip at the opening, because the fear of rains in the southwest, which had been a bull motive Saturday, had not been realized; but there was little pressure on the market and prices rallied promptly on the foreign crop news. Lack of selling pressure was a feature of the market at all times.

While trade was not broad, there was a steady appreciation in values. The advance was sustained by the decrease of 2,707,000 bu in the visible supply, which was larger than expected and leaves stocks of only 20,004,000 bu, compared with 23,570,000 bu a year ago. Sundry advices from St. Louis claimed wheat was going back steadily, as a result of Hessian fly and rust. The St. Louis market did not lead the advance, however, as usual, but followed Chicago.

Strength in Northwest.

The northwest markets were a shade stronger than the local market on the decrease in stocks and the fair cash demand, while there was the intimation also that rain would soon be needed in some sections of the spring wheat country. There were 438 cars at Minneapolis and Duluth, compared with 443 a year ago, and 461,000 bu at primary points, compared with 606,000 bu last year. World's shipments for the week were 11,-460,000 bu, compared with 12,229,000 bu the week before and 7,400,000 bu a year ago. The amount on ocean passage decreased 200,000 bu. An official estimate of the Hungarian crop at 141,000,000 bu, compared with a yield of 160,000,000 bu last year, was one of the bull items, but Buda-Pesth was ⅜c lower. Clearances were liberal, 517,000 bu. Liverpool futures were ⅛@⅜d higher, and spot steady to ½d higher. London advanced 1@⅝c and Paris ½@1c. Antwerp was unchanged.

St. Louis claimed the continent was bidding higher for wheat, but there was no export demand here, and seaboard advices were of a dull inquiry, sales reported at 80,000 bu. There were sales of 30,000 bu No. 1 northern here to millers at 3c over July. The buying of futures was led by Raymond, Pringle, Dunn, and Lake, with some buying for the southwest. The selling was scattered, some moderate offerings of September by Armour, apparently against purchases of July, and some selling July early for foreign account. Harris-Gates, Brosseau, and Gifford were moderate sellers.

Cash Corn Sales Large.

Corn was inclined to be weak early on continued pressure on the July, which sold down ⅜c to 48⅛c, but there was a good demand for September, which held firm, and the strength in wheat and a good shipping demand for corn brought about a fair rally, closing prices ¼c to ⅜c higher, the September up the most, closing at 48c, sellers. Cash prices were ¼c to ½c lower, and on this decline there were shipping sales of 500,000 bu to the seaboard. There was some selling early, on the improved weather west, clear and warm generally over the corn belt, with fair weather predicted. There was a decrease on local stocks in store of 128,000 bu to 1,014,000 bu, and the visible supply decreased 50,000 bu to 4,881,000 bu, compared with 4,719,000 bu last year. The cash market was weak on the liberal arrivals, 516 cars inspected in, of which only eighteen were contract, however, and 685 cars estimated for today. Country acceptances were light. Primary receipts were 536,000 bu, compared with 464,000 bu last year. Liverpool advanced ¼d to ½d on a decrease in stocks there for the week from 500,000 bu to 365,000 bu. World's shipments were 3,526,000 bu. The amount on passage decreased 1,011,000 bu.

Firm Market in Oats.

There was a dull market in oats, but a firm one. The early tone was easy on the improved weather west, and there was a decline of ¼c in July oats on scattered realizing, but the demand from shorts continued, and the close was a split higher on all deliveries. The cash market was unchanged to ½c lower and the shipping demand less active, sales about 100,000 bu. Clearances were 13,000 bu. There were 184 cars inspected in, with 15 standard, and 220 estimated for today. Local stocks in store decreased 87,000 bu, to 388,000 bu, and the visible supply decreased 149,000 bu, to 4,067,-000 bu.

Business Extremely Quiet.

In the provision pit all the conditions were as dull as possible. price fluctuations being rarely more than 5c and closing quotations from 2½@5c higher than on Saturday. The day's business was done almost entirely by scalpers. The temper of the trade was slightly bullish without there being any distinctly bull factors in the market. There was a big run of hogs, 50,000, with prices 10c lower. Estimated today, 18,000. Offerings of lard were liberal, several packers said to be realizing. Western points, exclusive of Kansas City and St. Louis, reported 77,200 tcs, as compared with 72,300 tcs at all points last year. Shipments of cured meats were 1,828,800 lbs, against 1,670,300 lbs a year ago, and of lard 637,600 lbs, as compared with 894,000 lbs last year.

Rye was steady and firm; July, 51¼c bid and offered at 51½c. September was offered at 50c. Inspection was 11 cars. The visible decreased 131,000 bu and is now 669,000 bu, against 554,000 bu a year ago. Local stocks are 1,000 bu larger than last week, at 121,000 bu.

Barley was the usual steady and quiet market, a moderate demand existing for desirable grades. Inspection was 23 cars. The visible decreased 92,000 bu. The local stock is all in private houses. Screenings ranged from 35@45c for country lots and 45@47c for city; feed barley, 45@48¼c. low grade malting, 48@49c; and fair to choice. 50@53c.

No changes were made in seed quotations, June timothy continuing $3.75 and contract clover quotably $11.50. Flaxseed was easy at a decline of about 1c. No. 1 northwestern, $1.10; southwestern, $1.07; July. $1.08; and September, $1.10½. There were 8 cars here, 48 at Minneapolis, and 20 at Duluth.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Spencer, Aiken, Greene, and other St. Louis operators continue to advise their friends in this market that the condition of red winter wheat is going back steadily, as the result of damage by rust and fly, sending estimates varying from 50 to 65 per cent of the crop, and insisting that the situation is not appreciated in this market. A message to Lake-Leask said: "Our agent at Cairo says that on the highlands in southern Illinois and Missouri there will be half a crop and nothing at all on the lowlands. The lowlands are covered by water and wheat on the highlands is damaged by fly."

A message to Bennett from Holton, Kas., said: "I made a long drive yesterday of almost fifty miles and was agreeably surprised to find crop conditions much better than we could hope for. With favorable weather, even though the season is late, I see no reason why a good corn crop cannot be raised."

Rupert E. Smith will forsake the clamor of the oats pit for the more peaceful atmosphere of a farm in Arkansas, near Fayetteville. He has sold his membership and will try the health cure that farming offers for six months at least.

A letter to Fyffe from Falls City, Neb., says: "I think, from Capt. Phillips' estimate of 65 per cent of a wheat crop for Kansas, that he cannot have been over much of the state. Men who have been all over the state say there is no question that the damage both to wheat and corn has been greatly exaggerated. There is some little rust, but in this county the rust is in the spring wheat only, and that amounts to less than 5 per cent of the crop. The damage to corn in southeastern Nebraska and northeastern Kansas is exaggerated. Little replanting had to be done, and I never saw corn look better. Farmers have been cultivating for two weeks."

Estimated arrivals for today: Wheat, 35 cars; corn, 685 cars; oats, 220 cars; hogs, 18,000.

A Duluth message to Lobrke late yesterday said there were 100 cars of wheat on track there and that bids of 80c to the country were bringing out wheat from unexpected sources.

One of the influences in giving the wheat market an upward start yesterday was the following cable from London: "The latest reliable crop estimates indicate that Russia will have a serious shortage. The French yield will be abnormally bad. English crops are greatly damaged and the German crop yield will be 10 to 15 per cent below the average. The injury is due to recent incessant rains and floods." This report came with financial news and was so at variance with recent crop reports from Europe, which have told of improvement and more favorable conditions in all the countries mentioned except England, that there was a disposition in some quarters to accept it with caution. Broomhall ascribed the strength of the English markets to bad crop reports from America and to "the official estimate of the Hungarian crop as 141,000,000 bu, compared with 169,000,000 bu last year, and below the average for six years." These figures were in need of revision, however, as the crop last year was 160,000,000 bu, not 169,000,000 bu, and the average for six years 130,000,000 bu, or 11,000,000 bu less than the present indication. Only twice in the last eight years has the Hungarian crop exceeded 141,000,000 bu, in 1902 and in 1896, when the yield was 150,-000,000 bu. The official India crop report makes the wheat yield 290,000,000 bu, an increase of 58,000,000 bu, and the largest on record.

A correspondent of Logan-Bryan at Dayton, O., says: "I covered two-thirds of Montgomery county yesterday in an automobile with an experienced farmer and was amazed at the poor condition of wheat. The stand is short and all fields examined have considerable rust. Farmers say the yield will be disappointing. Oats look bad. Corn planting late."

The strength in the northwest wheat markets might have been based on conditions referred to in the statement of a Northern Pacific official, who said: "Our section of country is beginning to call for general rains. For two weeks past there has been only scattered rain over a limited territory, while in the bulk of the territory no rain whatever has fallen. All crops are now planted and all are doing well, but in some sections the absence of rain is beginning to cause uneasiness."

Winnipeg, Manitoba, wired: "The government's official bulletin reports crops in all sections of the province of Manitoba sown under most favorable conditions, and the outlook for a large crop most promising. The season is two weeks earlier than heretofore. The Manitoba wheat acreage is increased about 20 per cent."

DECLINE OF MAY EXPORTS

FIGURES LOWER THAN CORRESPONDING MONTH SINCE 1898.

Meanwhile Imports Make the Highest May Record in the Country's History—Quick Decline in Stocks Disappoints Those Who Thought a Permanent Turn for the Better Had Occurred—Mr. Eckels Returns from New York—General Financial News.

May exports of merchandise were $100,-508,051, being the lowest figure recorded for any May since 1899, when the total was $93,841,247. The figures also show a decrease of $9,300,000 compared with April, and a decrease of $32,000,000 compared with March, when considerable was being said about the export trade of this country resuming its old proportions of increase.

But, while the exports declined, the imports for the month were $78,935,143, being the record for the month of May in the import trade of the country. The figures, however, were $9,000,000 less than April and $18,-000,000 less than March.

For the twelve months ended with May the total imports were $1,160,712,248, being the record for any similar period. Exports for the twelve months were $1,413,733,776. This is $18,000,000 in excess of last year, but $80,-000,000 less than in 1901. The excess of exports for the twelve months was $397,000,000, being the smallest excess in six years. The difference, indeed, between the amount of exports over imports has been constantly decreasing.

As Viewed by J. H. Eckels.

President James H. Eckels of the Commercial National returned yesterday from New York. Speaking of the situation there, he said among other things:

"I found the banks were inclined to feel comfortable over the money situation, but the same interests were not favorable to an active stock market. They would like to see the market run along evenly.

"It was asserted that foreign loans had been reduced to a minimum, and for that reason Wall street expects to be able to get through the fall without special distress, it being presumed that the New York banks will be able freely to negotiate loans abroad when the money is needed."

The Market.

Some local commission houses were disappointed over the turn in the stock market when prices began to decline and ended by closing near the bottom. Other houses had not considered the upturn in the nature of a permanent one and their patrons were on both sides of the market.

Advices which come from New York of a disinterested character indicate that some well known market people have not bought any stocks. There has been a conservative belief that for those who were able to purchase securities and pay for them at the prices obtaining a few days ago a fair profit would in time be realized. Some insurance companies bought securities on the basis of income, and that was about all there was of a substantial character to the movement. For the remainder it was a matter of frightening a large short interest into covering.

Strong, Sturgis & Co. wired, among other things, the following on the market:

"The action of the stock market today developed some disappointment, inasmuch as the tone was less confident and hesitation and a reactionary tendency were the feature. We see nothing disturbing in the course of today's speculation, and it was to have been expected that the bear party, which until of late has been successful and powerful, would make further attacks on values. The advance in the closing days of the last week naturally invited profit taking.

"While we regret that the market shows less tenacity, at the same time we do not think the improvement which started last week is over or that we shall see a materially lower range of prices."

Circumvent Canadian Tariffs.

United States manufacturers are gradually meeting conditions in Canada which suggest an increase in tariffs against imports from this country. The simple expedient is being adopted of buying Canadian plants and thus avoiding duty on manufactures, although the plants are controlled by American capital.

A few weeks ago four of the leading watch companies of the United States purchased the Toronto Watch Case company, and now avoid a duty of 30 per cent on watch cases which they sell in Canada.

When the Corn Products company was being formed it was a part of the plan to purchase a Canadian glucose plant in order to avoid the tariff on glucose. The purchase was not made, however.

Now the United States Steel corporation proposes to buy Canadian plants in order to offset a prospective increase in duties on steel rails. The corporation has an option on the plant of the Hamilton Iron and Bridge company. The corporation has also selected a site near Ottawa, where a branch plant will be established in the event of an increase in duties. The Canadian government last spring placed a tariff of $7 a ton on steel rails, to become effective when Canadian companies could show an output of 50,000 tons a year. Steel rails in the United States are selling at $28 a ton, and a duty of $7 would mean a reduction in price to $21 a ton in Canada. For that reason the corporation is preparing to hold its Canadian business by manufacturing in that country.

The following table shows the increase in the production of steel and iron in the dominion since 1895:

Year.	Tons.	Year.	Tons.

Dividends Declared.

The United Shoe Machinery company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock and the usual dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock, payable July 15. Books close June 20 and reopen June 29.

The Consolidated Car Heating company declared a dividend of 3 per cent and 1 per cent extra, giving the stock 7 per cent for the year. Both dividends are payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 16.

The directors of the American Telegraph and Telephone company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent and an extra of ¾ per cent, payable July 5 to stock of record June 30. Books close June 30 and reopen July 15. The directors voted to issue $21,000,000 new stock on a basis of one share of new stock for every five held.

Bond Awards.

The city of Worcester, Mass., has sold $517,000 bonds, as follows: $100,000 ten year hospital loan, to Adams & Co., on a 3.40 per cent basis, and a $417,000 twenty and a half year average sewer, water, and hospital loan, to E. H. Rollins & Sons, on a 3.43 per cent basis.

The $220,000 Venango county (Pa.) 4 per cent five year average bridge bonds were sold at par.

The $90,000 St. Paul 4 per cent thirty year refunding bonds were awarded to N. W. Harris & Co. at 106.88, a basis of 3.741 per cent.

The $110,000 Pittsburg (Pa.) 4 per cent twelve year average school bonds were awarded at 101.986, a basis of 3.802 per cent.

The $240,000 Milwaukee 3½ per cent ten and a half year average street improvement and park bonds have been sold at 98.625, a basis of 3.66 per cent.

The $25,000 Dedham (Mass.) 4 per cent one to ten year school notes were awarded to Parkinson & Burr, at 101.38.

New York Deposits Decrease.

Deposits of the New York state banks for the entire state show a decrease of $15,983,-997, compared with the corresponding quarter last year. Compared with the corresponding quarter in 1901 the decrease is $117,959,-184. In the last two years, therefore, there has been a constant decline in deposits.

The loan account shows an increase of $11,000,000, compared with last year, and a decrease of $1,000,000 compared with the previous year.

The following statement of resources and liabilities of all the New York state banks has been issued by F. D. Kilburn, superintendent of the state banking department:

General Financial News.

It is announced that E. H. Harriman has practically closed a contract for the purchase of 100,000 tons of steel rails for delivery next year for use on the Union and Southern Pacific railways. The price said to have been fixed upon is $28.00 per ton.

There is some talk in Wall street of a possible consolidation of the Union Bag and Paper company with the International Paper company. The probability of such a merger is, however, denied by officials of the Union Bag and Paper company, who are vigorously prosecuting infringements of paper bag machinery.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company will shortly offer for subscription $21,000,000 of new stock to stockholders at par. The subsidiary companies, thirty-six in number, of which the American Telephone controls a majority of the stock, are constantly putting out new issues for improvements and the parent company is obliged to subscribe for its share of these new issues. The only way it has of raising the cash to make the subscriptions is through sales of its own stock.

The American Can company has sued independent can manufacturers at Cincinnati to enjoin them from making cans after certain methods. Damages are also being asked for.

An official of Swift & Co. is quoted as saying that the company can only estimate the damage at Kansas City in a general way. There has been little injury to contents of the buildings, as much of the stock in the lower stories was securely packed and wrapped. Stoppage of business is estimated at three weeks' duration.

National Biscuit.

Continued announcements from New York that the National Biscuit company had made application to list additional preferred and common stocks probably grow out of the fact that the company has been building two large plants—one in New York and one in Chicago—at the expenditure of $1,250,000. These were the figures given by Mr. Green at the annual meeting, when he said the two plants would be the finest in the country.

The New York announcement was to the effect that application was made to list $844,500 preferred and $236,000 common. The company already has outstanding $24,-804,500 preferred out of a total authorized issue of $25,000,000, so that it would not be possible to issue the new amount named, as it would be in excess of the authorized issue by $149,000. Local officials said yesterday they knew nothing of a proposed increase in capital.

Chicago Stocks.

Local stocks were steady yesterday. The market was but moderately active. Boxboard showed some strength. The product of the mills of the Strawboard company is sold up to Aug. 1.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Most Liberal Expectations Surpassed by the Receipts and Prices Rule a Shade Lower.

The most liberal expectations were surpassed in the actual arrivals of stock at the yards for the opening market of the week, the estimates standing 30,000 cattle, 50,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep. The markets responded accordingly in a lower turn all along the line, cattle ruling 10c to 20c lower, hogs, aside from a few light, which were scarce, were 10c to 15c lower; mature sheep were about steady, but lambs unevenly 15c to 25c lower.

The Live Stock World's Liverpool cable quotes English markets as follows: "Prices for American cattle have recovered a little from the bad break made last week when the congestion of Canadian cattle carriers caused a bad break, but today's prices were still ½c lower than a week ago.

"Cargoes of States steers averaged 11½c today at Liverpool, against 11c the middle of last week, 12c last Monday. A year ago States cattle were at the highest point in years, making 16c.

"States sheep are selling higher with small supplies and good demand, selling at 15½c against 15c a week ago and 15½c a year ago.

The following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Cattle.

With the record run of the season at hand the buying interests played a waiting game and made nothing but desultory bids until well along towards noon. When they got to going they bought cattle freely on a basis of 10c to 20c reduction from the low market of last week, and practically on low level of the year for all useful grades of beef steers.

Under the slightly better reports from Liverpool exporters were free buyers, one of the big operators taking more cattle on Monday than he did all last week combined. Export steers sold principally within a range of $4.80 to $5.15, with a few scattering lots to this trade at $5.25. The best steers here sold at $5.40 for averages of 1,400 to 1,550 lbs. Not many sales were made above $5.25, however, and the bulk of all steers for dressed beef, shipping, and export trade sold from $5.15 down, with light and half fat steers selling at $4.25 to $4.60.

The market for cow stock was in as bad condition as that for steers, and showed fully as much decline. Calves were about 25c lower than the close last week in anticipation of a big run on Tuesday. The stocker trade was of the usual light Monday forenoon volume, but with the prices generally showing a decline of 10c to 15c.

Hogs.

The hog market opened with all buying interests hammering for a 10@20c reduction on hogs of big weight, and finally established a market at 10@15c under the closing trade of last week for the weighty kinds, while light were comparatively scarce and in good demand for local and eastern account, and sold about steady during the early hours and later ruled close to 5c lower.

When sellers got ready to accept the decline the market had good volume and the supply was closely bought down, with the close fully firm at the decline. Top hogs sold at $6.25, but the bulk of good heavy at $6.10@6.15, with packing grades at $5.95@$6.10; bulk of mixed and light at $5.90@6.10. The range of prices is the narrowest of the year, with mixed and mediums selling close up to the best heavy.

Sheep.

A few choice mature sheep sold steady, but the general market showed a decline all along the line, amounting to 15c to 25c on sheep outside of the few choice, and 15c to 25c on all grades of lambs. Absence of fed westerns, which are now almost out of season, and the presence of large numbers of southern lambs are features of the trade at present.

Elgin Butter Market.

ELGIN, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Reports of improved condition in the producing section east and west, together with an increased output of butter in the Elgin district, induced the quotation committee of the Elgin butter board to reduce the price to 21c. The output of the district during the week was 829,200 lbs. Offerings were comparatively heavy over last week. Sherwin purchased 35 tubs of Barington and 25 of Harvard.

40,000 Tons of Ore

Actually Blocked Out and Ready to Take Down.

Mr. Erwin D. Treadwell, General Manager of the George A. Treadwell Mining Company, writes under date of May 24th:

"On the second and third level of the Queen we have acually blocked out and ready to take down over forty thousand tons—enough to keep a hundred-ton furnace running for over a year."

This ore is worth $10 a ton as it stands in the mine. There is more than that net profit over and above all expenses in taking it out and smelting it.

The work of blocking out the ore has only just commenced. Six months from now we are likely to have ten times as much "blocked out and ready to take down," and even that will hardly be a drop in the bucket in comparison with what we have waiting for us. Professor Treadwell has already demonstrated that in the Iron Queen and adjacent mines alone we have three miles in length of veins from five to forty feet in width and many thousand feet in depth. The forty thousand tons occurs all within three hundred feet in depth and only a few hundred feet in length. The ore carries high values in gold as well as copper. Mr. Erwin D. Treadwell as the result of close calculations and many experiments, estimates that the gold values alone will pay the entire cost of mining and smelting the ore, leaving the copper cost-free. That is even better than our neighbor, the United Verde, does.

Our smelters are nearly ready to run, and the enterprise is close to a self-sustaining and dividend-paying stage. Only a little more of the Treasury stock is for sale to complete the development and equipment of the property.

Prices will be quoted on application.

SUPPORT EXPECTED BY BULL ELEMENT FAILS TO APPEAR.

Market Opens on a Decline Which Continues Throughout Session to the Close—Big Banking Interests Come to Aid of Some Shares, but Not in Vigorous Manner — Talk of Increased Dividends in Many Lines Heard in Financial District.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—[Special.]—Today's market was a disappointment to those bulls who looked if not for higher prices, at least not for the weakness which showed at the outset of the market session, and became more pronounced as the day wore on. The expectation in many quarters was that leading bankers in the street would support the market should it incline to weakness. Such support was extended, but it was not of the aggressive kind, the buying orders being put in on a scaledown. Naturally enthusiastic bulls did not take kindly to this kind of support, but the bankers themselves seemed satisfied. The cumulative evidence was that the bulk of selling during the day was by the bear party, which has been operating off and on for the last six months.

Indications are that for the moment neither the bears nor the bulls are disposed to pursue too far any temporary advantage they may have.

Many interests in Wall street are pointing out that while in the last four years the prices of nearly all commodities have advanced, wages have been raised, and the net earnings of practically every railroad in the country have shown a substantial increase, nevertheless the stockholders of these railroads or the great majority of them have not received any increase in dividends. The point is now being raised in many quarters that such increase could be made before the end of the year as surplus net earnings beyond dividends are sufficient not only to justify an increase in dividends of 1 per cent, but to insure the maintenance of increased dividends even in hard times.

Pennsylvania is earning 18, and can afford, it is declared, to pay from 7 to 8 per cent, Missouri Pacific is earning 15 and can pay 6 or 7 per cent, Union Pacific is earning 12 and could pay 5 per cent, Baltimore and Ohio is earning 10 and could pay 5 per cent, Atchison, which is paying 4 per cent and earning 10, could be advanced to a 5 per cent basis, St. Paul common can afford to pay 8 per cent, and Southern Pacific is expected to finish its extraordinary expenditures during this year, and could be placed on a 4 per cent dividend basis early in 1904.

Such at least is the argument heard in many parts of the financial district.

In Amalgamated Copper, St. Paul, Atchison, Reading, and Baltimore and Ohio today's declines were not unexpected for the reason that before the market opening the tip had gone around that these would be the special objects of the bear attack. The selling of Pennsylvania was influenced by strike talk, and coalers generally were depressed because westerners were the principal sellers of grangers and talk of crop damage and reduced earnings because of floods. Every important banking interest in the street was a buyer of stocks on the decline, and did not hesitate to say so, reiterating that at present prices stocks are intrinsically cheap. Close market observers declared it looked much as if the bears were throwing their stocks into the open bag held ready by the larger interests to receive them. The talk of the street was that Illinois Central at its next dividend meeting would declare either an increased or scrip dividend, and that beginning early in 1904 Missouri Pacific may increase its dividend. The Gates crowd is talking bearishly on the market, and in some quarters it is believed they are covering short stocks.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, Copper Shares, and Other Securities at the Hub.

BOSTON, Mass., June 15.—[Special.]—Profit taking and selling for New York account sent prices off in the local stock market today. American Telephone opened at 151⅝, up ¼, and then rapidly declined to below 145, when the company's decision to issue $21,000,000 of new stock was announced. The weakness in Amalgamated carried down the local list of coppers. Call loans, 3½@4½ per cent. Time loans, collateral, 4¾@5 per cent. Time loans, mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Clearing house loans, 4 per cent.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Other Securities in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, June 15.—Money was fairly plentiful in the market today and there was a better demand, in view of the preparations for the payment of the installment of $15,000,000 of the Transvaal loan tomorrow. Discounts were steady. There was a growing disposition to expect a reduction of the Bank of England's rate of discount Thursday next. Business on the stock exchange was quiet and the bad weather prevailing helped to dampen the enthusiasm of operators. Americans opened down ¼ to ½ below parity. Union Pacific was the most distressed on realizations and closed flat.

PARIS, June 15.—Prices on the bourse today opened firm, but later French Rentes weakened, which affected the rest of the market, with the exception of Turkish securities.

BERLIN, June 15.—Business on the boerse today was inactive and quotations were nominal.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

Quotations on Dry Goods, Poultry, Butter, Coffee, Metals, and Other Special Lines.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The dry goods market shows an advancing tendency, and buyers show an increasing disposition to accept the new level that is established. The continued advance in raw material causes the seller to take a determined stand regarding quotations. While here and there low prices have been accepted, there is usually some good reason for it, and the market is characterized by general firmness and inability on the part of buyers to secure concessions.

Coffee, Spot and Future.

Coffee—Futures opened steady, unchanged prices, closing quiet and steady, unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales, 5,750 bags, including July at 3.65c, September at 3.85c, October at 3.95c, November at 4.00@4.05c, and December at 4.25c.

SLOW TRADE IN FARM STUFF.

Supplies Good, but Local Requirements Considerably Cut Down by Hotel and Restaurant Strikes.

There was only a moderate business in produce yesterday, there being practically no hotel or restaurant buyers on the market. Values were a little easier all around, except on strawberries, which were a shade firmer. All lines were extremely quiet. Prices on round lots ranged as follows:

RAILWAY BUSINESS FOR A YEAR.

Annual Report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for Twelve Months Ending June 30, 1902.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—The interstate commerce commission has prepared a summary of its report on the railroads of the United States for the fiscal year which closed on June 30, 1902. It shows that the total single track railway mileage on June 30 in the United States was 202,471 miles, having increased during the year 5,234 miles.

There were 41,228 locomotives and 1,640,220 cars, not including private cars, used during the year. Of these 36,991 were in the passenger service.

The total number of employés was 1,189,315.

The amount paid in salaries and wages was $676,028,592.

Some Financial Features.

The amount of railway capital outstanding June 30, 1902, was $12,134,182,964, or $62,301 per mile of line. The funded debt was $6,109,981,669. The amount of capital stock paying no dividends was $2,686,556,614, or 44.60 per cent of the total amount outstanding. Omitting equipment, trust obligations, the amount of funded debt which paid no interest was $294,175,243.

The number of passengers carried was 649,878,505, and the number of tons of freight 1,111,089,347. The gross earnings of all the roads for the year were $1,726,380,267, and the gross expenses $1,116,248,747. The total dividends declared for the year was $185,421,239.

Casualty List Is Large.

The total number of casualties to persons on account of railway accidents, as shown for the year, was 73,250, including 8,588 killed and 64,662 injured.

Of railways employés, 2,969 were killed, and 50,524 were injured.

The number of passengers killed was 345 and the number injured 6,683. One out of every 401 employés was killed, and one out of every twenty-four employés was injured. One passenger was killed for every 1,883,706 carried, and one injured for every 97,244 carried. Ratios based upon the number of miles traveled, however, show that 57,072,283 passenger miles were accomplished for each passenger killed, and 2,946,272 passenger miles accomplished for each passenger injured.

Aleip; New Cook County Village.

A petition was filed in the County court yesterday to incorporate a village in the town of Worth, to be known as the village of Aleip. The petition was signed by forty-five voters. The place is situated northwest of Blue Island.

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

PASSENGER RATES BEING CUT ALL OVER THE WEST.

Eastern Lines Making Strenuous Efforts to Keep the Demoralization Out of That Territory—Shipments of Flour and Grain for Last Week Show a Moderate Improvement While Provisions Decrease—Gould Roads to Be Consolidated.

Not for years has there been such a wrangle for passenger business among western roads as is now going on. Demoralization in rates has spread to Omaha, Kansas City, and all transmissouri territory excepting Colorado.

The row at Kansas City was started by the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis and San Francisco announcing a rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip from Kansas City to St. Louis and Chicago on account of the summer school season.

All the other roads then announced correspondingly low rates from both Kansas City and Omaha. The fact that these tickets will be on sale when the low rates to the convention of Modern Woodmen at Indianapolis are in effect affects all points in Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, and Indian territory, and greatly reduces the rates from all those points as far east as Buffalo.

Strenuous efforts are being made by the eastern roads to keep the rate demoralization out of their territory. The low rates recently announced by the Soo line to Buffalo, Detroit, Boston, and Albany from the Twin Cities were promptly met by the Grand Trunk.

The Chicago-St. Paul lines then met and decided to make the same rates, but the Central Passenger association lines decreed that they would not join. It transpires, however, that some of the so-called weak lines east from Chicago secretly agreed with certain of their western connections to honor reduced tickets. This has stirred up a big row among the eastern roads, and a meeting of the Central Passenger association lines has been called for today. The trunk lines, it is said, have notified the Central Passenger association lines that any road honoring the cut rate tickets would be cut off from prorating arrangements.

East Bound Freight Shipments.

East bound shipments of flour and grain by the all-rail lines from Chicago last week were an improvement over those for the week previous. Provision shipments suffered a decrease. Miscellaneous traffic was satisfactory, although not so heavy as a few weeks ago. Shipments of flour increased 8,078 barrels and grain 132,000 bushels. Provisions decreased 5,037 tons for the week. A comparison with last year shows a good increase in flour and provisions and grain. Following is a detailed statement of last week's shipments from Chicago:

	Flour, barrels.	Grain, bushels.	Provisions, tons.
Previous week	56,814	944,000	26,499
Last year	49,239	993,000	23,068

Gould Lines to Consolidate.

According to President Joseph Ramsey Jr. of the Wabash, the Goulds hope to have all their properties east of Toledo amalgamated in one company by fall. This would include the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Little Kanawha, the West Virginia Central, and possibly others of the lines which are now under construction. Mr. Ramsey also said:

"We are working the Wabash Securities company, which does not in the least resemble the Northern Securities company. We propose to consolidate roads into a continuous line, but in no sense parallel them."

Doubt Report About Erie.

The report telegraphed from New York that the Erie would secure control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton is not believed here to have good foundation. Erie officials say they have no information whatever that such a deal is contemplated.

"L" Road Offer to Drainage Board.

The engineering committee of the drainage board yesterday took under advisement a proposition from Leslie Carter that the South Side elevated railroad be allowed to use water from the Thirty-ninth street conduit for a consideration of $3,000 a year. Mr. Carter said his road wanted to use some of the water for condensing purposes in the powerhouse.

MUTUAL LIFE CLOSES DEAL FOR A GALESBURG COMPANY.

Takes Over the Business of the Farmers and Mechanics' — Policies Involved Number Over a Thousand.

The Mutual Life of Illinois yesterday closed a reinsurance deal by which it takes over the business of the Farmers and Mechanics' Life association of Galesburg. Over a thousand policies are involved, for a million and a quarter of insurance. The association was organized with the expectation of being put on the legal reserve basis, all its business being written at full legal reserve rates, and the Standard Life was organized recently by Galesburg men, with $100,000 capital and $50,000 surplus, to take over the business, the meeting of the policyholders to vote on the contract being set for yesterday.

In the meantime a favorable opportunity was presented to turn the subscribed capital into a new bank at Galesburg, and at the last minute the organization of the Standard was abandoned and the business was turned over to the Mutual Life of Illinois. Roy M. Marsh and W. R. Crammond, president and secretary of the Farmers and Mechanics' and the Standard, are to be associated with the Mutual of Illinois. Certificates of assumption are being issued today by the latter company.

A delegation of Chicago Modern Woodmen is in attendance on the meeting of the head camp of the Modern Woodmen at Indianapolis endeavoring to get permission to admit regular members in Chicago. Under the present rules large cities and certain sections of the country are barred, although Chicago has several large camps made up of members who were admitted elsewhere. The committee depends upon the favorable mortality experience of Chicago to get it in.

The governing committee of the Western Union announces that its decision refusing any reduction in rate at Nashville because of the use of the new coinsurance clause provided for by the Tennessee legislature, applies to that specific case, the policy as to the new legislation in general having been referred to a subcommittee. It is believed that the final decision will be that the law is too much hedged about with restrictions to justify any reduction in rates.

REPLACE KENWOOD LANDMARK WITH NEW OFFICE BUILDING.

Structure Will Be Erected on Site of Old Gossage Residence and Will Cost $70,000—Assembly Hall Provided.

The site of the old Gossage residence, one of the landmarks of Kenwood, at the northwest corner of Lake avenue and Forty-seventh street, is to be improved with a store, office, and hall building, to cost $70,000.

The building will have a frontage of 150 feet on each street, will be two stories high, and will have an exterior finish of full glazed white enamel terra cotta and plate glass. The interior will have mosaic entrances and hallways and marble wainscoting.

It will contain fourteen stores and twenty-one offices. An assembly hall 50x55 feet will be in the second story in the rear.

Francis M. Barker has sold to Mathias L. Raftree the flat property in Calumet avenue, 198 feet north of Fifty-first street, 100x127 feet, for $30,000.

The tendency toward higher interest rates was illustrated in a mortgage extension made by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company to Hannah M. Spofford and others, filed for record yesterday. The interest rate of the original mortgage, which is for $50,000, was 4½ per cent, while the extension is at 5 per cent. The property covered is 236x208 feet, except the east 95 feet, at the northeast corner of Halsted and Sebor streets.

Direct from Paris, Rue de la Republic.

After an absence of five years abroad PROF. LE ROY, the world renowned European palmist and clairvoyant, has returned to Chicago and is PERMANENTLY LOCATED at 299 MICHIGAN-AV. [opposite Logan Monument].

LE ROY needs no introduction in Chicago. He is known from ocean to ocean as the marvel of two hemispheres. He towers above ALL other PALMISTS. He stands alone, possessing a force, a power, a gift—call it what you will—that NONE can explain, NONE can account for. He is the much talked about WONDER of the 20th century. To interview him is to spend the most valuable and interesting half hour you have ever known.

He gives readings in English, French, and German, and at a glance, before you have a chance to utter one word, will tell you what you call for. Special this week, 50 cents and $1.

Office hours, 10 to 8, Sunday included.

$5.00 READINGS FOR $1.00. PROF. LEON, 1224 MICHIGAN-AV.—1224.

MACHINISTS—WE HAVE PLACES FOR A number of good machinists and sheet metal workers [not architectural], for all grades of work at full pay and in a shop with appointments and surroundings first class in every particular. Our men have always been satisfied with their pay, surroundings, and treatment.

A number of our men quit work in April under the following circumstances: We were among the first to adopt the 54 hour week in Chicago, and at the time the shorter hours were put into effect we submitted the arrangement of hours to a vote of our employés. Almost unanimously they voted for a division of the 54 hour week which provided for a Saturday half holiday. A vote was taken a second time last fall with the same result. Upon a demand by the Machinists' union that we run our shop nine hours each day we offered to take a vote again and abide the preference of the majority of our men. This vote was taken April 17 and resulted in a majority favoring the Saturday half holiday. A number of our employés then quit work, although expressing themselves as entirely satisfied with their jobs. Our shop is running in every department.

In June a petition by the men in our employ was presented asking that during the summer months we run 50 hours per week, with Saturday afternoon off, and upon submitting the matter to a vote the result was practically unanimous for the proposition. Our shop during June, July, and August runs 50 hours per week, nine hours each day, except Saturday. Our shop is an open shop, not discriminating for or against union or nonunion men. Apply to

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

BARGAINS IN PIANOS AT LYON & HEALY'S.

And bear in mind that these figures include overhauling in our own repair shops by workmen of the very highest skill. THIS IS IMPORTANT.

SCHAFF UPRIGHT, large size, ebonized case; has had considerable use. $85.

HALE UPRIGHT. An old instrument, overhauled and made capable of meeting requirements of practice work. $100.

STEINWAY UPRIGHT. Largest size, rosewood case, 3 pedals. Very attractive model. Intrinsically worth much more than the price asked. Fully warranted. $350.

SOMMER UPRIGHT. A good instrument. Oak case. Three pedals. 7 1-3 octaves. Modern style. Boston fall board. Has not deteriorated much through use. Warranted. $200.

COLLARD UPRIGHT. Very small and very old. Rosewood. Fretwork panels with candelabra. Not warranted. $50.

FISCHER UPRIGHT. Largest size. Most modern style. Handsome buried walnut case. 3 pedals. Full resonant tone. 7 1-3 octaves. Fully warranted. $290.

HUNTINGTON UPRIGHT. A very handsome instrument just returned from rental. Beautiful mahogany case. Extra value. Fully warranted. $175.

KRAKAUER UPRIGHT. A beautiful mahogany instrument of delightful tone. Medium size. Would readily pass for new. Fully warranted.

BLASIUS UPRIGHT. Elegantly carved panels. Ornate design. Modern in every respect. 3 pedals. 7 1-3 octaves. With music chart attachment. Warranted. $250.

KNABE UPRIGHT. Largest size, ebonized case, beautifully etched panels. Practically as good as new. We recommend this piano most highly. $325.

THREE STEINWAY UPRIGHTS. Nearly new. Ebonized cases, modern in every respect. These pianos present an unique opportunity, for we have marked them much below their value to close them out before receiving our fall stock.

LELAND UPRIGHT. Oak case. In good, playable condition. Thoroughly modern. $125.

EVERETT UPRIGHT. In good condition. Modern. Very popular pattern. $200.

NEW ENGLAND UPRIGHT. Ebonized case. Close action and limited, but clear tone. $125.

McCAMMON UPRIGHT. One of the older patterns, although a very neat model. Good for beginner. $110.

SOMMER UPRIGHT. Ebonized case. Fretwork panels in fair condition. This piano recommended more for its tone than for its appearance. Price, $75.

HELLER UPRIGHT. A large size, walnut case piano, but little used; case not quite perfect, but excellent value at $175.

A sample piano at a sacrifice, $165. This is a very plain but neat walnut case.

And many others.

Our regular stock embraces over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Knabe, Mason & Hamlin, Miller, Hazelton, Krakauer, Fischer, and other great makes. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special feature. The workmanship in each is of a superior character and every one of these pianos is of a design approved by the highest standard of public taste. Wonderfully low fixed prices are quoted.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates. We ship pianos everywhere.

SPLENDID BARGAINS.

PIANOS ON YOUR OWN TERMS.

Large accumulations force down prices.

YOU CAN BUY A HANDSOME UPRIGHT PIANO this week at a price way below its actual value—simply because we have more slightly used, second-hand pianos than we can store.

YOU CAN HAVE YOUR CHOICE OF THE most popular makes—Vose, Chickering, Fischer, Ludwig, Gabler, Colby, and Howard—every instrument in perfect condition and newly tuned—at $75, $90, $100, $115, $125, and upwards—every piano guaranteed.

OR YOU CAN SELECT A SQUARE PIANO admirably adapted for practice purposes—a large assortment of standard makes and shapes—for $20, $25, $30, $35 and upwards—all in excellent condition.

OR YOU MAY PREFER THE MELLOW TONES of a parlor organ—many charming styles—taken in exchange for Vose pianos—go this week for $5 and $10—we simply cannot store them.

YOU SHOULD NOT FAIL TO INSPECT THE new Vose pianos—for they are perfect examples of piano making—the Vose tone is the standard of tone purity—the Vose quality is a final test of excellence in piano construction.

MANDEL BROTHERS DAILY STORE NEWS

Dr. Jaeger underwear.

The Dr. Jaeger "sanitary woolen underwear," in all weights, is the ideal warm weather underwear. It keeps the body cool and absorbs perspiration. We are Chicago agents for the Dr. Jaeger underwear.

In the jewelry store.

Our jewelers reset rings in the Art Nouveau designs. We repair everything pertaining to the line at moderate prices. Etching and engraving are specialties.

SHOES FOR THE DERBY.

The newest oxfords and street boots.

The shoe is a most important factor in the completion of the Derby toilette especially for the woman who is going to whirl down the boulevard into the Washington Park club grounds on a break, drag or tallyho. For the very smart costume the low buttoned shoe with dull matt kid top, patent leather vamp and Louis XV. heel is in good style. The high boot is also quite correct but less favored at present, for according to Mandel's the sale of low shoes is going far beyond that of any previous year. As to shape the new short last is the thing with short vamp and a drop toe which instead of protruding conspicuously slopes away toward the front of the sole. Button shoes are decidedly in the lead.

A new street oxford of wax calf, having the drop toe, is shown with either two or four buttons. The buttons are a trifle larger than the regulation size and are covered with dull kid, called matt kid.

Canvas oxfords.

Neat white canvas oxfords may properly encase the foot of the shirt waist girl who is off for the "Derby" in a fresh white linen or crash suit; as for the young woman who sallies forth to the race in a tan shoe, let no one show her ignorance by a smile or stare, for the much joked about tan boot is the very latest caper in New York, and there will be a good sprinkling of New York folk down this way for the fashionable race if Derby gossip proves correct. It is doubtful, however, if many Chicagoans will have the temerity to appear in a tan shoe of any description unless it be a suede to match the gown of that color.

Mandel's are receiving many orders for shoes of undressed kid to match the Derby frocks. Some of these have colored heels to correspond with the uppers, but this fashion is not the rule. The low shoe with black heel and vamp and colored quarter—or upper, to use a technical term—is decidedly smart; take, for instance, a gray quarter with black vamp and heel. Buckles should not appear on the Derby shoe of any kind, fashion having decreed that they shall hereafter be worn only in the house. Cloth tops are good form only when matching the gown.

The Du Barry style.

In low shoes the Du Barry button is one of the latest conceits. The vamp, which is of patent leather, has a seam down the middle extending from the flap to the toe. A pointed tip of matt kid, the point tapering into the seam of the vamp, makes a dressy finish. The shoe is fastened by a one button strap.

For the woman who clings to the well fitting lace boot there is the patent leather low shoe with tongue of patent leather and three very large eyelets on either side through which a wide ribbon is passed. A high boot which Mandel's show at $5.00 is made over the new short shaped last, and is of the matt kid with the patent vamp and quarter separated by slits, showing the dull kid between at the sides. This is called the slipper cut and is rather more pretentious than the ordinary cut. The vamp is quite short.

One unique shoe.

Mandel Brothers show a dainty bit of a shoe very suitable for wear with a frock of chiffon or tulle or a dressy Derby creation of almost any kind. It is a low shoe of dull kid, with open work over the instep, hand embroidered in jet beads. This style is also to be had in gray and black suede. The extreme heel, three inches in height, appears on many of the Derby dress shoes, while the short vamped boots generally have the Cuban heel, built of solid leather, with occasionally the ordinary French heels which were considered quite a good imitation of a pair of stilts until the three inch affairs made their entrance into the world of fashion.

The success of our great semi-annual sale of black and colored dress goods remnants.

Yesterday was a record breaker in the dress goods section. All day long the sections, both main floor and basement, were crowded with eager buyers, who came to share in the remarkable saving advantages.

It's the greatest sale of the kind we have ever held—it should be the greatest, for never have the assortments been so large or the values so great.

Although the sales of yesterday were unprecedented, the accumulation was so large that there still remains a splendid assortment and the bargains are extraordinary.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Weather today: Cloudy. Store closes at 5:30.

"Selling goods in their season" is a fixed rule of this store. By always showing new, fresh goods, we have built up a reputation for progressiveness that we cannot afford to lose. Accordingly, as the season for any kind of goods nears its close, we inaugurate clearance sales. In these sales, prices are reduced without reference to cost or value, our sole thought being to place them at a point where they will create a demand that will carry away all this merchandise before the season closes. For this reason, our end-of-the-season clearance sales are rightly regarded as Chicago's greatest economy opportunities.

Telephone your wants to "Private Exchange Ten" and we will send goods out by early delivery subject to approval on inspection.

* * *

The growth of our basement business is one of the marvels of Chicago's commercial history.

Before going on your vacation step into our new bag section on the main floor and inspect the many new things we have to make the trip comfortable.

If you are not satisfied with any article you purchase here return it and we will refund the price.

Handsome sheer Swiss dresses for June graduates.

THE "sweet girl graduate" who is puzzling over the absorbing question of what to wear on commencement day can find a happy solution of the problem in our coat and suit section.

We are showing the daintiest and most charming suits and dresses of organdie and Swiss, made up in the most becoming styles of the year. Prices are a great deal lower than the usual cost of buying materials and having the graduating gown made by a dressmaker.

Misses' graduating suit of fine Swiss, waist with tucked yoke finished with lace trimmed ruffle, elbow sleeves, gored flounce skirt, lace insertion trimmed—a very becoming suit, $10.

Girls' Swiss graduating dress, tucked waist trimmed with lace insertion, gathered skirt with cluster tucks, 11.50.
